EDITORIAL

Now is the time to wish you all the Seasonal Greetings, and for 1987, the best of Health to You and Yours and Good Collecting.

Your attention is drawn to the Official Reports. Should a conscience squirm there is the chance to ease it!

SUBSCRIPTIONS

Although subscriptions have come in quite well (and my thanks to those who have paid) there are quite a number - 60 at the end of October - who still owe. I am sure that in most cases this is simply an oversight, but we cannot tell if non-payment is due to this or loss of interest in perfins.

As last year I will put a red dot on the address label for this bulletin together with the amount I think is due.

If your subscription is not received by 31st December you will be lapsed. Once again I apologise if this sounds dictatorial but it is not fair to expect members who have paid to subsidise those who have not.

J. M. Rucklidge
Hon. Treasurer.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Another successful year. Membership now stands at 235. This is the same as last year; lapses have just equalled new members. It is a little disappointing that so many members appear to lose interest in perfins - I cannot believe that all give up because of infirmity.

The auction continues to be well supported by both sellers and buyers and provides a very useful income. Our thanks are due to Harry Skinner who is doing such a great job. Just before he took over I had to do one auction myself which brought home to me how much work is involved.

The sales packet has suffered yet another loss. This naturally involves a considerable financial loss, especially if it happens early on the circuit. It seems difficult to get satisfactory insurance against such happenings. The net result is that we are showing no income from this source in the current accounts. Let us hope for better things this year.

The demand for the Edwards catalogue has exceeded our most optimistic estimates. At the time of writing we are selling 122 copies, including 25 to the Perfins Club. When we approached 90 I thought 120 would be ample, so now I have had to order another 50: this is the minimum order for printing which gives a much better result than photocopying - and is cheaper per copy. As a result of this demand we are now able to reduce the costs very considerably from the original estimate, though postage is still quite a large cost.

Members who ordered the Edwards catalogue early will remember that we originally include identities. This was subsequently changed so that only illustrations are given. The relevant pages (A, Q, U, V, X, Y, Z, numbers, patterns and monograms) were re-ordered in a quantity of 60. Only six members expressed a wish to have these pages in the revised format and they have been supplied. I have, therefore, four sets only for anyone wishing to have them. The price is £3.00 post paid.

J. H. Rucklidge Hon. Secretary

MEMBERSHIP CARDS

When I designed the membership card I thought the format was straightforward. However my wife tells me that it isn't, and she is always right. So here is a brief explanation of the various items:

- 1st line - on left is how much you owe from the previous year.
on right is your credit from the previous year.
- 2nd line - on left is amount due for subscription.
on right is how much money you have sent.
- 3rd line - on left is amount due for entrance (new members) or rejoining (lapsed members).
- 4th line - on left is your credit now.
on right is how much you owe now.

The two columns add up to the same amount. J N Rucklidge Hon. Treasurer

TREASURER'S REPORT

As you will see from the accounts we are in a very sound financial position. Bulletin costs are nearly covered by subscriptions. Since bulletin costs include the printing of the auction lists these should strictly be deducted from bulletin costs and added to auction costs. Very worthwhile income arises from the auction and sale of the Edwards catalogue pages. These will also be income from sale of publications which has not yet been received and will go into the current year's accounts. The amount shown against publications is monies sent to me rather than the publications officer. Officers' expenses includes stationery etc. as well as postage.

Subscriptions, I am glad to say, are coming in quite well. My thanks to all who have paid and a gentle reminder to those who have not. In case you've forgotten the subscriptions are £4.00 (U.K.), £6.00 (abroad) or £7.00 (abroad, bulletin sent airmail). To save money I do not send membership cards separately, but enclose them with the next bulletin. So if you have not received a card with this bulletin you probably have not paid. In that case, please do so.

PERFINS OF COLOMBIA

by Eric Harris

Ten years ago in the "Bulletin" 1 and 2/77, pp 3 and 4, I listed the five Colombian Perfins then known to me and asked for further information. I was grateful to a number of members who came to my aid, including Rudy Roy who published an article on the subject in the U.S. Perfins Bulletin, October 1977, pp 3, 4 and 6. Although there are no new types to add to those given by him, this updated listing of the various stamps known to have been perforated may be of interest. I have not listed the "punched" stamps, all of which are official; the types are listed in Roy's article.

Official Perfins - probably as a precancel

Glossary of Security Perfins (Part 2)

DOUBLE PERFIN:

A PERFIN that has been applied twice to the same stamp.

The two (or more) perfins which sometimes occur on large stamps when perforated by a multi-die perforating machine in which the dies have been spaced for normal definitive sized stamps, are not termed a double perfin.

DUMB PERFIN:

A PERFIN that contains no letters in the design.

EMBOSSSED ENDORSEMENT:

A form of SECURITY ENDORSEMENT in which the identifying mark is produced in the stamp by embossing.

FANCY PERFIN:

A DESIGN PERFIN which is decorative or elaborate.

Monogram and numeral perfins however ornate are not usually termed fancy perfins although the line can be very fine at times and the choice is a personal one.

FAVOUR PERFIN:

A PERFIN produced on demand for a person other than the normal user.

Generally, such perfins are produced on behalf of perfin collectors who require a copy for their collection.

FEDERAL OFFICIAL:

See : OFFICIAL PERFIN.

FEEDER PLATE:

The steel plate attached to the base of the PERFORATING MACHINE upon which the sheets of stamps are laid as they are fed into the machine.

FILM PROCESSING PERFORATIONS:

A series of numbers perforated through both the end of an exposed film roll received for developing and the customer's return address label in order to maintain the film owner's identity.

Since the customer's return address is on the reverse of the label bearing the film processing company's address, the stamps used to send the film for processing often bear part or all of the identification number. Once the stamps have been soaked off the address label, the perforations through the stamps can sometimes be mistaken for perfins. Kodak is the only company known to use this system of identification.

See also : PSEUDO-PERFIN.

Synonym : KODAK FILM PROCESSING PERFIN.

FULL NAME PERFIN :

A PERFIN which incorporates a complete name.

This term is often widened in scope to include perfins incorporating any complete word. Names and words, that are formed by the accidental juxtaposition of initials are excluded.

Continued/

HEAD :

See : PERFORATING HEAD.

IDENTITY:

The name of the user of a particular SECURITY ENDORSEMENT.

ILLEGAL PERFIN :

A PERFIN that contravenes the postal regulations of the country upon whose stamps it is found.

ISSUE COLLECTION:

A collection of PERFINs which aims to include every different PATTERN found on a specific stamp issue.

Compare with : PATTERN COLLECTION.

: POSITION COLLECTION.

Undesirable synonym: SYNOPTIC COLLECTION.

KODAK FILM PROCESSING PERFIN:

See : FILM PROCESSING PERFORATIONS.

MANUSCRIPT ENDORSEMENT:

A form of SECURITY ENDORSEMENT in which the identifying mark is produced on the stamp by handwriting.

The word "Paid" commonly found tying the stamp to the envelope on early Indian (and other countries) covers is an example of this type of security endorsement. It was intended to prevent native servants entrusted with conveying letters to the Post Office from removing the stamps for resale and destroying the letters.

MINT PERFIN:

A mint stamp bearing a PERFIN.

Perfins are essentially security devices indicating the owner's identity so mint perfins are not often encountered (except for favour perfins and philatelic perfins). They are however not highly prized and do not normally carry any premium in value over used perfins.

MIRROR PAIR :

A pair of stamps which were folded together and then perfinned.

When the pair is opened, each stamp carries the same perfin but reversed with respect to the other i.e. as if seen in a mirror.

MISSING HOLE :

See : BLIND PERFORATION.

MONOGRAM PERFIN:

A PERFIN in which the letters are in the form of a monogram.

See also: FANCY PERFIN.

MULTI-DIE PERFORATING MACHINE:

A PERFORATING MACHINE in which the PERFORATING HEAD carries two or more dies.

Undesirable synonym: MULTI-HEAD PERFORATING MACHINE.

Continued/

MULTI-HEAD PERFORATING MACHINE:

Use: MULTI-DIE PERFORATING MACHINE.

MULTIPERFIN:

A PERFIN produced by a MULTI-DIE PERFORATING MACHINE in which the DIES are so similar that they are not given different DIE numbers.

This term was coined by V. Maxa in 1982 (Perfinist, Dec. 11982. (7). 3).

MULTIPLE PERFIN:

A PERFIN that has been applied two or more times to the same stamp.

See also: DOUBLE PERFIN.

MULTIPOSITION DOUBLE PERFIN:

A DOUBLE PERFIN in which the two PERFINS have been applied in different POSITIONS.

NUMERAL PERFIN :

A PATTERN consisting only of numbers and containing neither designs nor letters.

The scope of numeral perfins is sometimes extended to cover all PATTERNS containing numbers even if they do include letters or designs.

OFFICIAL:

A PERFIN used by a Government department or agency.

Those collectors in countries with Federal, Provincial or State Governments tend to differentiate between these classes of official perfins. Certain collectors also differentiate between officials intended for general use by Government departments and agencies and departmental officials whose use is restricted to a single department or agency.

Undesirable synonym: PUNCTURED OFFICIAL.

OFFSET PERIOD:

Use : BRANCH CODE HOLE.

OVERPRINT:

A form of SECURITY ENDORSEMENT in which the identifying mark is produced on the face of the stamp by printing.

Although the term overprint is in general use for this form of security endorsement, the strictly correct term should be "overprinted endorsement" to distinguish it from any other form of overprinting. The stamps are usually overprinted using conventional printing presses, however, rubber stamps and typewriters have been used for this purpose.

PARTIAL PERFIN:

An incomplete PATTERN on a stamp, the remainder of the PATTERN being on the adjoining stamp.

Partial perfins are caused by stamps being misplaced in the perforating machine such that the perfin produced falls on two or more stamps.

Compare with : SPLIT PERFIN.

Continued/

Glossary of Security Perfins (Part 2).

PATTERN:

The PERFIN produced by an individual PERFORATING HEAD.

A multi-die perforating machine produces only one pattern even though minor differences in the pin positions may be distinguished. (See : DIE).

Synonym1 TYPE.

PATTERN COLLECTION!

A collection of PERFINS which alas to Include one copy of each PATTERN irrespective of the stamp on which it is found.

Compare with : ISSUE COLLECTION.
: POSITION COLLECTION.

Synonym: TYPE COLLECTION.

PERFIN :

A form of SECURITY ENDORSEMENT in which the identifying mark is produced in the stamp by perforating.

The term perfin is derived from the words perforated initials (or possibly perforated insignia). Strictly speaking, perfin is a security endorsement perforated through a stamp. Generally however, any stamp bearing a perfin is itself called a perfin.

Undesirable synonym : BRANDED STAMP.
: PERFORATED CONTROL MARKING : PUNCH.
: PUNCH PERFORATED.
: PUNCHIE.
: PUNST.
: SPIFS.

PERFORATED CANCELLATION:

The defacement of a stamp, produced by means of perforation, intended to prevent its re-use.

Perforated cancellations are most frequently encountered on revenue stamps due to their generally being of higher value than postage stamps. Once such stamps are removed from the document, the perforated cancellation can sometimes be mistaken for a perfin.

See also : PERFORATED PRECANCEL.
: PSEUDOPERFIN.

PERFORATED CONTROL MARKING :

Use : PERFIN.

PERFORATED INITIALS :

See : PERFIN.

Continued/

PERFORATED PRECANCEL:

A cancellation applied to stamps in bulk by perforation prior to their being individually affixed to newspapers, etc.

Since the newspaper is not perforated by the cancellation, it is very easy to mistake the perforated cancellation for a perfin even when the stamp is on piece. Perforated precancels are only known from Argentina.

See also: PERFORATED CANCELLATION.
: PSEUDOPERFIN.

PERFORATING HEAD:

That unit of a PERFORATING MACHINE that effects the perforation.

The perforating head comprises the pin plate, pins, stripping plate and die plate. A perforating machine has only one head irrespective of the number of dies it may contain.

Synonym: HEAD.

PERFORATING MACHINE:

A machine which produces a pattern of small holes in stamps by punching out tiny circles of paper.

The perforations are generally intended to facilitate separation of the stamps, act as a perfin or a perforated cancellation.

Synonym : PERFORATOR.

PERFORATING PLATE:

See: DIE PLATE.

PERFORATION:

A small hole intentionally produced in a stamp by means of a PERFORATING MACHINE.

Perforations are normally circular but can be any other shape.
Compare with PUNCH (2.).

PERFORATOR:

See: PERFORATING MACHINE.

PERSONAL PERFIN:

A PERFIN used by a private individual rather than an organisation.

In general, personal perfins are used for philatelic interest rather than for security purposes.

PHILATELIC EXHIBITION PERFIN:

See: COMMEMORATIVE PERFIN.

PHILATELIC PERFIN:

A PERFIN used for philatelic purposes rather than for security.

See also : COMMEMORATIVE PERFIN.
: PERSONAL PERFIN.
: PHILATELIC SOCIETY PERFIN.
