OLD VINE CHENIN BLANC

The ace of spades is said to bring luck and good fortune to those who possess it and in many ways, Chenin Blanc has been the ace in the hand of numerous South African winemakers since its well deserved resurgence.

The Uys of Spades is made from old Chenin Blanc vines planted in Botrivier in 1989.

60% of the final wine was fermented and matured in seasoned french oak barrels for 10 months while the balance was fermented and matured in a plastic egg over the same period. May this wine bring you luck and good fortune!

It's another great example of this variety from the same part of the world that gives us Beaumont Hope Marguerite. Top notes of hay and dried herbs before pear, quince, peach and apricot while the palate has good fruit expression, punchy acidity and that slightly bitter finish that makes top-end examples of this variety so grown-up. Full of personality and well balanced.

CE's rating: 94/100.
