BUFFALO RIDGE CONSTRUCTION

5 Questions to Ask Before Hiring a Contractor

A simple homeowner guide to choosing the right people for your project.

1. Are you insured?

Ask for proof of liability insurance and whether workers' compensation coverage applies. Know how your home and property will be protected.

2. Can I see examples of your previous work?

Look at completed projects similar to yours, and ask for recent customer references. Good workmanship and satisfied customers matter.

3. Who will oversee my project?

Find out who will be on-site, who your main contact is, and how often you can expect updates throughout the job.

4. What exactly is included in the estimate?

Request a written scope of work, materials, payment schedule, and expected timeline. Ask how changes and unexpected costs will be approved.

5. What happens if something goes wrong afterward?

Ask what workmanship warranties are offered, what they cover, and who to contact if a concern comes up after completion.

Your home matters. So does who you trust with it.

At Buffalo Ridge Construction, we believe in clear answers, honest communication, and relationships that last beyond construction.
