March 2020

A Publication of Calvary Lutheran Church, Moline, Illinois

From the Pastor

I think from a very early age we are taught that we need to pay our dues for the things we expect to receive. I remember as a Cub Scout, at the age of six or seven, dutifully bringing money to the weekly den meetings. I knew it was these dues that paid for craft materials and the various badges that I might receive. When I was in high school I joined the Key Club and paid my dues to support the club activities. In college I participated in the bowling club and paid my weekly dues that helped to cover the cost of the end-of-the-season trophies. (I still have my trophy as a proud member of the last place team in the league.) As an adult I belonged briefly to the local Kiwanis Club – and paid my weekly dues to cover lunch and the projects of the club. Yes, the lesson is regularly reiterated that if one wants to participate, one must pay their dues.

Sadly, I think people often see their offerings to the church in the same way. And I suppose, in subtle ways, the church may encourage that viewpoint. I remember as a child in Sunday School being expected to deliver my little offering envelope every week. It felt a lot like my Cub Scout dues. Congregations often hand out pledge or commitment or intent cards at the same time we start talking about next year's budget. It isn't a big leap to think that what the church is asking for is money to cover the expense of membership. In fact, I have heard active church members refer to their weekly offerings as "dues." And more often than I care to admit I have had people tell me that they want to keep up some kind of regular offering to the church "so that I can have my funeral there." Somewhere along the line we have communicated to people that if they want to receive the benefits of the church, they must pay their dues.

However, I think that is exactly opposite of what our offerings should be about. They are not, to use a phrase very much in the news lately, a quid pro quo. Instead, our offerings should reflect God's relationship with us – a relationship of love. First and foremost, God loves us. God loves us not because we have done something special...not because we are especially good and wholesome...and certainly not because we have anything to offer God. God loves us because God has chosen to love us. And what God asks of us in return is our love for him.

Our offerings, then, are a response to God's gracious love for us. Our offerings are a response to all that God has provided for us. As Martin Luther writes in his explanation to the first article of the Apostles' Creed in the Small Catechism,

...God daily and abundantly provides shoes and clothing, food and drink, house and farm, spouse and children, fields, livestock and all property – along with all the necessities and nourishment for this body and life....For all of this I owe it to God to thank and praise, serve and obey him. This is most certainly true.

Luther's point (and my point) is that our offerings are given in response to what God has done for us. God's love for us does not depend on what we offer to God. You are a member of God's family because God has chosen you, not because you pay your dues. Your offerings are tokens of your love for God.

I encourage you, then, to let your offerings not be some sort of dues to cover the cost of church membership, but rather let it be a gift to God in thanks for all that God has done for you.

In Christ,

Pastor Knowles

During the past several months we have received the following words of thanks....

✧ I would like to express my thanks and gratitude for the cards and gifts I received this past Christmas. Also, a Big thank you for submitting articles on time; to those who volunteer each Sunday and for filling in on short notice. Each of you wears the cross of Christ by all the things you do for others. As I have told many people – “This is Calvary.”

---- Thank you so very much, Teri Griebel, Sec.

✧ Thank you so much for the lovely lap blankets! Our memory care residents are enjoying them this winter season. We love the beautiful colors and patterns you used!

---- Courtney (Activity Dir) & Heartland Staff

✧ Many thanks to the ladies and others in the church for the Christmas goodies delivered to me by the Faiths and Mary Ann. I have munched my way through the Holiday Season and enjoyed it all.

---- Kathryn Beardsley

✧ Thank you for calls, visits and cards over the past months. Also to the Happy Hookers for the great Christmas gifts. And to the carolers who allowed our pug, Milo, to “sing” along with them! You are all appreciated so much. Thank you to all of our friends at Calvary.

---- Bob & Beth Fuller

✧ The family of Dale Winter wishes to express our thanks for the many cards, flowers, phone calls, food, hugs and monetary gifts. Thanks to all who prepared, served and cleaned up after the wonderful lunch – it was greatly appreciated.

---- The Family of Dale Winter

✧ On behalf of Christian Care, I would like to thank you for your recent donation of 25 boxes of dry goods which we received on 1/3/2020. Because of your contribution, we will be able to better serve the least, the last, and the lost in the Quad Cities. Recently Christian Care was honored to be named Organization of the Year 2019 and Citizen of the Year 2019 for the city of Rock Island. While we are proud to be recognized for our contributions to the city and the citizens we service in our community, we fully realize that we wouldn't be successful without the valuable contributions from generous partners like you. Again, we thank you for your support and helping us succeed in our mission.

---- Steve Gottcent, Comm Outreach Coordinator, Christian Care

We offer our sympathies and prayers to Paul Levesque and family. Paul's brother-in-law Bill Tyler (husband to his sister Claire) has died. Bill lived (and she still lives) in Needham, Mass (a suburb of Boston). May you find refuge and comfort in our Lord, Jesus Christ.
