

Profile of Perri Ann Shindler, President

Perri is a dynamic, accomplished, and results-oriented hospitality professional, practiced in conducting business at the highest level of professionalism in both restaurant/catering operations and administrative functions.

A highly organized, driven and effective collaborator, who is able to manage multiple projects and responsibilities simultaneously with a drive for continuous improvements in quality, productivity and efficiency. She consistently achieves performance goals through enthusiasm, tenacity and initiative, which complement her knowledge and expertise

It all started when her mom told her to go get a job. So she did. She got a job as a host in a restaurant. When she was in college

In short order she was promoted to other front of the house positions and went on to earn a degree in Hospitality Management from the highly rated Collins College of Hospitality Management at California Polytechnic State University, Pomona.

During the course of her career, Perri has spent 13 years in fine dining management and catering operations for leading companies such as the Patina Restaurant Group, Wolfgang Puck Catering and Morton's The Steakhouse in Beverly Hills.

After 13 years of long hours and sore feet, her career evolved into an administrative role, increasing her knowledge in payroll, human resources, accounts receivable and accounts payable, and other administrative and financial functions.

For the past 4 years, the combination of her hands-on restaurant experience along with her strong organizational skills, excellent time and calendar management has provided a unique expertise to her hospitality industry clients.
