Everyone Counts

Stop and make a difference

Do not let time pass without making a move

Everyone does not have the same goals in life

But I believe everyone counts

So when a disease like multiple sclerosis

Takes a hold of someone

A cure has to be found

And that cannot be done without medical research

We have come a long way in disease control

Do not just keep going on with daily routines

Until we find a cure for all disease

Through no fault of their own

If writing this down makes a difference

When someone reading this thinks about the disease

And helps in their unique way

People should not have to suffer

Whether they are incapacitated physically or mentally

Working together for the good of all men

Stop and make a difference
