

KJ FLOORING

Functional and Beautiful

BY HAN NOLAND

When Ken Jolo was six years old, he knew what he wanted to be when he grew up. He wanted to be a fireman so he could drive a big truck and save people's lives.

As Ken grew up, his career ambitions took a turn and were influenced by working under the wing of his father, who owned a home construction company.

"My father's hard work ethic and integrity in the business really shone through," Ken noted. "And I admired how he set the bar high for his employees and getting the job done right."

Eventually, Ken decided it was time to branch off on his own and offer something more specialized, and in 1998, Ken opened KJ Flooring in Mayberry. The family owned and operated business specializes in tile, marble and hardwood flooring with trained and professional staff dedicated to helping people create their ideal space—whether that be in the home of their dreams or other environment.

It's a demanding job due to constant changes in the industry, materials and trends. "It's an exciting and fun business to be in," said Ken, "You have to be flexible and open to new ideas in today's changing world."

KJ Flooring operates from their large warehouse and retail store on Hwy 57 as they outgrew their former space on Woodlawn Avenue. Now offering even more flooring options, they are excited to showcase the latest to customers.

As a long time resident of Mayberry, Ken loves being able to recognize the faces of neighbors and friends and people from the community who come in.

"I can't imagine a more positive community to work in," says Ken. "You have the diversity here of people who've lived here forever along with new professionals who are looking for the latest trends. Our motto is to offer you flooring that is both functional and beautiful. Come in and see for yourself."

While he may not be saving people's lives from fires or hazards, Ken has saved a lot of homes and interior spaces, and he gets to drive the big KJ Flooring delivery truck on a regular basis—every little boy's dream!

KJ flooring is located at the intersection of Hwy 57 and Washington Road. Visit Kjfloor.com or call 555-123-4567.
