

MACHIN PERFIN QUERY

from Bob Putman.

My wife works in the Public Health Services Laboratory at Colindale (London N.W.9) and some of her colleagues share with her the stamps received on incoming mail. Recently she brought home a stamp with the perforation I illustrate below. Unfortunately there is no indication of the user or location of origin. (My wife is keeping an eye open in case a further example arrives).

It may be intended to be a letter 'H' but this is not definite. Also unusual is the size of the perforations. To be on the safe side I have included it in my "design" section. It is a Machin 18p value, and I can only assume that it originated somewhere in the public health organization. Has any member knowledge of this perfin ?
