President's Report

Donna Kaiser

With another year upon us, Happy New Year's wishes to you all. What a great time of year for fostering garden dreams. May all your gardening plans come as close as possible to your wishful ideas.

Working in my garden in the last few days has been very pleasant, with much new growth to show for it: winter aconite, snowdrops, crocus and hellebore. The bright cheery aconites simply warm the heart.

A number of club events will be coming up which should make the rest of winter slide by without feeling too housebound: Seedy Saturday and Mixing It Up, to name a couple.

We are still looking for someone to run our raffle, so please give some thought to helping us if you can. The raffle adds a very fun addition to our meetings, and as Raffle Person you will also be joining the club executive. These meetings are pretty enjoyable as well, as I am finding with my position. Looking forward to seeing you all on the 22nd,

Cheers, Donna

Food Bank!

Thanks to the generosity of members at the Christmas Party Potluck last month, the Mill Bay Garden Club raised a donation of $250.00 for the Food Bank! Well done, everyone!

2019 Flower & Garden Show

May 25th & 26th, 2019

The 2019 Mill Bay Garden Club Community Flower and Garden Show will be held on May 25th and 26th at the Cobble Hill Hall. Please start thinking about what you would like to do.

We still need committee heads for the Silent Auction, Inside Hall Coordinator, Publicity & Promotion. I will bring the printed list, with the description of these committees, and other jobs, to circulate at the General Meeting.

Thanks,

Gill Keir

Raffle Table

Another successful raffle at our November meeting - a big thank you to all those who participated, and to Bobbie Burns for helping at the raffle table. Donations were:

- a yummy looking (and I'm sure tasting) Pear Gingerbread Cheesecake made from scratch by our own Marie Cooke
- a bottle of wine, and corkscrew, from Enrico Vineyards
- a large arrangement of various plants in a wicker basket from "Anonymous"
- 3 starter pots of Bill Herring's very special, guaranteed-to-grow English Sweet Peas

And heads up.... a special treat for the first club meeting of 2019: Dustin Carlsen has agreed to run the Raffle event! Rumour has it that he will be most ably assisted by Ajay so you know it will be a fun time for all. My thanks to them both for stepping up on such short notice - please show your support by buying lots of raffle tickets!

And for me -- one last opportunity to say "so long, it's been good to know ya!".... In Sept 2011, Bernie Dinter suggested I contact the Mill Bay Garden Club when I went to him with some gardening questions I had. So I made a phone call and had a lovely chat with someone named "Ajay". Ajay (President at that time) warmly welcomed me to the next meeting and from there began a friendship with the most caring, generous, knowledgeable, and fun-loving group that I have ever had the privilege to be a part of - and that is you! I will miss you all, but will stay in touch with various members and thus keep up with news of the club. I know our paths will cross again, hopefully often, and in the meantime I wish each and every one of you the very best for happy gardening and happy hearts in 2019!

Warmest regards, Cori-Lee

Plant Table

There seem to be a few surprises popping up & out in some of our gardens. Any you would like to share? Hellebores, herbs, primulas, snow drops just to mention a few? Perhaps some veggies that are still doing well? Surprise us. Also, if you have some garden tools that you no longer favor or need perhaps bring those to donate. If you have empty alpaca buckets at home, we'd much appreciate getting them back to refill again in the next couple of months.

Thank you to Elaine Scott for sharing her big crop of kiwis in November. If you took some home from the meeting & placed them in a dark place, remember to check on them periodically. They may be close to being ripe soon.

Gardening Tips for January-February 2019 by Barb Kohlman

STAY OFF YOUR SOIL until it warms a bit more — especially if you have a wet garden, (so hopefully you have stepping stones near plants that need attention now).

My Hellebores are starting to bloom, so this tells me it is time to remove last years' leaves – down to the ground to allow the full display of the flowers and to encourage new leaves to form. Most of mine are near the edge of the borders so soil compaction won't be an issue.

Cut your sword ferns and grasses down now — before new growth really starts. It won't hurt to offer them a nutrient feed now too. And I still prefer a liquid organic fertilizer.

Order seeds if you haven't already, and start them under glass or under lights---

Protect new growth from those pesky rabbits – hanging metal baskets turned upside down over plants work very well.

I particularly have to do this, for my Erythronium spp. (fawn lilies) as they lose all their flowers to these pests.

Check your snowdrops — mine are showing colour quite nicely and I have brought a small arrangement inside for pleasure.

If you have a fig tree and want better production, you should consider Bob Duncan's YouTube video for excellent instruction—search on pruning fig trees youtube.

I am a lazy fall gardener so now is the time I start to clean up my beds that have been protected by leaf debris etc. over the winter. I want my early blooming bulbs etc. to show well, so weather permitting and still being careful of my soil to avoid compaction, I will remove old foliage and debris, transferring it to the compost and when the soil warms I will spread about 2 inches of fresh, mature mulch or compost to “feed the soil”.

Cheers — barb k

Adventures with Hoses by Fran Benton

Is spring here yet? Did you get everything tidied up in the fall? You are all prepared ready to go – right? Oh dear, you never got around to the big fall tidy up. Let's face it, there were demanding birds needing their feeders filled, hoses to disconnect, spray nozzles to unscrew and store, and so many tools to maintain AND only the birds got fed.

This year I absolutely promised someone that I would remove the nozzles, drain the hoses, and turn the water off to the outside taps. Every year I promise this. Something always distracts me and I forget. So today with the promise of growing weather around the corner we clean up the garden like we should have in November. First it's the hoses. I watch as someone who has turned the water on presses the hose nozzle for the first time in 2019. The nozzle cracks shooting a massive jet of freezing water into someone's crotch. I find this hugely amusing but, as you can imagine, someone is a whole lot less amused.

I also have a scarecrow motion activated nozzle that is a fabulous deer deterrent. It detects the deer and shoots a big blast of water at them. The deer fly off in all directions! Also very amusing. It works well on annoying neighbors, dogs, cats, and door-to-door visitors.

So every year we trek to the hardware store and buy new nozzles. The first thing to consider when buying a hose nozzle is the material it is made out of. Brass, zinc, or aluminum are the best materials for hose nozzles and will last much longer than plastic. There are two major parts of a nozzle – the sprayer and the handle. Depending on the price and brand, these can be made from many different materials. Most are made from metal, plastic, or a combination. Then you have to choose between pistol grips, dial nozzles, water wands, fan nozzles, fireman's nozzles, traditional nozzles, and bubble nozzles.

Complicated? Well, how about a simpler less accurate guide to new nozzles:

- Pistol grips – best used in Arizona with the required permits
- Dial nozzles- nozzles with soap, used for cleaning cars
- Water wands- used by wizards
- Fan nozzle- beloved of geishas
- Fireman's nozzles- comes with a complementary calendar, oh my!
- Traditional nozzles- yawn
- And finally Bubble nozzles- useful for outdoor shampooing, comes in different scents and colours!
