Hi Jason

As Kimberly mentioned last week, the company has considered your request for a conference call with Darbyshire present. The reason it has taken so long to confirm the call, is because Darbyshire has been on vacation with limited internet access. We anticipate Mr. Camp will have the opportunity to speak with him today or tomorrow, and we will let you know.

We are not going to arrange for a video conference call between your client and Mr. Pillsbury, although the last time Voit communicated with Pillsbury he did not do himself any favors (see attached). If that means your client decides to "take the story to the media", whatever that means, so be it.

Thank you
