

HUSSEIN BALUME | JASPER SELIG

Unity or Divergence in Times of Crisis?

The Overview

The Crisis 1 committee came together to discuss the foremost problem in the global world; terrorists that have gained access to military-grade AI weapons. This catastrophe has reformed the world as we know it, as the terrorists are currently using weapons and AI to cut all forms of communication via satellite and the internet, even going as far as cutting power to the countries as the security systems of many have been breached, and the faculty of them are not in the control of the government anymore. The AI terrorists have reportedly attacked citizens and are currently targeting government landmarks and officials without reason. Without a hint of where the terrorists might be or what they could possibly want, the United Nations has set up a meeting between all of the countries that have the power to do something about the circumstances and are trying to find the best possible solution.

"I know nothing about Artificial Intelligence, but I do know my people are scared." - President of Somalia

The Discussion

The delegates started out by understanding the overview of all the information collected on the topic, and off to a hasty start most agreed on created and using an AI system to fight against the terrorists advanced AI. "We need to use AI to Fight AI." said by South Korea. Although not all agreed on this point, proved by Germany's words, "Using AI to fight AI could get out of hand and could eventually help it take control of us." Some countries were influenced by this, and thought about diplomatically dealing with the terrorists, digging into what they might want.

"We have to band together!" - President of Germany

Crisis Update

Terrorist strike hard with AI weapons ...

Breaking news shocked the UN as reports surfaced of a terrorist organization gaining control of multiple AI controlled military weapons. The organization has taken power from multiple major cities and people are now realizing that these latent threats were real and more could be possibly proved in the future. The U.S is now convening on how to combat these terrorist