INTRODUCTION

It was the duty of the Post Office to collect Inland Revenue with the use of adhesive stamps; these were first issued in 1853.

In 1875 this duty was passed to the Treasury but still handled on agreement by the Post Office. Some time later in June 1881 “The Customs & Inland Revenue Act” was passed, and this required that stamps could be used for either Postage or Inland Revenue

The 1d Lilac Postage & Revenue stamp (Sg 170) was then introduced. Following this it was no longer necessary to keep a range of stamps purely for Inland Revenue purposes.

The remaining Inland Revenue stamps, which were held in stock by companies, were allowed to be used up as postage stamps. (1st June 1881) this being why you will find Inland Revenue stamps with postal cancels, as well as Manuscript cancels.

Addendum .

The Customs and Inland revenue Act of 1881 abolished the low value Queen Victorian Inland Revenue stamps and they were replaced by the new Postage & Revenue stamps. (Queen Victoria 1d Lilac Sg 170).

A further act in 1882 specified that from Jan 1st 1883 any postage stamp up to the value of 2/6d could be used to pay stamp duty.

So from 1883 most tax obligations of the general public (up to 2/6d) were met by the single fiscal use of postage stamps. However as with most taxes it became necessary in 1904 to raise the tax, so you will find that new higher values of the Inland Revenue stamps were reintroduced.

(1904) EDV11, 3/-,4/-,5/-,

(1921) GV, 3/-,4/-,5/-,

(1947) GV1, 3/-,4/-,5/-,6/-,8/-,10/-,

(1959) QE11, 3/-,4/-,5/-,6/-,8/-,10/-,

Perfins have also be found on these later Inland Revenue stamps.

Only EDV11 5/-, GV 5/-, & GVI 10/-, are recorded to date.

They have been given Barefoot Catalogue numbers.
