Red Sox sweep Seattle

Comeback victory in game 3 of the series to sweep the Mariners

The Red Sox just do not quit when they fall behind. Game 3 of the series started out great as Garrett Crochet looking like the ace the Red Sox expected in the trade with Chicago, retired the first 9 batters. Crochet ran into trouble in the fourth inning. Nick Ahmed tripled with one out and scored on a

Single by Yandy Diaz. Eguay Rosario struck out looking and then Kyle Farmer hit one over the leftfield wall for a 3-0 lead. Josh Bell got the Sox on the board in the seventh with a homer to right making the score 4-1. Cousins got two strikeouts in the seventh, but Elly De LaCruz's errant throw allowed Betts to reach second. The Sox defense is the worst in the league and

It cost them another run as Ahmed singled Betts home. Chad Green came on after Cousins loaded the bases with walks, Robles was retired on a deep fly out. Reese Olson was cruising into the eighth and had to leave after a lead-off pinch double by Mauricio Dubon. Robert Garcia relieved and gave up two singles playing Dubon. After a strikeout

CJ Abrams walked loading the bases and chasing Garcia from the game. Collin Snider came on to face Ildemaro Vargas and he gave up a two-run single to make it 5-4. Josh Naylor brought home the go ahead run with a seeing eye single to center out of reach of Mookie Betts. Green and Bryan King pitched scoreless innings for the comeback victory 6-5.

Sox rolling finish 10-2 road trip

Seattle, WA – The Red Sox have been red hot finishing the road trip 10-2 and a sweep of Seattle. In game one Mauricio Dubon's hit streak ended at 13, but the Sox didn't need much offense as Bryan Bello pitched a shutout winning 6-0. Bello scattered 5 hits, walked one and struck-out 10. Game 2 was another blowout 12-1. Michael King pitched 7 innings of 4 hit ball, walked 2 and struck-out 10. Rafela provided the offense with his second homerun. In game 3, the Red Sox fell behind 5-1 as Crochet was hit hard again. The Sox scored 5 in the eighth to comeback and finish the sweep. The Sox return home to take on San Francisco.
