In the summer of 1984 ALAIN JUNGUENET loaded up a rental van with samples from French wineries nobody in the United States had ever heard of but Alain knew [hoped] the customers he didn't yet have would like them enough to place some orders. The wines were excellent, represented their respective regions well and offered terrific values. Alain's thick Parisian accent didn't hurt during those first month's making the rounds either! That October, Alain Junguenet Selection's first container landed at the port in Elizabeth, New Jersey full of wines from the Beaujolais, Rhône Valley and Southwest of France from wineries like Le Vieux Donjon (Châteauneuf-du-Pape), Clos de la Roilette (Fleurie) and Domaine du Cauhapé (Jurançon). The portfolio would become best-known for its dedication to promoting the wines of the Southern Rhône Valley, Châteauneuf-du-Pape in particular. Today, 40 years down the road, Alain Junguenet Selection is still going strong with Alain's son, John Junguenet, at the helm following Alain's passing in November 2019. The approach remains the same as it was in 1984...import and distribute family-owned and operated wineries producing well-priced, terroir-driven wines from across France and provide great, friendly service to all of our customers via a sales team of professional and knowledgeable people who love 'le monde du vin' as much as Alain did.

We look forward to continue bringing you exceptional wines and service for many years to come!

Santé!

JOHN JUNGUENET
