About ICLT

International Conference on Logistics and Transport 2023

International Conference on Logistics and Transport This is the 13th international conference organised by the Centre for Logistics Research at Thammasat Business School, Thammasat University, the Graduate School of Chiang Mai University and the Supply Chain and Engineering Management Research Unit of Chiang Mai University. This is a major event for researcher in transport, logistics, supply chain and value chain management especially in the Asia Pacific region.

This year's event in Krabi (Thailand), is a continuation of past successful conferences held in 2009 in Chiang Mai (Thailand), 2010 in Queenstown (New Zealand), 2011 in Malé (Maldives), 2012 in Chiang Mai (Thailand), 2013 in Kyoto (Japan), 2014 in Kuala Lumpur (Malaysia), 2015 in Lyon (France), 2016 in Singapore, 2017 in Bangkok (Thailand), 2018 in Okinawa (Japan), 2019 in Hanoi (Vietnam), 2022 in Krabi (Thailand). This year's event will be held in Helsinki, Finland, during September 27th to 29th, 2023, hosted by Hanken School of Economics.

The theme for this year's event is "Circular Supply Chain for Resilience". With the current movement towards an eco-friendly future, the role of repurposing what is once viewed as "waste" are recycled back in the manufacturing operation. Along with the adaption of data analytics in supply chain, physical internet, blockchain in supply chain, digital supply chain, computer applications in supply chain and disruptive technologies, resilience in circular supply chain have received a considerable attention in the current domain of supply chain management. The official language of the Conference is English. We sincerely hope to see all of you at the event.
