Decolonization Efforts in Southeast Asia and Africa

During the meeting of SPECPOL many different countries agreed to make efforts for the process of decolonization. Brazil and south Korea discussed working together to help. Using Brazil's agriculture and South Korea's technology, they could make a big difference and a brighter future. Turkiye claimed that they would make an effort to help the 1.8 million people living under colonial rule, claiming that they would help them gain independence and decolonize. Algeria said that they would teach children about past culture in their countries, and India stated that the committee needs to know how to solve long-term problems.

During an interview with an interview with France, they were asked why they decided to call out China for some of its acts of colonization. According to France, even though talking about decolonization china was pointing fingers towards China because he was not trying to solve the problem but add onto it. France said that countries with a past of colonization shouldn't have to pay for it, but should take responsibility for their past.

BREAKING NEWS!

France calls China “The root of the problem”

Breaking news rocked the committee as France attacks China with the backing of Turkey and Algeria, they alleged that China is the root of the problem in Southeast Asia. France said that China should take responsibility about their history of colonization and their attempts to colonize Taiwan, because it is a massive issue in the process of decolonization.
