OVERVIEW

Atlanta Public Safety Training Center (PSTC)

A state-of-the-art campus to accommodate the operational, technical, and ongoing career training requirements of Atlanta's Police, Fire Rescue, and Corrections departments, as well as collaborative training with federal, state, and local law enforcement agencies.

Building the Center on 85-acres of City-owned property near Atlanta's Hartsfield Jackson Airport will transform a dormant asset into a dynamic center for progressive law enforcement that meets the immediate and long-term professional development needs of public safety professionals.

The new Atlanta Public Safety Training Center will reimagine law enforcement training, and Police and Fire Rescue community engagement. The Center presents a world-class facility on a wooded campus that will simultaneously be purposed for green space for citizen usage -- park, trails, picnics, activities -- thereby encouraging the strong community connection which is the guiding principle for 21st Century law enforcement agencies.

Community Stakeholders Advisory Committee (CSAC)

The legislation by the Atlanta City Council included requirements that the developers coordinate with a Community Advisory Committee monthly. CSAC is made up of representatives of the local neighborhoods adjacent to the PSTC site, APF, APD, and the City of Atlanta. The resulting conversations have not only increased transparency between developers and community stakeholders through dialogue exchange, but conversations have also influenced a variety of site improvements.

- The public is invited to attend the monthly CSAC meetings via Zoom.
- Reports are issued to the Atlanta City Council summarizing progress on the PSTC
- A PSTC website has been established that regularly updates progress, other actions, and reports of the CSAC.
