DEDICATION

This opening page is dedicated to the Late Mr. Kevin Parkhill of Rochdale, a keen Perfin Society member, who (Some 40 years ago) initiated this study of the perfinned revenue stamps of Great Britain.

I would not have been able to produce this catalogue without Kevin's notes, papers and correspondence from perfin collectors around the world.

You all know who you are, so many thanks indeed for your information which has culminated in this first specialised edition of a GB Foreign Bill Perfin Revenue Catalogue.

INTRODUCTION

The following pages have been put together with the intention of helping the collector of perfined revenue stamps, it is by no means complete, hopefully collectors who have additional information will let me know the details, and more pages will be made up as and when.

As there is no present perfined Revenue cataloguing system I am adopting a new system, using the letter followed by two numbers and two decimal places.

I.E. A 23.01. A single letter "M" after the catalogue number indicates a Multi headed die.

Where the perfin is already catalogued on Postage stamps in the New Gault Illustrated GB perfin catalogue, then this catalogue number will also be alongside. At this moment in time only different Reigns will be used, with an accompanying list of stamps on which the perfin has been seen.

A Typical entry will be as follows.

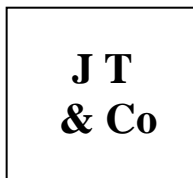

In use: Date range based on known dates.

Dates: Earliest and latest known dates from Documents or Cancellations.

Issues: Only different Reigns will be used
QVic, EDVII, GV, GVI, QEII,

Ident: Company Name & address identified by Document or Cachet Cancellation.

Suspected Ident: Ø This symbol indicates a suspected Identity.

Where the perfin is indicated by Typed letters, the letters have been reported, but the die remains unknown. Information is welcome on any of these dies.

Where possible the illustration for each die has been taken from stamps and other catalogues. However a number of previously unknown dies have had to be scanned.

INTRODUCTION

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with Foreign Bill stamps, I will give the following short introduction.

Perfined Foreign Bill Stamps.

Foreign Bills were essentially bank drafts for transfer of money to a foreign country. Although the stamps were introduced in 1854, Permission to perfin them was only obtained on the 27th June 1870,

NOTE: - QVic perfined Foreign Bill stamps have been seen with earlier cancels, but only with perfin dies which have been used to perfin earlier postage stamps of the same Company. Permission to perfin postage stamps was issued earlier on 13-3-1868.

The stamps were used as a Tax on the dispatch of money overseas, hence the description Revenues. The Company perfin if on used stamps is usually cancelled by a manuscript cancel (manu in Catalogue) or by a private rubber cancel (Cachet) most often in green, red, violet, or blue).

Combination pieces do exist, where you will find Foreign Bill stamps of Great Britain and Foreign Bill stamps of the country of destination, these are most common from India.

For the overprint collector there are also overprints of various Banks and Company's. (All known overprints to date are listed in Part Two of this catalogue).

NOTE: - Ref: - Stamp Duty act 1891.

Perfin QVic 1d, QVic 1d Inland Revenue, EDVII 1d, GV 1d & 2d, GVI 2d, & QEII 2d Postage stamps are also recorded used as Duty on the transfer of Money Overseas, QVic, EDVII & GV £5 to £100. & GVI £5 to £300. & QEII £5 to £1500

(All reported postage stamps used as stamp duty in this catalogue have been seen used either on overseas money transfers (Cheques) or on Foreign Bills).

"SPG" TYPES

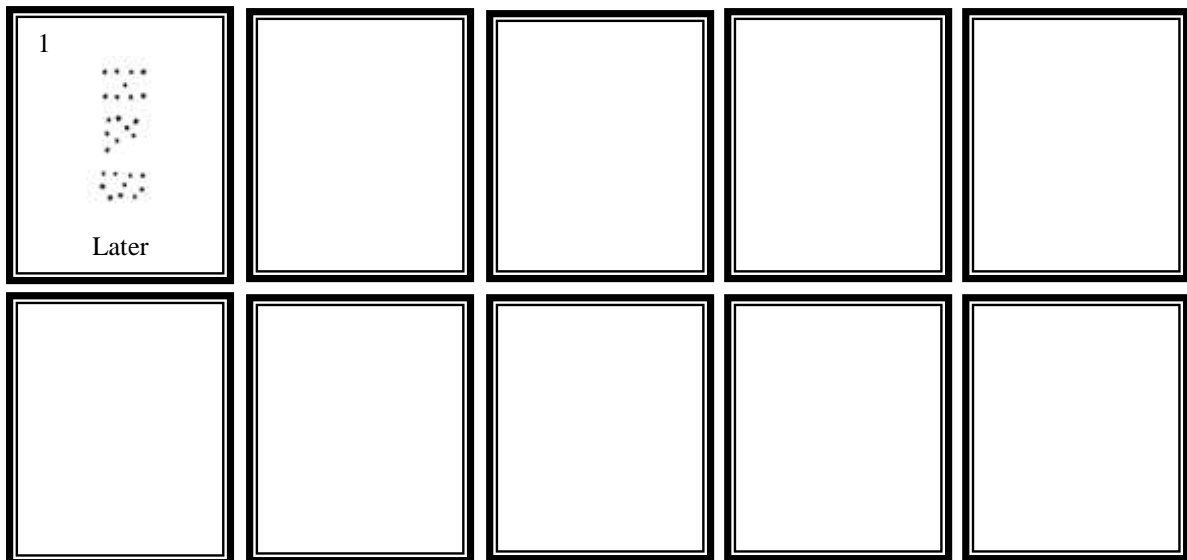

The term "SPG" Type originates from the first discovery (1994) of these clamped together dies, which was made by our Catalogue Editor Roy Gault when looking at numerous Perfins with the letters "SPG", each showing many variations. These would eventually become Cat No S5900.01v and S5900.02v.

The suffix "v" in the Catalogue Number alerts the collector that variations can be expected, in size, shape, and pin count.

A short explanation is that the "SPG" Types are single letters which are clamped together to produce the required initials as one die. The three letter type almost always reads down the stamp (with the Monarch's head upright).

There are two basic types, with a change over date of approx 1906. The earlier type (1890-1906) are mostly 5 pins high, whereas the later type (1906-1930) are mostly 4 pins high. Both earlier and later types may be found with one, two, or three letters, with one known of the earlier type with four letters.

There are now 411 different G.B. Perfin dies recognised as "SPG" Types, but only one has so far been reported on Foreign Bill Stamps.

THE PERFIN FOREIGN BILL STAMPS OF GREAT BRITAIN

Issues: - Queen Victoria (Longs).

To the editors knowledge the earliest perfins have only been found on the 1857 issue of the (Longs) colours of Lilac & Carmine, Wmk VR perf 14.

It is presumed that they can be found on all values.

This issue (perfinned) should only be found used after 27th June 1870 when the first permission was granted to perfin Foreign Bill stamps, however earlier cancels are known on the perfin dies which were also granted for the relevant Company's postage stamps. (Pre 1870). (See Introduction).

Issues: - Queen Victoria.

For the issue collector, perfins are likely to be found on all issues of QVic 1871, seventeen values from 1d to £5,

[The above number and letter should be quoted in the reply (if any).]

INLAND REVENUE,

SOMERSET HOUSE, LONDON, W.C.

27th June 1870

Sir

The Board of Inland Revenue have had before them your letter of the 23rd instant, inquiring on behalf of Mess^{rs} Huth & Co relative to the plan sanctioned by the Postmaster General for the perforation of Postage Stamps with the names and initials of Firms &c, and in reply I am directed to state that the Board will not object to the plan in question being extended to the perforation of Foreign Bill Stamps and also to one penny Inland Revenue Stamps in the manner pointed out in your letter.

It is to be distinctly understood however that the Queen's Head in the Stamp is to be left untouched by the operation.

There has been some have allowed making as it was considered more effectual & beneficial to the Government—

I am Sir,
Your obedient Servant

Mr Joseph Sloper

Transcript of the letter.

The letter of 27th June 1870 from the Inland Revenue to Joseph Sloper, authorising the use of perfins on revenue stamps:

INLAND REVENUE
SOMERSET HOUSE, LONDON W.C.
27th June 1870

Sir,

The Board of Inland Revenue have had before them your letter of the 23rd instant, inquiring on behalf of Messrs, Huth & Co. relative to the plan sanctioned by the Postmaster General for the perforation of postage stamps with the names and initials of Firms, etc., and in reply, I am directed to state that the Board will not object to the plan in question being extended to the perforation of Foreign Bill Stamps and also to the one penny Inland Revenue stamps in the manner pointed out in your letter.

It is to be distinctly understood, however, that the Queen's Head in the stamp is to be left untouched by the operation.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,

W. Lomas.

Marginal Note in pencil:

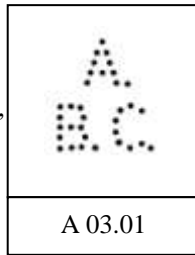

This has since been allowed in as much as it was considered more effectual & beneficial to the Government --

NOTE: - It is apparent that over time the rule regarding the perfin die skirting Queen Victoria's head was ignored.

ANGLO-EGYPTIAN BANK LTD

The Bank was established on the 18th July 1864 as the Anglo-Egyptian Banking Company Limited, and on the 6th April 1887, was reconstructed and renamed Anglo-Egyptian Bank Ltd. In March 1920, Barclays Bank Limited offered to acquire an interest in the Company and by late 1924 owned 90% of its shares.

In 1925 Barclays Bank, together with the National Bank of South Africa Limited and the Colonial Bank, amalgamated as from the 31st August under the title of Barclays Bank (Dominion Colonial & Overseas) a subsidiary of Barclays Bank.

From 1925 onwards this Barclays Bank (Dominion Colonial & Overseas) subsidiary used a new perfin "AE" which was slightly larger than the original one.

Apollinaris is a German naturally sparkling mineral water, well known in German-speaking countries as "The Queen of Table Waters".

The spring was discovered by chance in 1852 in Georg Kreuzberg's vineyard, in Bad Neuenahr, Germany. He named it after St Apollinaris of Ravenna, a patron saint of wine. The red triangle symbol and the slogan "The Queen of Table Waters" were adopted as trademarks in 1895. By 1913 the company was producing 40 million bottles a year, 90% of which were exported worldwide.

Today the source and the brand of Apollinaris belong to Coca-Cola, which acquired it from the multinational Cadbury-Schweppes in 2006.

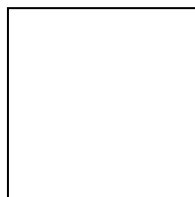

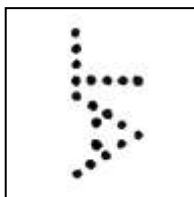

The firm first appears in the Kelly's Post Office Directories in 1875 at 19 Regent Street as The Apollinaris Co Ltd with a Stanley P Wilkinson as its secretary. The following year the firm are listed as wine and spirit merchants and then in 1877 as mineral water and wine and spirit merchants. From 1878-94 they operated solely as natural mineral water dealers. In 1895 the firm moved to new premises at 4 Stratford Place, Oxford Street and from 1898 to 1931 a second company of Apollinaris and Johannis Ltd is listed at the same address. Subsequently in 1932 Apollinaris and Johannis Ltd becomes Apollinaris and Presta Ltd and that company continued to operate until 1951. From 1952 until 1955 a single firm of Apollinaris and Company Ltd, importers of natural mineral waters and manufacturers of Presta squashes and table waters is recorded at Sardinia House, 52 Lincoln's Inn Fields, Kingsway.

The firm took its name from the Apollinaris Spring which it owned in the Ahr Valley close to Neumahr, Germany. Close to the spring at Niederbreisig was located the firm's bottling factory, the Rheinmahr Bottle Works, which was a German limited company. From there the mineral water was exported all over the world with over forty million bottles being produced by 1913-14. There also appears to have been a second spring in operation at Apenta in Hungary. At the outbreak of the First World War 97% of the firm's total capital was in the hands of over four and a half thousand British shareholders. However, the directories clearly show that the firm was able to survive the difficulties associated with the war with Germany between 1914-18 and 1939-45.

NATIONAL BANK OF INDIA

The Calcutta City Banking Corporation was formed in 1863 as an Indian registered bank, changing its name to the National Bank of India (NBI) a few months later. Offices in London and Bombay followed in 1864 and 1865. Crucial to the Bank's future, its head office was transferred to London in 1866 and the Company was registered under the UK Companies Act, giving it much greater international potential, but it was a move that was fiercely contested for many years.

NBI remained with these three offices until 1870 when it sought to exploit opportunities in China with a branch in Hong Kong and, later, in Shanghai. Substantial losses threatened the Bank and the Chinese operations were eventually closed. Without neglecting its domestic market, NBI began to expand around the fringes of the Indian Ocean, particularly Aden and East Africa; by 1900 NBI had 19 branches and £10m of assets.

Steady expansion continued through the early 1900s and by the outbreak of World War I NBI was the seventh largest of the London-registered overseas banks. Growth continued during the War and by 1918 the Bank's assets were £33m with record profits of over £400,000. Around that time, detailed discussions took place with Lloyds Bank and agreement was reached in principle for Lloyds to acquire NBI but, according to the Bank's official history, the proposal was vetoed by 'the authorities'.

The inter-war years saw NBI stagnate, only two new branches were opened and there was no growth in the Bank's assets. More substantial change was to come after the Second World War. In August 1947 India was granted independence with all the turmoil that entailed in the Bank's main market. Undaunted, the following year NBI purchased Grindlays Bank from National Provincial Bank; Grindlays then had deposits of around £20m compared with over £70m for NBI.

THE PERFIN FOREIGN BILL STAMPS OF GREAT BRITAIN

Hambros Bank

Hambros Bank was a British Bank based in London. The Hambros bank was a specialist in Anglo-Scandinavian business with expertise in trade finance and investment banking, and was the sole banker to the Scandinavian kingdoms for many years. The Bank was sold in 1998, and today survives only in the name of the private banking division of the French group Société Générale, which is called SG Hambros Bank Ltd.

Hambros was founded by the Danish merchant and banker Carl Joachim Hambro in London in 1839 as C. J. Hambro & Son. During the 1850s he was responsible for arranging various British Government loan stock issues enabling the bank to prosper.

After merging with the British Bank of Northern Commerce (owned by Enskilda Banken and a number of Scandinavian savings banks) in 1921 the name was changed to Hambros Bank, and the firm expanded.

As a result, in 1926 a bigger head office was constructed at 41 Bishopsgate, where the bank remained until 1988. The 1930 depression affected the bank's international business and it concentrated on domestic lending and Scandinavia.

During World War II, Sir Charles Hambro raised finance for the exile Norwegian government and was also the head of the Special Operations Executive.

After World War II, Hambros became also known as the 'diamond bank' with its thriving activity in financing the diamond industry and its trade.

Hambros was one of the top three banks in the Euromarket by the mid 1960s. In 1967 the private banking and trust operations were expanded offshore and new offices were opened in Jersey and Guernsey to take advantage of the offshore tax benefits. The 1970s marked Hambros' expansion into new areas of financial services - in particular, asset management, investment management for third parties, investment funds and insurance. An offshore private banking and trust operation was established in 1981 in Gibraltar to complement the offices in London, Jersey and Guernsey.

In the mid 1970's the Bank was badly hit by the shipping crises and repeatedly hindered by its relationship with the Norwegian magnate Hilmar Reksten. Under the direction of Charles Perrin, who started his career in the Bank as Assistant Company Secretary, the Bank defended itself against litigation from his Trustees in Bankruptcy and the Norwegian Government on and off for nearly 25 years, including two substantial out of court settlements.

In 1986, the Hambro Trust, the majority shareholder in the bank, was dissolved and the family went their separate ways. This resulted in substantially less Hambro family influence in the banking group and, in July 1997, in the promotion of Chips Keswick to Chairman of the Bank and Charles Perrin (of Reksten fame) to Vice Chairman and later CEO.

By the end of the decade Hambros had 1,400 staff, 900 of whom were based at 41 Tower Hill in London, where the head office is still based today. In February 1998 the Hambros PLC board recommended a sale of Hambros Bank Ltd to the French bank Société Générale, which the majority of the shareholders accepted. Chips Keswick was the prime promotor of the Société Générale takeover together with his Vice Chairmen Charles Perrin, who was the last CEO of Hambros Bank Ltd.

Hambros PLC, including the private equity and investment side, was later sold to Investec, a South African Bank.

In November 1998, the Hambros core private banking activities were renamed SG Hambros Bank & Trust Limited. As well as the London, Jersey, Guernsey and Gibraltar operations, a subsidiary of Coutts Bank in the Bahamas also became part of the SG Hambros Group

C. J. Hambro & Son. Early History

Hambros was founded by the Danish merchant and banker Carl Joachim Hambro in London in 1839 as C. J. Hambro & Son. During the 1850s he was responsible for arranging various British Government loan stock issues enabling the bank to prosper.

Pre-War and World War II

After merging with the British Bank of Northern Commerce (owned by Enskilda Banken and a number of Scandinavian savings banks) in 1921 the name was changed to Hambros Bank, and the firm expanded. As a result, in 1926 a bigger head office was constructed at 41 Bishopsgate, where the bank remained until 1988. The 1930 depression affected the bank's international business and it concentrated on domestic lending and Scandinavia. During World War II, Sir Charles Hambro raised finance for the exile Norwegian government and was also the head of the Special Operations Executive.

The Bank originated as the London branch of the Copenhagen firm of J. C. Hambro & Son (established ca. 1800) and was formerly known as C. J. Hambro and Son, 1839-1920, and amalgamated with the British Bank of Northern Commerce Ltd in 1920. The amalgamated Bank was known as Hambros Bank Limited from 1921. Its headquarters in the City of London were at 11 King William Street, ca. 1839-43; 70 Old Broad Street, 1843-1926; and 41 Bishopsgate from 1926.

Deutsche Bank (Berlin)

A short note here on the many various dies of the
Deutsche Bank (Berlin)

Over the next few pages you will see 16 different dies all accredited with this same user. In the Perfin Society's Illustrated Catalogue, Two (2) of them are listed as Variations,

D 0210.02Av

D 0210.02v

Deutsche Bank was a customer of Sidney Allchin & Co and the Gault Illustrated Catalogue states that "The initialing was probably carried out on demand, using a perforating machine fitted with removable pins".

Over the years I have begun to build up a collection of these items, and I am not convinced that they are variations, especially D 0210.02Av the dies of which are far removed from one another, so I have listed them separately as :-

D 02.01Av• & D 02.02Av• although in line with the Illustrated Catalogue I have still retained the Av annotation.

Again with the D 0210.02v die I am not sure if these are variations, as one of the spacing's is constant on 21 different stamps with dates over a four year period D02.01v• and there are 4 stamps noted with the closer D 02.02v• spacing. Again to be in line with the Illustrated catalogue I have retained the v annotation.

All of these variable dies are rather confusing to say the least, but rest assured that all the different dies that have been found so far are listed in the pages below.

I would be pleased to hear from any collector who has any other variations of the "D B" dies that are found on Foreign Bill stamps.

Deutsche Bank (Berlin)

Below is an explanation by our Catalogue Editor Mr. Roy Gault as to how these differences in the Sidney Allchin dies came about.

If you take the plethora of "DB", "D.B" dies, some with serifs some without, they were all created on a perforating machine which used 'retractable' pins, and it was (presumably) left to the operator (perhaps Sidney Allchin himself in the early days) to decide which pins should be set to perforate the "D" and the "B" and how far away they should be, with serifs and stop(s) added at the operator's discretion. The retractable pins were set in a regular grid, so that once they had been set they would produce exactly the same Perfin on each stamp throughout the order. Then the die would be altered for the next order from a different customer, and the next, and so on. But once an order came in for Deutsche Bank again, days, weeks, or months later, the operator would choose which pins to fire for the "D" and the "B", and whether or not stop(s) and serifs would be used, and of course how far apart the letters would be - it's unlikely that it would be anything like the settings used for the last order. It may not even have been the same operator. And so inevitably, for customers who used large amounts of initialled stamps over a long period of time, the variation would be enormous - exactly what you see in the "DB" and "D.B" Perfins. To me, although they're different, they're all the same.

G & A Worms

Salomon Benedikt Worms, head of the Banking House of G & A Worms in London, was created an Austrian Freiherr, and ennobled, by the Emperor 27 March 1871. Royal Licence to use the foreign title in Britain was granted on 10 Aug 1874. He lived at The Lodge, Egham, Surrey, and died in 1882. He married Henrietta daughter of S M Samuel.

His eldest son George, 2nd Baron de Worms, was born in London on 16 Feb 1829 and died in England on 26 Nov 1912. He was married in 1860 to Louisa only daughter of Baron de Samuel, and had houses in London, Egham and Hove, Sussex, and was (among other things) Vice President of the Royal Society of Literature 1896-1900, and a "collector of classical and historical works".

Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation

The HSBC Group is named after its founding member, The Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation Limited, which was established in 1865 in Hong Kong and Shanghai to finance the growing trade between China and Europe.

The inspiration behind the founding of the Bank was Thomas Sutherland, a Scot who was then working as the Hong Kong Superintendent of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company. He realized that there was considerable demand for local banking facilities both in Hong Kong and along the China coast and he helped to establish the bank in March 1865. Then, as now, the bank's headquarters were at 1 Queen's Road Central in Hong Kong and a branch was opened one month later in Shanghai.

Throughout the late nineteenth and the early twentieth centuries, the bank established a network of agencies and branches based mainly in China and South East Asia but also with representation in the Indian sub-continent, Japan, Europe and North America. In many of its branches the Bank was the pioneer of modern banking practices. From the outset, trade finance was a strong feature of the bank's business with bullion, exchange and merchant banking also playing an important part. Additionally, the Bank issued notes in many countries throughout the Far East.

In 1959 the bank completed two important purchases, those of The British Bank of the Middle East (now HSBC Bank Middle East) and the Mercantile Bank. The British Bank of the Middle East had begun life as the Imperial Bank of Persia in 1889 but throughout the 1940s and 1950s had extended its sphere of operations and pioneered banking in the Gulf States. The history of Mercantile Bank stretched back to 1853—the year it was founded in Bombay (now Mumbai)—and by the 1950s it had a strong identity within Indian and other Asian markets.

In 1965 the Bank purchased a controlling interest in Hang Seng Bank, which had been established in Hong Kong in 1933. By the 1970s the policy of expansion by acquisition of subsidiaries with their own identities and specializations was firmly in place.

The 1990s have seen further expansion and consolidation of the various businesses of the HSBC Group. In the United States, a joint venture, the Wells Fargo HSBC Trade Bank was formed in 1995. Elsewhere in the Americas in 1997, a new subsidiary Banco HSBC Bamerindus was established in Brazil; the acquisition of the Roberts Group (now called HSBC Bank Argentina SA) in Argentina was completed, and a 19.9 per cent interest in Mexico's Grupo Financiero Serfin was purchased. In 1999, HSBC Holdings Plc signed a memorandum of understanding with the Government of Korea for the acquisition of a controlling interest in Seoul Bank, one of the largest commercial banks in South Korea.

The HSBC Group now comprises a unique range of banks and financial service providers around the globe.

HUTH & Co

Frederick Huth first established his own business in Corunna, Spain, in 1805. He came to London in 1809 and set up business as a Merchant. In 1814 he took John Frederick Grüning into partnership and the resulting firm, Huth & Company, was formed. Throughout the 19th century the firm is described in London directories as “Merchants”, only from 1904 is the description “Bankers” added, although it is clear that the business always included Banking. From 1912 the firm had a fur warehouse, it also had a tea warehouse from 1921.

In 1936 the company was dissolved. The Banking business was acquired by the British Overseas Bank Ltd, and the fur business by C M Lampson & Co Ltd.

NOTE: -

The Charles Frederick Huth found in the 1881 census of Great Britain was born in Spain c1807 and must therefore be the son of Frederick Huth, the co-founder of “Huth & Co”.

NOTE: - It is my thoughts that the "o" of die L09.10 was removed c mid 1879.
to make up the off center die L&C/D L09.05. The company went bankrupt in 1892.

THE PERFIN FOREIGN BILL STAMPS
OF GREAT BRITAIN

With reference to L 09.05 & L09.10 on the above page

There is confusion regarding these two perfin dies, our Postage stamp catalogue editor Roy Gault has good reason to believe that the off center die "L&C/D" preceded the centrally configured die "L&C^o/D" and that the "o" was added at a later date. His logic is based on stamp issues and dates which are recorded on the postage stamps of the time.

However my logic would indicate that the "L&C^o/D" was the first die to be made, and the "o" of "C^o" was removed to make the off center die "L&C/D". My reasoning for this is that no engineer worth his salt would make a die that was off center ! and also there would be less than 1 in a billion chance of altering this die at a later date by adding an "o" making it become central. You will also see from the manuscript dates on my two stamp images that the "L&C^o/D" die has an earlier date than the "L&C/D". Both dates are also written in the same hand writing indicating that they were used by the same company.

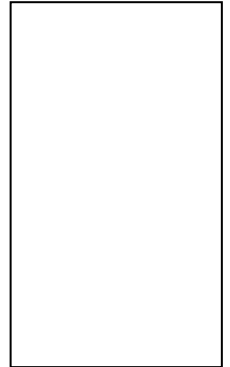

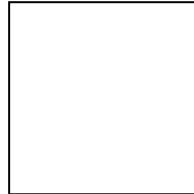

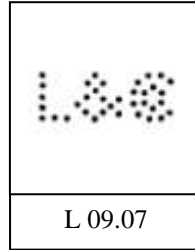

At the moment the Suspected user is Lipman & Co, Jute Merchants of Dundee. Hopefully new information will come to light whereby we can assess a definite user, and a reason as to how this came about.

MARTIN & CO

Martin & Co were established as early as 1712, and traded in London under that name until they registered as Martin's Bank Limited in 1891. In 1918 they were acquired by, and became part of the Bank of Liverpool, the name of the combined company being Bank of Liverpool & Martin's Limited. Ten years later they went back to the name of just Martin's Bank Limited and continued in Business until they were taken over by Barclays Bank in 1969. Up until that time they had always maintained their City office at 68 Lombard Street.

THE PERFIN FOREIGN BILL STAMPS

BURNS & M^CIVER.
D & C M^{AC}IVER.

In 1839 When Cunard could not sell stock in his steamship company in Britain or America, Napier approached a fellow shareholder in the City of Glasgow Steam-Packet Company, James Donaldson, a wealthy cotton broker. Donaldson consulted George Burns of Glasgow, who controlled the Belfast trade and was interested in shipping as well as the commission business. Burns “entertained the proposal cordially,” inviting Cunard to meet David MacIver, an ambitious young Scot, who was the agent for small firms in the coastal trade. After various negotiations Burns persuaded some friends to form a co-partnership on 14 May 1839 to take over Cunard’s mail contract. In a few days £270,000 was subscribed for “The Glasgow Proprietors in the British and North American Royal Mail Steam Packet Company.” At first Cunard subscribed £55,000 for his 110 original shares but that amount was only gradually paid up; in the final arrangements of 23 May 1840 Cunard subscribed £67,500, George Burns £5,000, his brother James £5,000, and David and Charles MacIver £4,000.

Although historians of Nova Scotia, Scotland, or England assume that the partners in the enterprise from their own country deserves sole credit for the success of the steamship line, available evidence indicates that all important actions were undertaken after consultation among the major partners, although Burns superintended shipbuilding activities and financing, Cunard had special responsibility for negotiations with the British Government over contracts, and the MacIvers managed the operations of the fleet at Liverpool. A letter from David MacIver in Liverpool in 1841 chided Cunard for his low spirits over difficulties about the application to the British Government for a second contract and the low profits. MacIver argued that this had been an experimental year and we “are now arrived at that point where we must turn this experience to profit.”

A ten-year contract was drawn up with Cunard, George Burns, and Charles MacIver, with a yearly subsidy of £145,000, provided for weekly voyages from Liverpool alternating to Boston and New York after 1 Jan. 1848. By that date both the company and the British Post Office realised the necessity of New York sailing’s because of competition with the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company. Edward Cunard Jr was transferred to the New York office, and in 1849 married the daughter of a New York merchant. MacIver had become sole partner of D. & C. MacIver after his brother David’s death in 1845, and in the next three decades became the leading figure among Liverpool shipowners. By 1867 the Burns, Cunard, and MacIver families owned all the shares in the company.

OF GREAT BRITAIN

Standard Bank of South Africa

Standard Bank Group Limited is one of South Africa's largest financial services groups. It operates in 38 countries around the world, including 18 in Africa.

History

A group of businessmen led by John Paterson formed the name Standard Bank of British South Africa in 1862. The bank started operations in 1863 in Port Elizabeth, South Africa, and soon after opening it merged with several other banks including the Commercial Bank of Port Elizabeth, the Colesberg Bank, the British Kaffrarian Bank and the Fauresmith Bank.

It was prominent in financing and development of the diamond fields of Kimberley in 1867. The word "British" was dropped from the title in 1883. When gold was discovered on the Witwatersrand, the Bank expanded northwards and on 11 October 1886 the Bank started doing business in a tent at Ferreira's Camp (later to be called Johannesburg), thus becoming the first Bank to open a branch on the Witwatersrand gold fields. On 1 November 1901 a second branch was opened in Eloff Street of Johannesburg.

From the 1890s through the 1910s the Bank opened offices across Africa although some of them were unsustainable and subsequently had to be closed. In 1912 it opened a branch in New York. By the mid-1950s, Standard Bank had around 600 offices in Africa. In 1962, a bank with the name Standard Bank was registered as a South African company, a subsidiary of the main London-based Standard Bank. In 1965, Standard Bank merged with the Bank of West Africa expanding its operations into Cameroon, Gambia, Ghana, Nigeria, and Sierra Leone. When the parent Bank merged in 1969 with Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China and the combined bank became known as Standard Chartered Bank, the Standard Bank Group was established as Standard Bank Investment Corporation - the holding company of The Standard Bank of South Africa Limited. Standard Chartered sold its 39% stake in Standard Bank Group in 1987, transferring complete ownership of the holding company to South African investors.

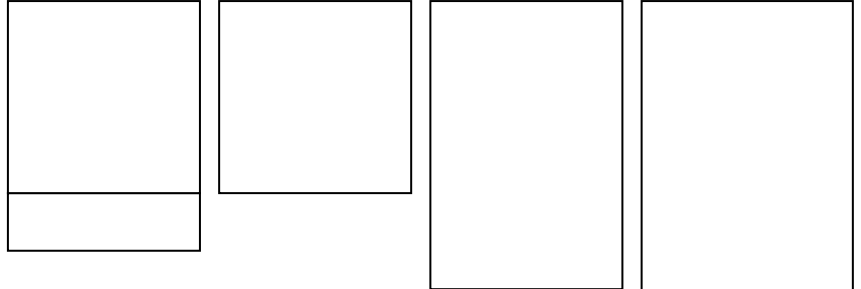

In 2006, Standard Bank bought BankBoston Argentina expanding its operations into this country. On 21 August 2007 Standard Bank Group acquired controlling interest in IBTC Chartered Bank. This gave subsidiary StanbicIBTC Bank Nigeria Limited significant presence in the Nigerian market. Also in August 2007, Standard Bank Group acquired a 67% share of the Turkish bank Dundas Ünlü Securities and now operates in Turkey under the name of Standard Ünlü.

In October 2007 the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China acquired a stake of about 20% in Standard Bank for US$5.5bn. Half the stake will come from ICBC acquiring existing shares and half from new shares. ICBC will also get two seats on the board of directors. However, it appears that the South African Reserve Bank will not permit ICBC to acquire more than 25% of Standard Bank's equity.

THE PERFIN FOREIGN BILL STAMPS
OF GREAT BRITAIN

Samuel Montagu & Co

One of Joseph Slopers earliest customers was Samuel Montagu, (Or was it Montagu Samuel?) who was the user of the following perfin dies of "SM/ &C^o" Dies S 4920.01, S 4920.03, S 4920.03aM, are mostly to be found reading vertically up the stamp, Whereas Dies S 4920.04M, S 4920.07, are to be found reading horizontally across the stamp. There is also a private company cachet to be found canceling the early Queen Victoria Longs issues. (See below).

In Liverpool on 21st December 1832, Henrietta Samuel gave birth to her second son, which she and her husband Louis decided to name Montagu. Whilst the child was still young they changed their minds, for reasons best known to themselves, and reversed his names and began to call him by his surname of Samuel.

At thirteen years of age he obtained employment with his brother-in-law, a Foreign Banker in Lombard Street London. Moving about a bit, he eventually opened his own Bullion Merchant, Foreign Exchange and Banking business in February 1853. His eldest brother, Edwin was taken in as a partner, the firm being known as Samuel & Montagu.

In 1862 the name of the concern was changed to Samuel Montagu & Company. A year later offices were found at 60 Old Broad Street London, in the same year he was created Baron Swaythling. In 1894 he obtained a royal license to change his name to Samuel Montagu, he was a very active and philanthropic member of the Jewish community, he died on the 12th January 1911.

The earliest dated perfin seen is 26-7-1869 and this being of the style constructed to avoid the Queens profile (Die S 4920.01), It was a rather prolific perfin on the Queen Victoria surface printed issues, it seems to have been dispensed with during the early 1880s, my latest date recorded is 22-9-1882 on a Queen Victoria 3/- Foreign Bill stamp.

THE PERFIN FOREIGN BILL STAMPS
OF GREAT BRITAIN

Samuel Montagu & Co

Samuel Montagu & Co. was a British Merchant Bank founded by Samuel Montagu in 1853.

Set up as a bullion broking business, it aimed to make money from the Australian gold rush by brokering deals between sellers and buyers. From 1911 onwards, it became part of the group of companies which formed the London bullion market.

In 1980, the banks shipment of silver ingots from London to Germany became the largest robbery in history in the UK. On 24 March 1980, Michael "Skinny" Gervaise and his team stole 321 ingots valued at £3.4 million. After capture by DCI Tony Lundy from the Flying Squad, Gervaise offered to turn supergrass. On 4 June 1980 Gervaise led Lundy's team to a stack of 309 silver ingots. Gervaise later alleged that Lundy was close to Lennie Gibson (the pair were members of the same Boxing club), who had supplied police uniforms for the raid via Lundy. Lundy was returned to the reformed Flying Squad, and after a two-year investigation fully cleared him.

After the death of the founder Samuel Montagu, the Bank was owned by the family trust, Montagu Trust. In 1967, the Midland Bank acquired shares in Montagu Trust, and thereby became the first British clearing bank to own a London Merchant Bank. Samuel Montagu & Co. became a wholly owned subsidiary in 1974, and on completion of the acquisition Midland also gained a majority share in Guyerzeller Bank AG in Switzerland.

Today, Samuel Montagu & Co. forms part of the private Banking service of HSBC.

Overprint noted as below both in Black & Blue, used c1880.

Vivian Family of Swansea

In c1800, John Vivian came to Swansea from Cornwall and set up a copper smelting works at Penclawdd, Glamorganshire. In 1809, the works moved to Hafod. The company of Vivian and Sons was established and operated both the Hafod works and the White Rock Copper Works in the Lower Swansea Valley. The White Rock Copper Works were established in the Lower Swansea Valley in 1737 by John Hoblyn. After various operators, they were operated by Williams, Foster and Company and Vivian and Sons until 1870-1874 (working lead and silver), and just Vivian and Sons c1874-1924.

By the 1830s, Vivian and Sons held a 20% share in the copper market, rising to 27% in the late 1830s. In 1835, John Henry Vivian, John Vivian's son, introduced zinc smelting, and in 1838 the firm took over the smelting works of the English Copper Company at Margam. In 1842, John Vivian's grandson, Henry Hussey Vivian entered the business, and improved the art of zinc smelting by the introduction of new furnaces and helped to develop the firm's collieries.

Demand for non-ferrous metals rose in the 1880s and 1890s as copper was used in the generation and transmission of electricity, which ensured the growth of Vivian and Sons. They secured their own ore supplies and invested in mining, but they mostly turned out to be failures. In the 1890s-1900s, traditional smelting companies such as Vivian and Sons suffered as competition from companies working with their own sources of ore supply. Vivian and Sons became a limited company in 1914, and although they made large profits during World War I, they suffered heavy losses afterwards in the post war depression. In 1924, Vivian and Sons amalgamated with the other major copper smelting firm in Swansea, Williams Foster and Company and Pascoe Grenfell and Sons Limited, to form British Copper Manufacturers' Limited. This was taken over in 1927 by Yorkshire Imperial Metals Limited, a joint company of Yorkshire Metals and Imperial Chemical Industries Limited (ICI).

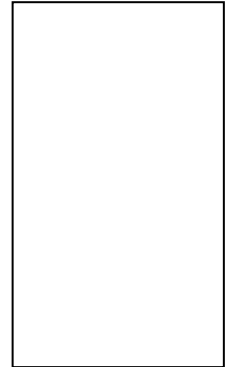

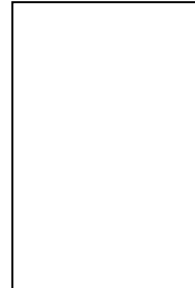

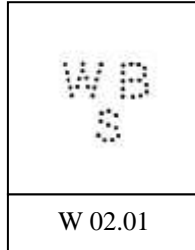

The Vivian family were an influential family in Swansea and owned both Clyne Castle and the Singleton Abbey estate, which was the Swansea home of the Vivian family. After the death of Henry Hussey in 1894 the Vivian family's links with both Swansea and Singleton Abbey began to loosen, especially after a terrible fire at the Abbey in 1896. Finally the house and estate were sold in 1919.

IDENTITIES

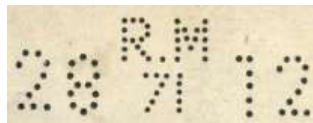

Looking through the J Sloper ledgers from the beginning through to 1878, there is nothing relating directly to the G.P.O. dies. The PD die may well be J Sloper m/c No. 5045, although the Die only appears in manuscript. (as below)

Presses 5037-5044 are dated 21st Feb 1876, and 5046-5047 dated 23rd Feb 1876.

Which fits in well with the stamp with this perfin die dated 14-...-1877.

J Sloper & Co did produce a few Date Dies similar to the G.P.O. dies but not with those letters - for example, Press No. 2819 (24th June 1871).

Certainly they both have the necessary Sloper characteristics, so in all probability would have been made by J Sloper & Co.

The above information was provided by The Society Catalogue Editor Mr. Roy Gault.

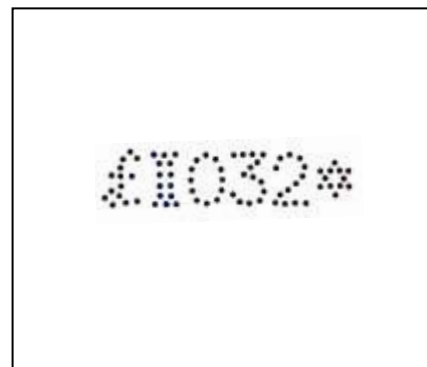

← In my opinion it is quite consevable that the reference above for the PD die of 1876. (G.P.O. Gauge) could well be referring to the earlier G.P.O. dies of 1873 & 1875.

The item below shows both the front and back of a Foreign Bill Piece which has been punched through the F/Bill with the "J.L." perfin die, the bottom image shows that the punch has also pierced the Australian Revenue 1/- Blue & 6/- Green Duty stamps on the back. For some time it was thought that the "J.L." Perfin was an Australian die, but we now know that it is a British perfin die and is strongly suspected of being used by : - John Lysaght, St Vincent Iron Works, St Philips, Bristol. who also had a large subsidiary in Australia opened c1879.
