

Directions

The road map of my life
Scatters into different directions
There are so many alternatives
How do I proceed
To make the best turn in my life
The paths are so inviting
With promises of fulfillment
But the wrong path will bring
Me to my knees as I stumble and fall
I trace the map with my finger
And point to my destination

Renata Dawidowicz

