Meet Jeni!

Owner, Illustrator, and Production Management

Jeni is a pun enthusiast and a tenacious local entrepreneur. BehindTheBits represents her goofy mind and all the silly personalities she gives to inanimate objects. A "behind the scenes" of her mind, if you will. Each punny illustration is original, and each item is hand-printed with love right here in Arizona! Jeni loves experimenting and perfecting sublimation techniques, while also working with other artists throughout the country to plaster their original pieces on everyday items customers can use (like mugs, prints, bags, etc.).

She's been selling her work professionally since 2015 and is a former event director for multi-faceted artist events. She has an Associates Degree in the Arts and is currently working on her Associates in Marketing, with a Certificate in Social Media Marketing. She's also the winner of the Little Pitch competition on behalf of both Radnaut.com and Scottsdale Community College.

BehindTheBits is currently displayed at the Merchantile in both Scottsdale and Phoenix.

I LOVE these art prints! I'm all about the puns and the 3 I bought fit perfectly in my school counseling office. I placed them in colorful frames that match some of the colors on each print and hung them on the wall. I've gotten so many laughs and conversations started from them, with both middle school students and adults working in the building! I bought the "Sushi me rolling," "I'm avocontrol," and "Everyone romaine calm." My order also came with a free durable sticker of the "I pea'd a little" print that I stuck on my reusable water bottle. I will definitely keep an eye on this shop for any other prints that might be appropriate to hang in my office.

These cards were even cuter in person, if that's possible!!

I love, love, love my mug! The design is so cute. Such artistry! An impending issue popped up and I was contacted by the shop owner. Everything was fine and I continued with my order. Impressive! And thanks so much! The mug is substantial. Superior quality. Shipping box was substantial and shipping was quick. Glad to do business with a fellow artisan. I highly recommend this shop!
