

Acorns

Acorns drifting aimlessly along my path
Stream shifting into the wooded depths of this area
Different colors of shapely stones deeply entrenched in my path
A frog half covered in the coolness of the stream
His head erect like a green statue is relaxing
Enjoying this beautiful day alone
So tranquil the frog is situated
A “Do not Disturb” sign should be placed here.

Renata Dawidowicz

Published in: “Writers Newsletter”

On page 5 - September 1987

