Subject: Refund of monthly service fees on closed checking account(s)

Dear Customer,

We are contacting you about your closed checking account(s) identified below. As we review practices across Wells Fargo, we have taken a look at our consumer checking account fees to ensure our practices were clear to customers.

Your account(s) had a feature that allowed you to waive monthly service fees based on making a minimum number of debit card transactions. We have received feedback from some customers that our explanation of the types of transactions that qualified for this waiver may have been confusing. Therefore, we are refunding certain fees that were charged to your account(s).

We have looked back over the history of your account(s) and calculated the monthly service fees you would have paid using several different possible interpretations of the transactions that qualified for the waiver. If you paid more monthly service fees than you would have using the most favorable interpretation for you, we are refunding you the difference.

We sincerely apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused.
