Name:

Regular practice is necessary in learning to play a musical instrument. Encourage your child to practice is several short sessions each day rather than one long session. Playing a stringed instrument requires strength with flexibility. Long practice sessions cause the muscles to tire and become tight and rigid making flexibility almost impossible.

Students will make better progress if they work for specific goals rather than just "putting in" their prescribed minutes of practice. These goals, in addition to the correct notes, should include:

- Correct instrument posture
- Good tone quality
- Good intonation

- Correct rhythm
- Study tempo
- · Good musical phrasing

PRACTICE RECORD

WEEK	Sun.	Mon.	Tues.	Name of Street Street	新华村工作的	SECTION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE	THE RESERVE THE PARTY OF THE PA	Total	MINISTRACE OF THE SECOND
		地位的自然的	ildes.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.	Sat.	Time	Parent's Initials
1		B: 1
2
3					9
4									i di
5
6									5
7	a ,
8
9
10						9
11
12
13	*
14
15			- 11
16
17
18									