

AIA Idaho Professional Affiliate Membership Information

The AIA Idaho Professional Affiliate Membership is tailored for building industry partners who collaborate with architects. Our membership is open but not limited to the following professionals:

- Engineers (civil, structural, mechanical, electrical)
- Landscape architects
- Construction firms
- Real estate developers
- Interior designers
- Urban planners
- Building product manufacturers
- Environmental consultants
- Surveyors
- Facility managers and city planners
- Legal professionals specializing in construction law
- Insurance specialists specializing in design and construction
- Financial institutions providing construction financing
- Technology providers offering design software and tools
- Marketing and public relations firms focusing on architecture and construction
- Faculty members and educators

This membership parallels the national AIA Individual Professional Affiliate membership and includes state and local affiliations. As a Professional Affiliate member, you will have access to the same programs, services, and activities as AIA Architect and Associate AIA members. The essence of this membership is mutual benefit—architects will gain valuable insights into your services and industry, just as you will learn from their expertise.
