

Hello everyone,

I was a client of Carol's for a little over a year. I also had three of her monitors—Emily, Dana, and Maddie—work with me throughout my pretty intense case. They're all great monitors and really put the kids' interests first when dealing with the parents.

Carol was awesome at pushing through and navigating all the legal stuff and dealing with pressure from the other side's lawyer. She made sure everything stayed as neutral as possible and, more importantly, kept the kids happy.

Honestly, I don't know what else to say except that even I had a great time (monitors can be REALLY awkward—I've dealt with 9 different ones in one and a quarter year), but I never had an issue with Happy Days Visitations.

I recommend using them if you have to go through this kind of ordeal. Trust me, it's not fun... but they'll help everyone get through it.
