Consequences for No-Shows, Late Cancellations and Court Rules Violations

Round Robins

- 1st offense: Suspension from that Round Robin for 1 week.
- 2nd offense: Suspension from that Round Robin for 2 weeks.
- 3rd or subsequent offense: Suspension from that Round Robin for the remainder of the season.

Lessons

The instructor may replace a member who has a no-show or late cancellation with another member from the waiting list.

Assessments

A member who has a no-show or late cancellation will be replaced by a member on the waiting list and will be moved to the end of the current waiting list.

Tournaments

A member who has a no-show or late cancellation will not be allowed to register for the next tournament.

Court Rules and Etiquette Violations

The Board of Directors will issue a warning letter to the member and invite that member to the next Board Meeting to discuss the incident. The Board may decide to suspend the membership for a specific length of time if warranted.

Notice of Consequences and Record Keeping

The member hosting or in charge of the Round Robin, lesson, assessment, tournament, or other activity requiring advance registration will contact the member and inform them of the consequence resulting from a no-show or late cancellation.

The host or person in charge of the event will also report each incident to the Board, and a record of the incident report will be maintained.

During an event if the Court Host observes a Rule or Etiquette violation and feels as though the safety or well-being of other participants is threatened by the player's behavior the host may ask the player to leave the courts and then report incident to the Board upon completion of event.

Members should notify any Board Member if a club member is violating the Court Rules and Etiquette to report the incident.

In cases of repeated offenses by the same member across more than one type of event, the Board may determine that additional consequences are appropriate, which may include suspension from registered club activities for the remainder of the season.
