

RESIDENTIAL & COMMERCIAL FACTORY-BUILT
CONSTRUCTION: SIPS, Modular & Pre-fab.

What's Modular or Prefab?

Modular or prefab construction are built units completed entirely in a factory and then shipped to the job site.

What are SIPS?

Structurally Insulated Panels, or SIPs, are cost-effective, high-performance, pre-fabricated & pre-insulated building panels that connect together easily as walls, roofs and floors for residential and light commercial construction. SIPs are engineered to provide more durable, energy-efficient buildings all while being constructed in slightly less time than traditional 'stick-frame' construction.

What are the Benefits?

- Reduce construction time
- Decrease construction costs
- Better home energy-efficiency
- Increase indoor air quality
- Stronger structure
- Quieter interior
- Less impact on build site
- Eco-friendly & recyclable materials

Priced out of a project? We can convert a set of plans to SIPs – see if we can help get a shelved project back on track!

Why Green Galaxy Builders?

Green Galaxy Builders, and our SIP subsidiary Shell Building Systems, is a representative for Premier SIPs – the highest quality and best researched SIP manufacturer in North America – based in Washington state. Green Galaxy also partners with various modular companies to enable them to package the whole project. Modular companies struggle with executing their builds because they don't offer the pre-construction and site serviced necessary to prepare for a modular structure. Green Galaxy knows and understands this process and brings their project management serviced in to complete projects on-time and on-budget.

More About Us:

Based in the Bay Area, Green Galaxy Builders is a team of building professionals; committed to utilizing advanced building materials & technologies which allows our clients to build smarter, faster, & for less money than traditional construction methods. Construction is facing a paradigm shift with new alternative forms of construction that are leaps & bounds ahead of traditional methods.

We firmly believe these alternative & pre-fabricated methods will make construction affordable, attainable, and quickly become the new norm. We're a full-service construction company and offer optional project management services. Some of our clients simply want to purchase our superior building products; others want to combine that with our outstanding and streamlined project management services.

Green Galaxy Builders provides a level of project management that goes above & beyond, and our staff is well-tuned to building codes and requirements of various Bay Area building departments.
