How to Start a Business

A Step-by-Step Guide to Go from Zero to 9-Figure Exit

These 15 points will be like a cycle, each pointing to the next.

Why to Not Not Start a Startup?

(use this as a checklist to examine your own feelings)

too young

If someone says "that's a stupid idea", and you rebel or agree - you are too young.

2

too inexperienced

The best way to get experience in startups is to start one.

not determined enough

Determination, not intelligence, is the predictor of success.

not smart enough

If you are smart enough to worry that you are not smart enough, you probably are.

newbie in business

You don't need to know anything about business. Focus on your product.

6

no cofounder

A startup is too much for one person to bare.

7

no idea

It's not a problem because most startups change their idea anyway.

8

no room for startups

People will always want to be wealthier. So you can create new products endlessly.

We have a small soft play area and a play section where your little ones can dress up as a princess or pretend to be a pirate! Or how about some role play with our mini kids kitchen and play food.

We are unlike big soft play centres and have designed our café in a safe way where you can see the children at all times and actually enjoy that coffee!

All items become microwave and dishwasher safe once glazed.

Our friendly staff are here if you require help with handprints or personalised writing.
