

Tweet-Tweet

High on a window sill
Of a tall brick residence
On the second floor
I heard tweet-tweet
At first I thought it came from
The parakeet inside
Who is always chattering very loudly
As I looked in the bedroom
Situating outside the ledge
Two baby birds
Were escaping from the rain
I was enchantingly amused
To see how disgusted
They were chirping away
It must have been their
First time in the rain
Since we didn't have any in a while
The weather had been real hot
They were so cute
Expressing themselves outrageously loud
They couldn't figure out
What to do about their rainy predicament
But they definitely made their displeasure known
How do we stay dry?

Renata Dawidowicz

Published in: "OMNIFIC"

On page 80-1993

