Make a Turkey Wing Broom

A Turkey Wing Broom is a traditional hand broom shaped to resemble the fanned wing of a turkey. It's made from broomcorn (a type of sorghum) and hand-tied using traditional Shaker or Appalachian techniques. The brooms are valued for precision sweeping - great for hearths, countertops, tight corners, cars, tents, and small messes. Durability- broomcorn is tough and long-lasting. Decorative appeal- often used in rustic, folk, witchy, or cottage decor. Craft heritage- many are handmade by artisans using historic methods.
According to broom makers, turkey wing brooms are functional for small jobs and beautiful as display pieces. You will finish your broom in this class.

Material fee to be paid directly to the instructor the day of the class $40. All materials are provided, you will need good upper arm strength to tension twine and good shoes, no sandals please.
