CAM Specialist Certificate Program

Integrative Health for Health Professionals

Practice and / or teaching of energetic approach for Healing for Body, Emotion, Mind & Spirit

Definitions used for this program such as Integrative Health and Energy Therapy are nationally defined through official US governmental bodies.

Integrative Health defined by the World Health Organization in 2008 definition is used for this educational program.

Integrative Health involves bringing conventional and complementary approaches together in a coordinated way as defined by the National Center for Complementary and Integrative Health (NCCIH) the US Federal Government's lead agency for scientific research in these areas.

Energy Therapy is defined by the National Cancer Institute at the National Institute of Health.

Energy Therapy is a form of complementary and alternative medicine based on the belief that a vital energy flows through the human body. The goal of energy therapy is to balance the energy flow in the patient. It is used to reduce stress and anxiety and promote well-being. Currently Energy Therapy is being studied in patients receiving cancer therapy, to find out if it can improve the quality of life, boost the immune system, or reduce side effects. It is also called Energy Healing.

This Certificate program achieves the goal of integrating current mental health and natural health approaches to health and wellness, using the internationally recognized Virginia Satir's Process for Helping Individuals and Families Change with Energy Therapy.
