About Ardimus

Ardimus Caldwell, also known as Whois Ardimus, is an award-winning poet, performer, and community leader from St. Louis. With a passion for spoken word, Whois Ardimus crafts raw and thought-provoking poetry that touches on themes of self-discovery, love, pain, and social justice.

Known for their vivid imagery and powerful delivery, they have made a significant impact on the poetry scene, particularly with their dynamic performances at events like the Word Up Poetry Slam, the Gods and Goddesses Poetry Slam, and the St. Louis RFT Poetry Expo.

Beyond performance, Whois Ardimus is the author of Flowers Bloom When Ready: A Book of Poetry Through the Eyes of Ardimus, and they are the founder of Whois LLC, a community-focused organization. Whois Ardimus is also the host of the Who's Talk podcast and Pen Up or Shut Battle Poetry. With aspirations to become a global motivational speaker and spoken word artist, their work continues to inspire and resonate with audiences worldwide.
