

Worth its Weight in Gold

A master of her craft, independent watch and jewellery expert Sammantha Maclachlan is here to demystify the valuation process.

To outside observers, the world of jewellery and gemmology could seem cordoned off from the general public. Yet for all that she's worked with internationally renowned brands such as Rolex and Patek Philippe during her tenure at Glasgow's Argyll Arcade, valuation specialist Sammantha Maclachlan prides herself on her approachability. In fact, she's so committed to extracting the worry from getting your treasured items insured or otherwise assessed that she even offers a home visit service.

Spurred on by her unquenchable passion for her trade, Sammantha has over 17 years of experience in the industry and her one-stop service encompasses everything from measuring & grading to gemstone care and photography.

Recognised as an expert in diamonds, pearls and high-end watches as well as being a fellow of the Gemmological Association of Great Britain, Sammantha's goal is to not only prioritise the client's peace of mind, but allow her expertise to benefit you. Moreover, recent testimonies have shown that there's no better time to get in contact.

In an era where stocks and other financial metrics are fluctuating by the day, Sammantha's clients have been pleasantly surprised to learn that both gold and palladium prices have skyrocketed in recent years. As such, there's likely a lot of people who've left things uninsured due to being simply unaware of their true value.

As these upward trends continue, it'd only make sense to get in touch with the Renfrewshire based Sammantha to ensure that you're getting the most out of your prized possessions.

Services start from £110, visit smvaluationservices.co.uk or call 07727683560 to arrange an appointment now.
