

Reuters and AI

Reuters journalists at times use generative Artificial Intelligence as one of the tools in our reporting, writing, editing, production and publishing. When we rely primarily or solely on generative AI to produce news content, we clearly disclose this use, providing context about how we have used the tool. As a news agency, Reuters also licenses its content to clients who may use AI to produce new material, which must keep to the Reuters brand attribution guidelines. Any concerns, including regarding mistakes or misrepresentations due to AI, can be reported here.
