

Antiquity

Dramatic hallway darkened
Guarded by lions
From long ago
Chiseled from stone and wood
Perfect assembly to keep going on
The crowds have not yet arrived
It's still early morn
And the drizzly rain
Has encompassed the day so far
I need to be here alone
To reflect on the beauty of the past
The toil it took to create this magnificence
But it's a genius of wanting
That is felt beyond control
The love of it
I can imagine how the artist
Fulfilling his desires
Of creating what we can only observe now
It feels so real!

Renata Dawidowicz

Published in: "Poetic Realm"

On page 39- 1996

Published in "Always Looking"

"Ya'sou"-page 14-March 2009

