Online Etiquette

Etiquette for online classes is important for maintaining a respectful and productive learning environment. Here are some guidelines to follow:

1. Respect the class structure: Understand that the online class is primarily for the students, and the teacher's attention should be focused on teaching them.
2. Communicate with the teacher: If you want to observe the class, make sure to do so discreetly without disrupting the flow. Reach out to the teacher beforehand and express your interest in observing the class.
3. Follow the guidelines: Once you've received permission, make sure to adhere to any guidelines provided by the teacher. They may have specific instructions for parents observing the class, such as muting your microphone unless necessary or keeping your camera off unless specifically invited to turn it on.
4. Avoid distractions: Ensure that your presence doesn't become a distraction to your child or other students. Keep your background noise to a minimum and refrain from engaging in conversations or activities that could divert attention from the class.
5. Be mindful of privacy: Respect the privacy of the other students and their families. Refrain from recording, taking screenshots, or sharing any class content without explicit permission from the teacher and the involved parties.
6. Support your child independently: Allow your child to engage in the class on their own and refrain from interfering unless there's a specific need or request from the teacher or your child. This helps foster their independence and encourages them to take ownership of their learning.

Remember, while it's important to be involved in your child's education, it's equally crucial to strike a balance and respect the boundaries set by the online learning environment.
