

Brilliance

Red hot brilliance in the sky overhead
Setting of the sun on the road home again
Captivating my vision as it disappears in proportions
The last glimmer of daylight dusk
Darkness is descending upon us
I think to myself
The wonders that exist above me
Never knowing their secrets completely
How such brilliance continues to arrive each morning
To give us light again

Renata Dawidowicz

Published in: "Listen With Your Heart"

On page 123 - 1992

Published in : "Bell's Letters No. 69"

On page 32 - spring 1993

Published in: "Senior Living News" – Oakland County

On page 15 – November 2008

