

The Gift-Giving Gal Who Knows A Guy

Marriage Prayer

Lord God, Father of All, let the ministry of our marriage and what occurs within be the greatest reflection of Your Love and Kingdom on this Earth. May our union gather others into the fold and produce children for Your legacy. At the threshold, let there be divine order, headship and protection of a husband that would lay his life down for his loving and submissive wife. That we partner in every decision respectfully, walking toward and within a Kingdom purpose and destiny. Let laughter abound in every corner of our home, let tears and conversation be cleansing, truthful, and edifying. Let the gates of our eyes, ears, and mouths see only each other, desire only one another, to the deepest parts of our souls, that is our mind, will, and emotions. May meals be prepared with care, nutrition and love, for the purpose of gathering, reflecting, and strengthening our bond, leaving our father and mother, cleaving to one another, no longer as two, but of one flesh. As we care for our bodies, let our physical attraction endure all the days of our marriage, through life changes and circumstances. Let our passion for one another never cease that it may be an encouragement to other marriages and those pursuing marriage to make the commitment over and over again. May our rest be sweet and peaceful, that we awaken each day able to fulfill both our purpose as a couple and supporting each other in whatever individual ministry would align with Your Will throughout the course of our lives together. Let us find fellowship and support for those elder marriage partners that can speak life into us during the difficult days. Let us accomplish all of this In Jesus Name, AMEN.
