

Flake

March diligently working its way to April
Change of weather abruptly
Yesterday rain pouring abundantly
Flakes flakes coming down today
I see them everywhere
Cold wind howling as their diligent companion
Green evergreens crusted white
Movable weather surviving
A bright red robin scattering away
As fast as it comes
Tomorrow the weather changes
I bundle up for the cold
Shivering the window panes clatter away
The sun is hiding beneath the cloudy sky somewhere
As the clouds signal to us
When the crystal beauty flakes
Start melting down again

Renata Dawidowicz

Published in: "Poets At Work"

On page 10 – March & April 1988

Published in: "Letter Funder #66"

On page 1 – Dec. 2009

