PONDER ZERO

Authors Note!

Greetings all fellow members of my human family.
All fellow individuating cells of our collective living organism humanity.
This Phoolosophy adventure is Dedicated to the unconditional respect for the Wholly See of the Living All of our Wholly Allity.

I use the term 'All' to cover the whole notion of the supreme intelligence of creation as the infinite ocean of love as consciousness, suspended in which is we All and our holographic universe. Conventionally termed 'god'.

I use the term 'Allity' for our inner infinity innerstanding of that which we find ourselves within, as opposed to 'reality' which I would use more for our shared external infinity understanding of that which we are all together forensically unpacking in commerce.

and in this tome I use the term
'the living mystery of life and creation' or 'the mysterium' to cover the big questions we all ponder about ourselves, our life and the unfolding of All things, situations and circumstances, moment by moment, in the living eternal now time and all that ever was and all that will ever be

I use the term 'we' for me, myself and I.

My qualifications as the author of this body of words is -
I am approximately one seven or eight billionth of the self perspective of mankind and describe the nature of my life adventure in the spirit of being an auto-didactic, unschool student of the wisdom of the ancients of our species at the now 'google' university.

-which is our current techno means of accessing the wisdom of the ancients and the wisdom of any living observers and thinkers of the current zeitgeist, as well as all else.

Also in my working life adventure I have been generally a labourer, which has afforded my full attention to pondering endless realms of wisdom, countless rabbit holes of mind boggle, while simply enjoying my automaton capacity for access of my fun tickets (money) and like a true 'Bogan Hippy' have ruthlessly cherry picked from the smorgasbord of the wisdom's of so our species only that which has meaning for me. And all I unpack, I share in a spirit untainted by the vibe of mammon simply by sharing freely all and everything that muses through me.

All these many years of enjoying wide and various pondering s has made me realise the value of having an organic unschool attitude, for the fun curious sniffing out of any thing that holds interest. I feel the successful means of enjoying unschool advantage is to treat the whole smorgasbord of humanities speculations equally, hold the lot as fiction which has fact and truth sewn into its fabric for your rational, logical, deductive inductive, retro-reductive puzzling. And behold your developing relatedness with the wholly see of the living All. As mentioned in other parts of Phoolosophy and Limitlessmile spirituality is ones relatedness with the wholly see of the living all. All that is who you happen to be warts and all, all your quirks, all your nuances of unique eccentricities, all that is the geometry of your human form, all that is your living character, all that is your attitudes and opinions, all that is your feelings and desires, all that is your dreams and nightmares, all that ever was for you, all that will ever be for you, all of whom with which you share the life-scape of your unfolding life adventure, all beings as reflections of your deepest psychic depths, all those with whom you meet, all those with whom you commerce life force, all those with whom you have heart connection, all those with whom you enjoy soul fusion, all those with whom you have challenge, all that which you have felt, all that which you have ever thought accumulates as all that which you now hold as your current and present knowledge of your wholly see of the living all in our wholly Allity.

I feel to be among a class of humans who are seeking to rebuild themselves from the inside out, to survey the strange whirled world soap opera smorgasbord of our human presentations of wisdom from all cultures. Within their tomes allows one to survey for - who am I, what is my self, what is my soul, what are my strengths and what are my weaknesses, what are my expressions for good and what are my shadows of dark human flaws, what are the potentials which exist for me to construct into my own unique individual life adventure, what is the purpose for my existence, what is the meaning of my life, what may I judge to be the most worthy prize for my existing, what is it that I may take with me beyond the portal of death, is there a beyond-ness of the death portal, is there a beyond-ness to death, is d'eath simply the door of the ether's. Have we as a species-organism-mankind been hypnotised into overlooking the most frightening truth available to all mankind. That there may be an afterlife and your currency to traverse it is created by the quality of how you have lived your life s' every thought, act and deed. In fact rational thought, deductive and inductive reason has it that it is the indelible printing of your every thought act and deed upon your living soul which is the script for your next life adventure. What you do to your fellow man and our planet you affect upon your potential currency for your traversing the mystery beyond the grave.

Our quest to be honourable, ethical, omnipotent expressions of Christ consciousness/ limitlessmile is the essence of what we as a species, having religiosities, are suggesting we all embody. It is our duty to embody these qualities as an individual at an individual level, as it is individuals which actually make up any collectivity, the ultimate collectivity of our human species is only as good as the individuals which make it up. We as a species-organism-mankind are made of countless collectivities from couples and families, to tribes, communities, states and nations. Wheels within wheels of self same fractalities, the living psychology of any individual is the same as the psychology of any collective. The living mechanics and dynamics of psychology is the same for the micro as it is for the macro. To know the mind of mankind we simply require to know our own mind .

'Know Thyself'
a fitting advice of the ancients.

ubiquitous

adjective

1. Being everywhere at once: omnipresent.
2. Seeming to appear everywhere at the same time.

The mind control of religiosity is ubiquitous across our entire species.

It manifests as the neurotypical mentality that has been groomed into almost the entirety of mankind.

There are those on the 'spectrum' among we all that wholly see beyond the mind control of religiosity, beyond the deception and fraud of government,
beyond the perfidy of justice, beyond the nihilistic dementia of mainstream academia, science and media, beyond the unfettered greed and unaccountability of the corporatocracy, beyond the atheistic, materialistic phantasmagoria of technocracy, communism, socialism and fascism, beyond the almost full spectrum dominance of the shortsightedness of the neurotypical vice of not thinking

We all are equipped with the gifts of the creator
- imagination, rationale and freewill -

Not all are free to use them.

We all have only as much freewill as we are clever enough to use.

We may all agree that most of we have the ability to know right from wrong and as a species so to formalise how we understand the concepts of utter goodness, or god as good, and good as god and the complete inversion of goodness or godness as evil and the devil - we have created religiosity so we might formalise into a collective consensus that which answers our ancient wisdom in regard understanding the mechanics and dynamics of our commerce of good and evil into a balance of justice.

We see also by virtue of our being in a free will universe we together formalise into a collective consensus the commerce of will with consent a justice industry disguised as a justice system.

Justice is the western civilisation word for Karma and like Karma, Justice is like Gravity

it cares not if you know or understand it it just is an inescapable law of the universe beyond the phantasmagoria of the corrupted neurotypical structures which house it.

For those who are neurodivergent have a greater access to their 'right brain' functionality, have a more organic access to intuition, empathy and creativity, have a more organic functionality for making usury of the language of depth.

Symbology is the language of depth and is communicated in the right brain, those who communicate in symbology with a right brain functionality capacity are more able to take possession of the symbols they will use and charge the symbol with that which will serve the nuance, the positive or negative vibration that they are to convey with their will.

For example we have the symbol of the eye in the pyramid which may convey a negative vibe by those seeking to mind control and hypnotise the 'left brain' of our beingness.

For those whose 'right brain' capacity is in usury this symbol will be charged with it being representative of the eye of god worn in our third eye pineal that exists within every brain of all that breathes in creation. We may either charge this symbol as our connection for our capacity to see through the eye of god we have existent within our own being, or we charge this symbol with the intent of those who charge it with the command of those who invert its positive charge.

Right brain neurodivergence functions in analogy, metaphor, allegory, slang and humour as a means by which to skry the deep wisdom of the universe and is free thinking.

Left brain, neurotypical, atheistic, materialistic mentality is literal, it knows only that which it has been told to know and becomes the minion.

"the eye by which I see god is the same eye by which god sees me"

Meister Eckhart 13th century.

The message of our christian mythology identifies the inversion of our Christ potential as the Anti-Christ.

To be anti-christ is to suffer diabolic inversion.

Our world wide culture has become hypnotised by the diabolic and we now require to ponder the notion of anti-diabolic

Is the Autist off with the Faeries?

So as a fellow living soul who would like to explore the mantle of the Autism description, let us begin with the word - Autism - which is derived from 'auto' or self. So to be withdrawn and self-absorbed is the beginning definition and to extend on that we could include introverted, self-centred, self-obsessed, and even a lack of self-confidence or self-esteem can undermine the way a being presents and copes with being in our whirled world ego soap opera comedy-tragedy.

I have drawn this following assessment from my looking into the google and youtube universe of sharing, where I discovered that there exists a body of people who have discovered for themselves that they are not the same as everyone else, they do not think the same. These folk are indeed personally and intimately affected by the perceived conditions of being Identified as 'Neurodivergent' and they share with us their sober and honest forensic unpacking of the concepts of the pathology and psychology of the conditions known formally as Autism Spectrum Disorder which includes the perceived conditions of ADHD, Dyslexia and Aspergers and more.

The assessment of neurodivergent that has been given to them by our world was presented by what is called the 'Neurotypical' world. Initial definition of neurotypical means a mentality that is common across the spectrum of our humanities expression, or a person whose brain functions are considered usual or expected by society. In this particular sharing we are going to use neurotypical and neurodivergent as a frame of reference to identify just two states of being in our shared Allity.

It is our formal neurotypical world that has crafted the definition of neurodivergence as a means to describe and define some of their fellow beings. In this following sharing we are going to look back at the neurotypical world from a neurodivergent perspective.

Columbia Psychiatry - People may be familiar with the term biodiversity, which refers to the natural variance of life forms in a given habitat. Neurodiversity borrows from this idea to explain a similar concept: the natural variance of human brains. Some people are autistic, some people have dyslexia, some people have ADHD and thus are what we conceptualize as 'neurodivergent.' Some people do not have any of these things and are what we conceptualize as 'neurotypical' We recognize that while all brains are different, some fall within a range that is considered normative or neurotypical, and some are outside of the normative bounds making them divergent, but not inherently disordered.

Dictionary – divergence = a departure from a norm, a deviation; a difference between or among items. 2 = Biology the evolutionary tendency or process by which animals or plants that are descended from a common ancestor evolve into different forms when living under different conditions. 3 Mathematics= the property or manner of diverging, failure to approach a limit. 4 = physiology, a turning of both eyes outward from a common point or of one eye when the other is fixed.

In our living psychology there is a process called 'individuation' as pointed out by one of the Fathers of Psychology -Carl Gustav Jung-. He suggests that we as individuals may or may not come into align with our becoming true individuals. In our living human herd there exist beings who are more adept to the cosmic calling of becoming a sovereign individual, whereas it would appear the greater number of us passively gravitate more toward the Hive Mind Mentality.

We may ponder the neurotypical mentality as that which dominates our institutions and our mainstream science, academia and media. We may ponder the hive mind of the mentality of 'Communism' 'Fascism' and 'Socialism' has as its foundations a spiritually vacuous materialistic atheistic stance and subscribes to Darwinism, Big Bang Theory and Germ Theory. Although we can also say that our neurotypical population also conforms to the neurotypical religiosities. The neurotypical mentality may be a consequence of the patriarchal dominated world, the left brain of our collectivity dominates and the left brain has limits the right brain does not. The left brain dominance is challenged by context. It is confused by all hints of irony, humour, metaphor, any indirect communication. We could say our collective neurotypical mentality is a consequence of having 'right-brain' damage. Left or masculine, and right or feminine brain is a particular means to view the functioning of how our psyche works, or better put - how our living psyche evolves in a gendered love dance.

When we objectively ponder the whole of our world from this neurotypical perspective we may assess the attitudes and opinions that are expected to be worn by the typical person. Firstly let us ponder what is most of our collective life force spent upon by the neurotypical governance? The military industrial complex absorbs most of the worlds money. It grants license to those corporations that operate in the complex to charge multiple times as much as what we would charge in civilian life for constructions and management. We see the bombing for depopulation called 'war' that will win the company millions for the bomb they make and murder innocence with. We see the adulteration of the innocence of mankind with the pharmaceutical corporations, we see the adulteration of mankind with chemtrails, flouride, 5G and more. We see this as being typical to our existence as fellow living souls. To suggest that this is out of order and not how an enlightened species might act is to diverge from what is 'normal'.

The neurotypical mentality indulges in all that it does oblivious to the spiritual consequences simply because the neurotypical is spiritually vacuous, it is completely corrupted from its own capacity to see. Is it the corruption by wealth and power and domestication and the consequent indulgences which make the spiritually blind blind?

Then when we ponder the amount of Neurodivergent's whose nature and nurture have them arrive to a full positive expression, well they will be quite hidden except for those with the eyes to see. Those whose autism has become a negative and debilitating condition are the dominant among the autist dimension and are the ones our neurotypical world ends up needing to put a lot of energy into to deal with.

Our system describes Autism as a 'Spectrum', and when viewing a spectrum we see, like a light spectrum, is all inclusive of the extremes from white to black, so we can say the Autism Spectrum is all inclusive of the extremes from positive to negative, from the Autist dimension of being existing as a super power, all the way through to it being totally debilitating. So our neurotypical system sees the process of individuation, and the individuality of any individual as being a threat to its' self organising as a collective. It would seem that it identifies the Autist or Self-ist as a dis-order that needs to be drugged and/or corrected.

It is nature and nurture which compounds the neurodivergent condition. So one maybe born with a autist nature and then it is the environment within which they grow up which will either help or harm their condition. They will either become unable to cope and perform in the Neurotypical world or they will find their way and quietly invisibly craft a great life enjoying their Autist traits as advantages, as personal super powers. We tend to ponder super powers from the perspective given we all by movies, that they are super human abilities that are observed in wonder by those around we all, but also we may ponder our own personal super powers as those powers that allow one to exist in a state of simple and gentle private contentment in things of a self nature. The gentle capacity to be invisible to the neurotypical world.

You as an innocent living soul arrive into life and grow up in the vibe of the lives of those who rear you. So you become that which was the petrie dish you were grown in. So you become that which was the love-scape of those who love you, and you learn to love those who love you, and you learn your own style of loving from those beings it was your destiny to be in the love-scape of. We truly are as innocents at the mercy of these beings of our destiny, and the degree to which they themselves are either with the light or shadow and consequently are the cosmic hazards (warts and All) which our spirit has and must evolve through and our living soul bears the record and possible wounds of.

In a positive sense the autist being has a good sense of self and can organically develop positive self traits. Like self reliance, self sufficiency, self discipline, self motivation, a strong sense of self worth, inner strength, personal initiative, healthy aggression and have the capacity to become auto-didactic. Which are those who we call self starters and can figure shit out for themselves. The neurodivergent could be pondered to be a little more right brained in its application to reality and has a greater sense of the realm of the implicit. The implicit realm is all that which we truly value in life and we feel it out in the beauty of nature, poetry, music, sex, love, narrative, myth and the divine. The neurodivergent understands irony, humour, metaphor and all that which is alluded to indirectly, it can read between the lines. It has a more keen spiritual sense of self and Allity. It understands what it means to be in communication with the Cosmos.

There is in this more profound sense of self a comfortableness in being non conforming, comfortable in being in aloneness, comfortable in walking a lone or eccentric path. The being is comfortable with withdrawing from being an active member in the greater social organism of humanity. Quite comfortable to just be themselves in a relaxed and unstressed oblivion to what others may think and fame and/or fortune mean little to nothing to them. Quite Comfortable to delve into the bottomless pits of their own interests, understandings and inner-standings. They can live life in the proverbial 'Dance like no one is watching'.

The positive traits are - there is a strong sense of self where one can comfortably exist outside of all the usual bothers of the social nuances of fitting in, with out needing to be seen to be up with the Jones's, to indulge in worrying about what others might think, exist in an organic oblivion to social norms. Can traverse the neurotypical worlds of school, institutions, workplaces, church and state seeing it all for what it is and involve only to the degree necessary to find or get what they need. They intuitively construct a framework of freedom into their life adventure, where they are able to know how to live out an optimal amount of freedom within the set and lawful framework of the neurotypical world, and find the right mix between the neurotypical values of the shared landscape of the neurotypical world and their own neurodivergent calling.

It is reckoned the neurotypical beings are about fifty to one to the 'neurodivergent'. The spectrum or dimension of experience for the neurodivergent/autist is very broad and on the positive side is barely acknowledged, as this fraction of our collective social body quietly gets on with their lot and have in their divergence certain advantages in skill sets such as mimicry and masking, which allow useful invisibility.

The neurotypical beings are our fellow mankind who thinks, perceives and behaves in ways that are considered the norm by our general population. Institutions such as church and state, schools, sports, places of employment are typically designed to accommodate the neurotypical. As humans it would seem we are easily led or groomed into what is considered 'normal' even if it is not natural or healthful – our species relationship with drugs and alcohol is a good example of neurotypical 'norms', and our species relationship with 'religiosities' is also a collective unquestioned belief 'norm'.

What is normal is not natural and what is natural is not normal – Barry Long Neurotypical does not mean "normal." It simply means that the behaviours fall within expected boundaries, which can differ from one culture to another. One is doing and behaving like every body else.

My Grandmother said
"Just Because Everyone Else Is Doing Some Thing, Does Not Mean It Is Right"

However it is those who are on the more negative side of the neurodivergent spectrum who come up on our societies radar and express as the dyslexic, the ADHD, the Autistic. The most damaged of the neurodivergent realm require full care in our communities. Those who have been more damaged by a lack of nurture. In youth and innocence the Autist requires the right sort and amount of nurture to activate their neurodivergence as a super power. There is of course the very pathologically damaged autistic who are still in diapers as adults and are totally unable to function at all in this world. Some in our species suggest vaccine damage is responsible for some autistic pathology.

“Vaccination is a barbarous practice and one of the most fatal of all the delusions current in our time.

Conscientious objectors to vaccination should stand alone, if need be, against the whole world, in defense of their conviction.”

— Mahatma Gandhi

It would appear the Autist has a stronger sense of self, which has one then indulge in a more objective view of reality and enjoys a natural positive 'Alexithymia', or emotional poise, there is a sort of disconnect to the need of recognising, identifying, understanding and expressing neurotypical emotions. There is an objective capacity to put feelings into words, to have a sort of safe barrier in the self from being overwhelmed by emotions, and capacity to be 'with' rather than 'in' emotional states. There is a greater objective calm in their psychic system. Although in negative expression alexithymia would be quite a debilitating burden.

Alexithymia

Neuro-psychological phenomenon characterised by significant challenges in recognising, expressing, sourcing, and describing one's own emotions. It is associated with difficulties in attachment and interpersonal relations. While there is no scientific consensus on its classification as a personality trait, medical symptom, or mental disorder, alexithymia is highly prevalent among individuals with autism spectrum disorder, ranging from 50% to 85% of prevalence.

- Google

Without the burden of aligning with social norms or concerns of what others think and adjusting accordingly, one frees up more awareness upon the nuts and bolts of reality, is able to more easily see patterns in things, the pattern recognition capacities which exist in all beings are more readily available to the autistic. As a matter of fact it becomes a source of delight and allows one an emotional poise to become a good mimic, employ certain poise muscles so to mask a certain degree of invisibility for oneself. To be out of the view of others, to be off the radar of the general world. They can enjoy a sober clarity and down to earth view of the world. To be left in a delicious void of still silence the neurotypical fail to grasp, and is where one overcomes fear of fear and can open up to what is vast and unknown in the chaotic depths of ones own unconscious mind.

The inner infinity is so potently experienced for the positive neurodivergent that the neurotypical will see them as existing in a boring life, they don't quite get them, they are a bit weird.

From this still silence one looks more deeply into the mystery of life and creation and can see beyond the expected norms, to see beyond the dogmas of the should s, could s and would s of neurotypical existence. Those who can see the benefits of the 'Apocalypse', can see that which is being revealed, can see the hidden cause behind collective symptoms, can see beyond the limits and boundaries of the neurotypical dogmatic cage. One might ponder that those identified in our modern world as 'conspiracy theorists' or 'anti-vaxxers' have a 'neurodivergent' perspective of our shared Wholly Allity. They simply 'see' what others are groomed to miss.

APOCALYPSE - The lifting of the Veils, the revealing of what was hidden in illusion or delusion, the revealing of causes, the revelation of ignorance being simply only that which was being ignored. It means things can not be hidden any more.

We might ask is the term 'sheeple' mean the people who accept what the television says, and the mainstream academia, science and media presents in its perception management and are the neurotypical audience propaganda is aimed toward. Our World of mainstream media presents only the neurotypical dimension of existence. It would seem that it is not entirely a conspiracy but more a dominant mentality that has we all in the situation we are in. The neurotypical is reckoned to be 50 times more than the neurodivergent, and when we ponder the existence of just the positive expression of the neurodivergent, that number is even more remote.

The mentality of the neurotypical world is the world of deceptive control and command of resource, wealth, power and people. It espouses the neurotypical religiosities as a mind control device but has no understanding of the deeper concepts seeking to be portrayed by these religiosities. The neurotypical pays lip service to the notions of 'Christ Consciousness' but has no understanding of the concept. The mentalities we can identify as 'mammon', 'Satanist' and 'Luciferian' are symptoms of the greater neurotypical mentality or as some describe as 'god inversion', or 'good inversion', or diabolic.

The usury-debt-slavery management strategy existent upon the blood of our social body is a neurotypical construct; and the esoteric control mechanics of the legal industry are also expressions or symptoms of the almost full spectrum dominance of the neurotypical mentality. Another clue to the reason of the neurotypical mentality is to ponder the consequence of patriarchal left brain dominance in church and state. The diminishment of right brain in our collective social body is a causal agent of the neurotypical mentality gender rift love loss.

The human ego is the primary causal agent for the existence and dominance of the neurotypical mentality. Our human ego exists in two generalised expressions. The separated-ego and the soul centred ego.

The soul centred ego is more the condition of the neurodivergent as it is quite self oriented and aware of its own personal uniqueness and inherent connection to source. It requires deep heartfelt relationship with thine self to acknowledge the existence of soul and to begin to indulge in the notion of soul craft. It has awareness of social responsibility and a sensible sense of order and the capacity to optimistically tolerate the neurotypical as the old structures which requires to be overcome in favour of deeper truths, there is a willingness to steadily pass through hardship and crises in the experience of transformation. It has a natural sense of justice and a chaste treatment of power. It has the capacity to mimic and mask its tip toe through the sleeping masses.

The separated ego condition is the condition of 'neurotypical' spiritual blindness, where one has no concept of truly being a living extension of the notion of creator and creation. The separated ego is separated from its' true nature and the nature of the universe and our exotic erotic biospheric planet. We see the lot of our fellow man in their prevalence to exist in the denatured landscapes of cities. The old adage 'Civilisation is Poison to Man' is worthy to ponder.

The separated ego condition has beings needing to separate themselves from all others and need to craft some sense of where they are in the hierarchy of the theatre of life in the world. The separated ego is weak and completely vulnerable to the condition of ego-masturbation gratification hypnosis. The ego power trip, the ego realm of self importance held as a virtue. The power trip is as potent a trip for the separated ego as any hallucinogen we care to meet.

The system is aware of the 'divergents' as presented in the Movie 'DIVERGENT', and as portrayed in the movie the divergent members of the population are few to the number of the neurotypical 'norms'. The Neurodivergent also present a problem as they are a bit of an upset to the Neurotypical Normality by virtue of seeing it for what it is and questioning things.

So generally speaking the Neurodivergent seeks to remain close to the still peaceful silence of their inner infinity and generally do not bring attention to themselves, and leave the neurotypical world to itself. The neurodivergent tend to quietly experience aloneness as 'all-one-ness'.

In this still silence no judgement exists, the world just is what it is and one can navigate simply via like and dislike. There is no qualifying by role but more by essence. The autistic does not care if you are a Celebrity or the Prime Minister or a Check out Chick, all are expressions of the mystery of life and creation, all are interesting. The whole ego power trip of hierarchical division means nothing to the neurodivergent.

As there is no need for aligning with the should s, could s and would s. The pattern recognition allows one to see the hidden lore of the law of the mysterium and it becomes a much easier task to see the limits and boundaries of the experience of the navigation of the whirled world of our collective ego soap opera comedy.

For those that 'see' - it is the navigating of the limits and boundaries of the form and order of our shared external wholly Allity which provides the friction and density necessary to grow ones consciousness. Some times it is prudent to ASK QUESTIONS, some times it is best to quietly figure shit out for yourself and bring no attention to the self one is crafting.

The neurodivergent is able to see what the Perfidy of the Church and State Hive Mind has created for the neurotypical world. The movie 'The Matrix' shares a symbolic concept of a situation where the neurotypical mind and soul of potential individuals is held in a spiritually void simulacrum by the grooming of their divine innocence; only so to satisfy the separated-ego, ego masturbation gratification hypnosis of all satanistic and luciferian mentalities that command the spiritually vacuous, technocratic corporatocracy.

the spiritually vacuous can celebrate full spectrum dominance of their spiritually vacuous separated-ego whirled world soap opera comedy/tragedy wherein they may enjoy their wank
at the expense of Cosmic Gifts
beyond imagining.

It is sad but true all those who are hypnotised by the hive mind control of religiosities and atheistic-materialistic ideologies are separated from the antennas of their soul and exist unconsciously in a spiritual vacuity.

The autist can rally an intense focus upon things as required, can rally an intense interest in that which is interesting to the furthering of self motivation and realisation. This mode of operation is free and easy and allows a lateral thinking persistence with which to view the unfolding of the day to day.

The free open minded pure hearted proceeds in the raw unfiltered truth as one sees it, does not sugar coat what is to be shared with others, and can naturally mean what they say and say what they mean...

This neurodivergent/autist frequency of existence has an organic sense of what to trust and thereby makes good use of the powers of openness and honesty,, which reveals a deeper empathic sense of ones fellow man in align with an intense sense of right and wrong in self and others. The autist trusts that Faith is enlightenment through knowledge and wears a practical and pragmatic knowing that the Creator is Creation creating itself in this now time moment and you can ~~not not~~ be a living experiencing aspect of the Wholly See of the Living All of our Wholly Allity.

The neurodivergent Knows that every thing that holds form in the universe has an informed field, which is another word for soul and consequently knows you can ~~not not~~ have a soul. The neurodivergent knows that each and every living soul inhabiting human form has the self same gifts of imagination, rationale and freewill so to solve their own unique individual part in the mysterium.

The neurodivergent lives comfortably in the inner sense innocence that their living awareness is their hidden in plain sight immortality and despite all the phantasmagoria of the neurotypical religiosity dominance of our world, knows that the simplicity of the quest is to craft their soul as the script for their next arrival to innocence. They know that they are creating the sort of world they can trust to arrive back as an innocent into.

The neurodivergent knows quietly and secretly that it is the every thought act and deed which crafts the living soul and that upon arrival to the portal of death it is ones own personal unique individual self crafted soul that is the signed-confession for all of who one truly is, all one has ever done, all the agendas one has served, the honour of the commerce of will with all other living souls, and most importantly ones attitude toward and relationship with innocence in its every expression.

The neurodivergent knows that innocence is the very nature of the creator and creation simply because the creator stands back as innocence not affecting the gift of free will it has given all. Innocence is at the complete mercy of free will. Although it is ones self crafted record of their relationship to and attitude toward innocence which dominates their sobering arrival to the portal of d'eath, the door of the ethers, or our release from the narrow band limit of the full spectrum of the Wholly Allity.

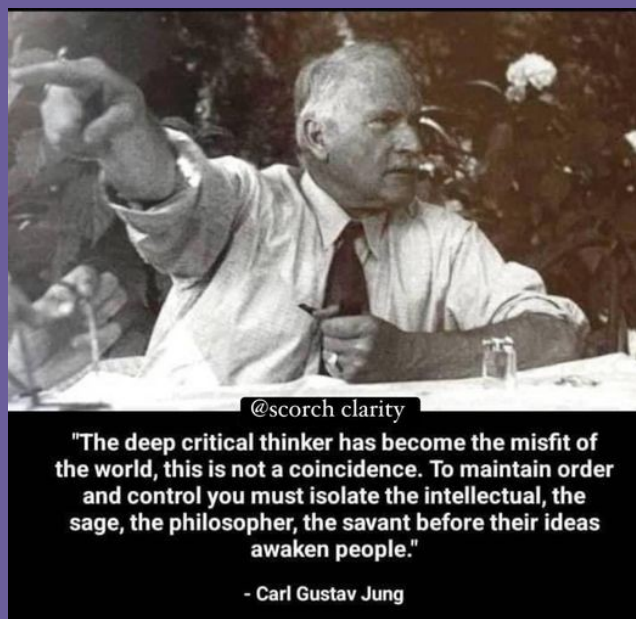

This general autistic self realisation of the individuation process lends an open minded, pure hearted willingness to share freely all and everything that has been understood from ones experience of our wholly Allity. One can not not be all in it all together - Unity is a given.

The nature of the autistic is relatively innocent and in a world that neurotypically grooms and defiles innocence for advantage will have the more negative conditions of autism develop for many autistic s.

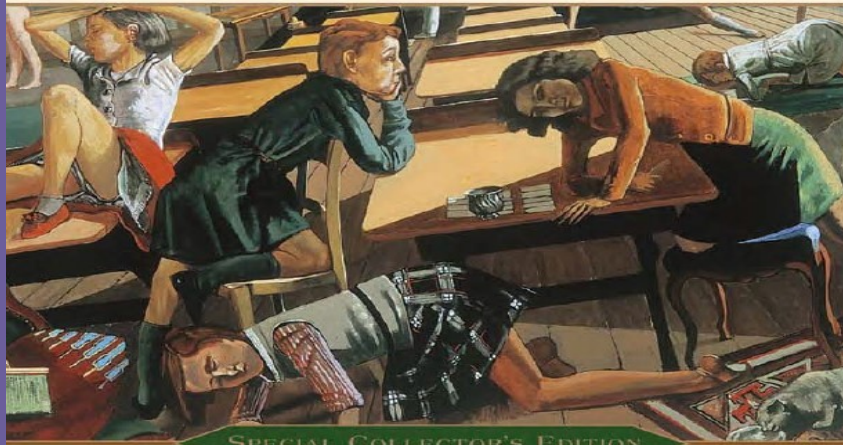

Those whose neurodivergent capacities have expressed negatively, due to nature and nurture of the neurotypical world at large, has the general autistic at a disadvantage in our shared whirled world ego soap opera comedy/tragedy.

The neurotypical school system does no favours for the neurodivergent among we all, The effects of forced institutionalised schooling can affect a greater dumbing down upon the neurodivergent than the dumbing down which is the lot of the neurotypical.

The Hidden Curriculum of Compulsory Schooling

SPECIAL COLLECTOR'S EDITION

JOHN TAYLOR GATTO

Foreword by Thomas Moore

In the negative side of this enormous spectrum of Human Expression we see for the autist, by nature their predilection to lacks in self esteem and confidence, to become overly self obsessed, has ones capacity to focus become over focused and loses sight of the bigger picture, and can become as blind as the neurotypical in regard the astonishing majesty of the mysterium we are, and are within.

Their attention to detail can become lost in the details,

Their withdrawing has one not engage in verbal communication and can become lost in the crowd,

Has one not only not express feelings emotions or empathy, but lose contact with their feel of all these inner senses.

Can shut off completely from others and become visibly invisible and isolated.

Can not recognise nonverbal cues from the nuances of our social norms.

Withdraws from all group activities

Overreaction to specific sounds or sights textures, tastes, smells or light.

Deeply and helplessly stubborn

Helplessly non conforming.

Completely tactless.

No social judgement.

Over sensitive.

Unstructured.

At a complete loss to function in the neurotypical world.

Has ones sense of justice become a feeling of being entitled, over offended, and becomes the bloody-minded woke activist.

Effectively every one is on the 'Spec-trum'

if we ponder that we are all each and everyone of us a spec of the supreme intelligence of creation as the infinite ocean of consciousness within which is suspended our universe.

and our little spec of consciousness that we possess is what we call our living awareness which I ex-
spec-t has the capacity to in-spec-t the notion that

We are all spec-tators of the spec-tacle of creation where we may evolve our own spec-ial per-spec-tive for crafting our own spec-ulation of the mystery of life and creation via our spec-ifying where we seek to fit in as a spec-imen of our human spec-ies

Crikey how come I am me and you are you?

A philosophical ponder is the only means one has to address such a question.

All things rational may enjoy the advantage of reason and science in all their forms , but all things meta-rational can only be forensically unpacked philosophically. That is why philosophy exists, cos there is so many things about our participation in navigating the mysterium of our wholly Allity that science and religion can not address.

No body truly knows the mystery of life and creation, and nobody has ever known but we do have a species wide smorgasbord of speculations held in our histories, our folk lore and myth, our faerie tales and all our stories captured in book and movie, all shared anecdotes and of course the infallible blah narratives of our institutionalised speculations held in church and state.

I would invite you to suspend your belief, to let go of all prejudice at least until you have journeyed to the end of this sharing. There are certain concepts those who command our collective social body organs of church and state would prefer you did not entertain. The notions, paradigms, narrative which follows may contain some such concepts. It is your own capacities of critical thinking, discriminating wisdom and humour that will assist your Yin Gift of Imagination, your Yang Gift of Rationale and your Gift of Free Will to navigate this presentation, this courtesy notice, this look beyond.

It would seem we all only have as much free will as we are clever enough to use.

There is much to wholly rise above and see beyond in our shared world, and if the advice of wisdom traditions are of any use we are in a process of ascension, which when pondered practically and pragmatically is simply our efforts to rise above, to capture a higher view of something, to attain an eagle eye view of that which we are all navigating together.

There is so much we may rise above in our every day existence by simply being objective and holding an emotional poise in regard our immediate attitude and opinions to all that which is expressed by the wholly Allity we find ourselves navigating.

Our each and every life adventure is unique and individual one living soul to another. So although our subjective experience of our own personal navigation of the mystery of life and creation will be unique and individual to our own self, there is much that is common for any of we all who might choose to ponder so.

I share some concepts for our living awareness to peer the beyond of.

First of all we all as a living 'I am' we have the advice of the ancients that 'I am' is the only truth all else is illusion.

And from this simple base let us ponder that as an I am, I exist in an infinite illusion which I may forensically unpack with my very own personal unique individual subjective capacities of critical thinking, discriminating wisdom and humour.

It is with these humble capacities I begin my own personal crafting of the perceptions I am to wear. Per ceptions for my capture of the value held in that word is Per is a part of and cept is to have and to hold.

So from that ponder my perceptions are the parts of the mysterious infinite illusion I may capture, have and hold as the values I will use to cognise the mystery of life and creation and assist my navigation of the mysterium.

Now in the notion of capturing holding and having parts of the illusion I move to the next phase of our navigation of the mysterium and that is the 'concepts' I will use to unpack the mysterium.

All con and com words are to contract with, a coming together and being with.

So I collect perceptions and from there craft them into conceptions.

Lets go back to Philosophy as our means by which to unpack our Allity - the condition of being in and with the wholly see of the living all. The clue is of course hidden in the word, 'philo' is love and 'sophia' is wisdom. So if one is to truly deeply love the wisdom sewn into the fabric of our wholly allity they will discover that it is mostly ones wholly attitude that will best assist ones own forensic unpacking of the mysterium we navigate. As an 'I am' and in the consideration of all else being illusion, then it is the attitude of accepting all as being equally able to portray the truth of the mystery, the attitude of discriminate with All, there is no place for discriminate against when looking and hearing from love, and one can not see or hear the cosmos if they do not learn to wholly see and listen beyond the noise of creation.

I have always enjoyed the standing for my own phoolish approach to the navigation of the mysterium of being a notion trader. Which simply means that the whole of the living consciousness of creation is first a mind full of notions before it manifests into the apparent substance of our physical universe.

So as a notion trader I remain objective knowing that there is an infinite ocean of notions existent in the infinite mind of creation and I as a little speck of the supreme intelligence of creation may have and hold any notion I am clever enough to capture and ponder upon.

So those notions I meet in my perceptions become the concepts that I wear within as my sub-stance, my under-standings and inner-standings. This is where the next phase of paradigm wrestler comes in.

I require to have a world view, and a way of being in my navigating the mysterium. And it is my Paradigms which assist my big picture concepts of what this mystery is that I navigate with all others.

Worthy to ponder what is entailed in the act of navigation.

What would one be responsible to know to do so.

Para-digm = world view + way of being.

So like notions being infinite and by being not too attached to the notions I have and hold dear allows me to meet other notions which may introduce understandings and inner-standings that are beyond the bounds of my rationale.

Like wise my paradigms that guide my navigation, I don't actually trade like I do notions, I wrestle them so that in our cosmic dance together my world view and my way of being with it may evolve.

My own concept of Evolution is a means of my benefiting from all previous notion encounters as the lessons that inform my ongoing crafting of my narrative of my life adventure.

So let us summarise here, I exist as a notion trader, a paradigm wrestler, a concept hunter and a narratologist.

My 'I am' navigates the mysterium feeding upon the infinite ocean of notions as the nourishment necessary for my ongoing wrestling of the paradigms which form the skeletal structure of the narrative of my life adventure.

Ultimately the narrative of my life adventure is the very soul of my being.

CHAPTER TWO

Faith

Because it is the masses that make the holospheric matrix we find that the truth is for the individual and not the masses.

Jason Breshears

THERE EXISTS TWO REALITY TUNNELS WE MAY AVAIL OURSELVES OF.

The collective neurotypical reality tunnel created by the hive mind or
our own neurodivergent Allity tunnel created by our own individuality.

The less threads of the collective reality tunnel we allow into our informed field intelligence the more we are able to create our own personal unique individual Allity tunnel.

Be with the world but not of it.

The simple wonder I have enjoyed in going down the Autist Rabbit Hole is that there is something quite profound in the observation of Carl Jung and his identifying the process of 'individuation'. We can see that the neurotypical world is for those who are not endeavouring to become individuated and are lost and hypnotised by ego rather than aware of its unique individuality and become the self controlled, self aware, self disciplined director of this aspect of our mystery.

Have the Ego as a tool to use, not what you are

As simple and innocuous as it might sound to be an individual, the experience of delving deeply into self is a wondrous bottomless pit. A deep heartfelt sense of being a self is the simple gentle means of awakening and making usury of 'Faith' as a real thing. Faith becomes a living energetic that one can observe the transformation and evolution of when it becomes completely subjective and intimately an extension of ones intuition, creativity and empathy.

But faith requires to be invested into something before it can come to life. As a real thing it sits within and awaits that which it will be invested into. That which it seeks, aches, endeavours to be invested into is anything that is beyond. All things 'meta' are a beyondness - meta-physical existence, meta-rational understanding, meta-sexual expression.

Our neurotypical world and its need to control and evaporate individuality and construct collective hive minds knows very well the esoteric mechanics of 'Faith'. Religiosities across our neurotypical world exist so to capture and direct the living faith dynamic.

It takes a very self reliant, self motivated, self assured individual to dare to take possession of faith and use it for themselves. Stepping away from that which everyone else is investing faith into and placing faith in ones own perception and understanding requires gumption, a boldness of spirit, an inherent sense of the supreme intelligence of creation is the infinite ocean of love the universe is suspended in.

Once one has gently focused their faith to where there own gifts of rationale and imagination deem true a wondrous journey begins. True individuality is a faith in oneself, a faith that ones very own command of the gifts of imagination and rationale are as usable for thine self as they are for all or any other of our human family.

The only difference in our usury of our gifts given we all is our own self s' relationship to and attitude toward them. The message of suggestion from the wisdom of the ancients is that we approach our usury of the tool of faith with an open mind and a pure heart.

That which we are investing our faith into is developed and evolved each and every day by that which we come to know more. Some things in which we invest the tool of faith can eventually prove to be wrong, so it is an open mind and a pure heart which allows one to humbly let go and reapply the gifts of rationale and imagination so to reinvest into a new thread, knowing that nothing is lost when we prove our self to be wrong, as a matter of fact it can be the most useful means to provoke deeper and more profound understandings.

The neurodivergent perception of the neurotypical world can be quite useful when applied in a positive sense. Lateral thinking, thinking outside of the box, be sure to use your Ridiculizer, all suggest that we all have access to something that is absolutely infinite.

The supreme intelligence of creation exists primarily as an infinite ocean of consciousness as an infinite ocean of love and it is with our meta-physical gifts of imagination and rationale that we are able to mine it all. Our infinite ocean of consciousness is completely chocker block full of notions that we may capture, entertain and even possibly choose to manifest.

It would seem it is the neurodivergent that have the gumption to approach the bottomless pit of the infinitude of notions with their imagination. Not concerned that they are going to maybe find something they did not particularly want.

In our trawling the infinitude of notions we sometimes find exactly what we are looking for, we sometimes do not find what we are looking for, we sometimes find that which we did not expect, all of which we have no real control of.

But a boldness of spirit, the intrepidity of the explorer, the excitement of the adventurer is what is going on in the seemingly quiet emptiness of the neurodivergent stance. From outward appearance the neurodivergent would appear to be just sitting there staring into space, off with the Faeries. But within, the neurodivergent maybe the discoverer pondering a new notion that has never been thought by any other being at any time.

As neurodivergents find comfort in walking the lone path, in feeling and growing into eccentricity, they will not be content to simply accept certain notions just because everybody else has accepted them without question.

The perfect example is our neurotypical world of religiosities where there exists time honoured unquestioned accepted notions as to the mystery of life and creation. A certain consensus has been accepted into the hive mind and the neurotypical is content to accept these notions and question no further. In all religiosities it is those annoying neurodivergents who keep asking endless questions, that are not very welcome, and it is generally these very circumstances upon which that a neurodivergent comes to discover that they are in fact a neurodivergent.

The neurodivergent has the sense that there is much more to the mystery of life and creation than the neurotypical world is capable of knowing. Knowing that the neurotypical world actually does not truly know although professes to know is how the power of the Kabal works. The power of the Kabal is to pretend to have a secret and yield a power or control due to the holding of that which one does not have. The institutionalised church pretends to know the mystery of life and creation, the justice industry pretends to be the venue for justice, government pretends to be stewarding justly the organs of our collective social body on our behalf. This is the lot of the neurotypical mentality, it tends to only think as much as is necessary so to not have to think.

So we have a situation where the neurodivergent can see that despite the neurotypical religiosity world professing its infallible blah as dogmas though its Churchiosity, it does not and never has known the mystery of life and creation. It is an institutionalised speculation that simply exists as a director for the collective faith. It has a mountain of questions it can not answer or chooses not to answer.

This void leaves a wonderful space for all neurodivergents to leave from when realising that nobody knows and nobody has ever known the mystery of life and creation. We have the infinite ocean of consciousness as our immediately available venue for our voyage of discovery.

We have as living souls have all been granted the self same gifts of imagination, rationale and freewill. And it is our gift of free will which the neurodivergent uses first so to choose to take the lone voyage of discovery and take ownership of the mystery of life and creation as one's own puzzle seeking to be solved for great reward. The neurotypical world has created NASA and astronauts and spaceships and extended from that is the notions of UFO's and Aliens. All a neurotypical phantasmagoria seeking to find that which it all ready possesses. The externalised symbols of navigating the infinitude within is what our species projects out into the 'space race'.

The gift of imagination has the neurodivergent then see themselves as being in a romantic adventure of mystical proportions engaging upon a never ending story that extends way beyond one's capacity to imagine an end.

The neurotypical world is actually deserving of ridicule for how it so belligerently proceeds with the logical fallacies it continues to deceive itself with. So the neurodivergent sees that a ridiculous world deserves a ridiculous approach which frees one up from all the social shoulds, coulds and woulds. Anything is possible when one discovers how the neurotypical world has invested its collective faith in what is not true.

So is it a conspiracy where by certain beings with a supreme understanding of human psychology design systems that groom and capture the innocence of the general population, or is it that it is a mentality that simply does not know any better. These are the neurodivergent ponders that are journeyed through so to figure and fathom that which is worthy to invest the tool of faith into.

Individuation is the clue to the puzzle it would seem. When we ponder the values suggested by parse, which is the construction of our words with their syllables and the inherent value placed upon each syllable that come together so to construct the value that the word will portray. 'In' as a prefix presents a no contract condition of state, so in -div is suggesting no division. The ion as the suffix at the end suggest being in the state or condition of. There is also a -uat in there as well. For the ridiculizer approach we see the word 'individuation' is suggesting a state or condition where you are at no division, it suggests that one is Whole in oneself.

So to be whole in oneself is to be open to all possibilities for finding ones most magnificent potentials. There is a word for – Most Magnificent Potential – and that is Divinity.

The neurodivergence of ones ridiculizer is where we begin when we are seeking to invest faith into something. The best definition of Faith I have stumbled across is – Faith is Enlightenment Through Knowledge - . therefore our investment of faith is a process of learning, experimenting, exploring, discovering and crafting. Because faith is always invested into that which is beyond we require to invest our faith in something that is not actually here but seems to be by virtue of circumstance.

Our focus upon that which we are investing our faith into serves to accumulate more and more circumstantial evidence so to prove to our self that that which we are investing our faith into actually exists, although it is beyond the capacity of our senses to actually touch.

The most personal and unique and individual aspect of a self would be the existence of the living soul. Now the soul is a perfect candidate for our investing faith into as although we can not prove that it is there, there exists plenty of circumstantial evidence to support its actual existence.

It is our gift of rationale which deals with the logic of things, and it is our gift of freewill which provides the capacity to direct our rationale to perform the divisions necessary so to unpack the indivisible.

Quantum Physics is an element of our neurotypical world and it has had to admit that every thing that holds form in the universe would actually have to have what they call an informed field of intelligence simply so the atoms which come together can give a form form. So from this perspective an informed field of intelligence is the same thing as a living soul and it is obvious that one can not not have one.

Logic further suggests that the actual form that you have is the expression of the informed field that exists to give you the form that we are all able to witness as your appearance. Then further, we are able to witness also the nuances of your living character in how you express your self as a fellow member of our human family. No matter if you are neurotypical or neurodivergent in your beingness you will be the living expression of the informed field intelligence that is you.

Logic further suggests that the informed field intelligence is in a continual state of evolution as it is adjusting continually to the conditions met by your living form. If we chopped off your foot and threw it away, that would be something that your ongoing informed field intelligence would include in your appearance all the way through to when you do not appear anymore.

It stands to reason we would not need to do something as dramatic as chopping off of your foot to alter what the informed field intelligence presents. It stands to reason that it is simply ones every thought act and deed that is the living ongoing alteration of that which is the informed field intelligence.

Now it is here where faith comes in, as an individual one may be witness to ones every thought act and deed and observe the affects evident in ones appearance at a physical level and the expressions of ones character as the more ethereal aspects of behaviour.

One may be witness to how ones wears ones attitudes and opinions as to how ones appearance and character maybe altered, especially by others perception of you.

It is from this accumulation of circumstantial evidence where the neurodivergent being may begin investing their living faith into the notion of soul craft.

So why would you invest faith into the notion of soul craft - well that is up to your own attitude and opinions as to your own gifts of imagination, rationale and freewill and how you might like to avail yourself of them and what you might imagine you would like to do with them.

It would appear that the simple difference between a neurotypical and a neurodivergent is simply the attitude toward the self same gifts we are all given.

The simple logic that the creator is creation creating itself in this now time moment and that you can not not be a living experiencing aspect of it conjoins nicely with the our logic to invest faith in the self for accumulating evidence of soul. As Faith is Enlightenment through Knowledge we use our gift of imagination to imagine what is, then apply our gift of rationale so to over the lifetime confirm what is obvious to our own self, though not normally acknowledged by our neurotypical environment.

This obviousness is that you do actually possess your own personal intimate touch of the creator. So no matter what creation may be perceived to be in its infinitude your awareness as a living soul is obviously for you the very centre of creation.

The paradox is of course that it is the magnetic dark, still, silent, invisible, empty, nothingness within where this touch of the creator exists and to confound the paradox even more one must try not to try to touch it.

It is with your inner sense that you may have your innocence meet the innocence of creation.

The neurodivergent has a sense of the obvious and compares it to what is normal to conform too. In the neurodivergent sense one knows that one can not-not be a source created being, and that each and every living man and woman is a god-lawful-man or woman. The other obvious is that when it comes to the religiosity, one ends up in a religiosity and ends up with a name, it is not a sovereign crown choice to be aligned with a religiosity perception managed means of cognising the mystery of life and creation. It is a neurotypical base program that allows one to fit in and conform to the unfolding with out need to think.

The Primary Virtue is to think, the Primary Vice is to Not Think

White Fella Dreaming

Belief in Faerie has the same origin as all or any religion or mythology.

The Fae Faith is Naturalistic - a means to explain and rationalise natural phenomena.
Psychic Archetypal geometry coloured by mythology and lore.

As human beings our first experience of the unfolding of reality is psychic, we draw in all that is through our sense and our clair senses.

Faith of any kind, including Faerie Faith we use so to explain in terms of human experience the unseen worlds its inhabitants, its laws and its relation to man and how we consciously relate to the unknown.

Ancients called the inhabitants - gods, genii, daemons and shades, Christianity called the inhabitants - angels, saints, demons and souls of the dead.
The "Uncivilized" call the inhabitants - gods, demons and spirits of ancestors.
Irish/Scott/Scandanavian/Slav/Rus called the inhabitants, - gods and faeries.

Materialism considered as a philosophy never explains the "why" of things.
Materialists cease to be natural. Where ever under modern conditions great multitudes of men and women herded together there is bound to be an unhealthy psychic atmosphere, a susceptibility to the hypnotic influences of conventionality and unnaturalness not found in the lives of country folk.

It is those who are able to comfortably exist with nature who are more unconventional, natural and psychically equipped to explore the realms of the Fae, the unconscious realms of archetypal geometry, the mechanics of thine soul and the very mind scape met in psychedelic or shamanic states.

Paraphrased From the Net.

CHAPTER THREE..

now lets get down to the tin tacks of what the mindscape of a particular neurodivergent is.

Namely Me.

I have only in recent moments due to my Grand Child being diagnosed as being within the Autistic Spectrum with -ADHD/Gifted/Autistic - have myself explored the formal presentations of the Autist. After reading and listening to an enormous amount of content I was surprised to see that I actually ticked the boxes myself as I reflected the traits being discussed and my relationship with them over my life.

The particular category of assessment that my Grand Child fell within is also termed 2E or Twice Exceptional which is simply acknowledging the fact that some excellent cognitive capacity, or some sort of x-ray vision in regard seeing the 'Neurotypical' world for what it truly is, all exists within the spectrum of what is deemed to be an Autistic Fog. The Autist fog it would seem to me is because the 'neurodivergent' are being assessed and categorised by the 'neurotypical' world, so there exists a fog for those deemed Autist which makes their journey of crating their gift into a super power a bit more of a challenge. Our neurotypical world identifies that to be in the spectrum is to be mentally damaged and you will require to be either drugged with ritalin or dexamphetamine, to be mentally assessed or re-educated so to be brought back into align with the neurotypical mentality. A self organising collective correcting deviance from it's hive mind.

But as has been shared within we can logic that the Autist/Selfist living soul is simply one that is naturally and organically relaxing into the process of 'Individuation' as identified by Carl Jung. The inner realisation that one is a unique individual aspect of the entirety of our species. When the realisation focuses deeply into the individuation process ones attitudes and opinions as to where one fits into the unfolding mystery reveals pattern recognition's that defy the general neurotypical unquestioned accepted beliefs. Our neurotypical world seeks to build a hive mind and individuality in all its forms it must delete.

With out needing to go and get a degree in psychology, or become ordained in some religiosity we as Autists simply figure shit out for ourselves and given any notion we explore it. As an Autist who has always enjoyed a relationship with the Creator and has enjoyed an inherent cognition of the existence of soul, when these aspects of our mysterious life and creation are a given, we begin to enjoy seeing things that others seem to overlook.

It would seem a simple logic that if all the fellow beings in our species took as a given that yes we have a creator and you can not not be a living experiencing aspect of it all, and yes the infinite ocean of consciousness is also an infinite ocean of love, and then most importantly it is a given that we have a living soul which is evolved by our every thought act and deed via our usury of our self same gifts of imagination, rationale and freewill.

With the soul as a given and that it is you the unique individual lone personal expression of which that is absolutely, completely responsible for the soul that you craft. From what we may deduce from the tomes of ponder passed to we all from the ancestors of our species, the general sense is that it is the integrity of soul which you craft which will be the currency for your traverse of the after life, and most importantly it will also be the script for the sort of unfolding you may expect to arrive to when it is time for you to arrive back into your next innocence. Is it that we commerce love or it's inversion.

The most important given is that nobody knows or has ever known the mystery of life and creation and we are all in the same cosmic boat, we are in a mysterium that lures we all into its infinitude of unfathomable possibilities that feed the limitlessness of our imagination.

We only have our day to day living experience to guide our own choice of behaviour and it's consequences immediately and long term.

If in the crafting of your soul you have scripted that it is ok to defile innocence, to betray trust then that is the cast you will script for your arrival to innocence. If you have scripted into your soul it is ok to make bombs for a corporation to drop on fellow innocents that you do not know, well maybe expect to be born in the middle of a war zone. If you work for a corporation that deems it ok to adulterate and poison your fellow man with vaccines, chemtrails, flouride, toxic food additives then one might expect to arrive into a neurotypical environment and be saturated with these adulteration's until you awaken to the fact that to adulterate is not good it makes one less than,

and to quote an old man -Tom Parks -the adulteration's of mind delivered by religiosities has one be-less. blessed.

Personally I deemed this anomaly of not seeing the obvious of the consequences of not crafting a soul with integrity as being a spiritual blindness which one who is not spiritually blind is helpless to assist those who have this blindness.

This blindness is obviously species wide as we can see the amount of neurotypical simply by observing how many living souls identify with and conform to religiosities, or the materialistic, atheistic communism mindsets. Our human population is almost a full spectrum dominance of the neurotypical non questioning spiritually blind leading the neurotypical non questioning spiritually blind.

Most of humanity is bound to the infallible blah of the dogmas of the religiosities which are simply institutionalised speculations as to the mystery of life and creation for those who choose not to use their own self same gifts and not question.

We may compare spiritual blindness to being the same as physical blindness in regard the fellow living soul has never had any frame of reference in regard what seeing is, and is at a loss no matter how clever one is to describe the phenomena of sight, the unsighted are at a loss to know what sight is.

Now to share a simple neurodivergent perspective of spiritual sight.

For this neurodivergent it is obvious that it is my living awareness beyond all that I am aware of that is witnessing the wholly see of the living all. So my living spirit is able to be aware of my experience of my inner infinity where in I have my imaginarium where in, I may lay all that is apparent to my senses, with all that is apparent to my memory, and all that is apparent to my imagination for my rationale to process. I am also aware of my shared external infinity where I get to go out engage my senses and experience the physical universe and be in the company of all of everyone else that is doing the same.

So for me being aware of all of everything that my awareness can be aware of is my definition of spirituality.

For the spiritually blind there is certain aspects of our shared wholly Allity that they have either chosen to ignore, or have been groomed to ignore. There is a simple and gentle understanding of what ignorance is, and that is what one chooses to ignore. Because once one chooses not to ignore something they are no longer ignorant of it.

We may be confused as to what something actually is, we may be in a delusion due to logical fallacies, misunderstanding, incorrect assumption, wrong conclusions or faith in misinformation or faith in those who may be grooming a deception, a fraud so to take advantage of ones innocence, to capitalise upon ones' ignorance. The attitude of the management strategy existent upon the blood of our collective social body is exactly an attitude of usury-debt-slavery, that is so obviously a theft of life force from the many so to serve the few. The behaviour of our governing systems during the covidity scam was the biggest transfer of wealth in our history. The absolute true agenda of it all and testimony of the inherent mentality that holds dominance species wide.

The neurotypical world is so all pervasive and all consuming that we can see that the figures suggested as to the number of neurotypical mentality to the neurodivergent is pretty accurate. About 50 to one the formal assessment suggests, although when we ponder those who are living in the very positive end of the Autism spectrum we could guess that this number is more remote.

So speckled through out our human herds across our planet, no matter which race or culture you find yourself in we as a species are all confronted with the very same nuances of mentalities. Not only does the neurotypical have full spectrum dominance, it is also the neurotypical that present the formal definition and description of what a neurodivergent is.

The neurotypical seeks above all else to go along to get along, to fit in, to be accepted by the fellow others, to be one of the crowd. To go against the status quo of accepted belief is not something that is easily considered.

While all this is going on those of the neurodivergent mentality have learned that it is better to simply mimic and mask, just blend in and bring no attention to thine self. The neurotypical mentality is well demonstrated by the attitudes of the vaxxed and mask wearers during the scandemic.

The crowd is very unforgiving when being confronted with truth. So many beings have had there simple gentle peaceful life ended in terror and horror simply because the neurotypical have been groomed to perceive in a certain way. For example we all love our pets and will pet them and cuddle them and treat them like a fellow living soul. But in times gone by this sort of familiarity with a pet would have it identified as your 'witch' familiar and making you the witch that needs to be murdered.

The Crusades and the witch burning's of recent moments is a perfect testimony for identifying the grooming of the population into a psychosis of neurotypical mentality.

Religiosities is the very venue for grooming neurotypical psychosis. For it is this very psychosis which serves the ongoing life of the religiosities. For a religiosity to exist it requires 'Minions'. Minions only know what they have been told to know and act accordingly. The neurotypical minion acts upon what they have been told to know with out questioning. The minion only seeks approval of the authority that has instructed it and its fellow minions so to accept what it is told. As mentioned earlier a minion only thinks as much as is necessary so to not have to think.

The religiosity to produce minions needed to separate the ego from the living soul and create the separated-ego condition. In this state it can further the desire of the minion with the ego masturbation gratification hypnosis which is simply the power trip hierarchical structure of all collective authorities. All institutionalised collectivities of human endeavour naturally form into ego hierarchies. It is easy for these institutions to factor into its structure a pecking order which serves to feed the necessary ego masturbation needed to bring to life a body of minions.

Fancy titles, big pays and costumes in monarchies and religiosities and governments and corporations all serve the ego masturbation gratification hypnosis. In our modern time example of the glorifying of music and acting celebrity is testimony of how the perceived aura of power can be crafted upon an individual and exists as a potent hypnosis upon the minions.

To ensure enough minions exist so to serve the ongoing control by religiosities they had to obscure the obvious logic that the creator is creation creating itself in this now time moment and it is impossible to not be a living experiencing aspect of it and present the notion of god as something separate to the living soul that is distant and can only be accessed only through the agency of church and its priest agents.

It had to obscure the understanding of soul from our logic of knowing that you can not not have one and that you are the self scripter of your own soul and are totally responsible for your every thought act and deed. They had to obscure the logic that the agenda you serve is the karma you earn and replace it with Romans 13. They had to craft the notion that those who wear the costumes and hold the ego positions of clergy, of priest and bishop and rabbi and imam and pope are all closer to 'god' than the lowly mortal.

Religiosity had to also create the notion of salvation through an external saviour like a Jesus so the neurotypical would not look within so to craft, know and own their own love salvation in this mystery of life and creation.

The neurodivergent knows with their whole beingness that they are like every other one of the eight billion fellow living souls inhabiting human form, an extension of the godforce. We are all the created of the creator and as co-creators it is simply our very own personal life adventure which is that which we are here to create. We have all been gifted the self same gifts so to craft our own soul for our evolving our way through the unfolding of the mystery of life and creation. Just as in life we evolve day to day our way of being and our cleverness to be, so also we evolve our life to life in our journey through eternity.

Hurry up and take your time because you have forever on both sides of you,

"Death is not real, even in the Relative sense — it is but Birth to a new life— and You shall go on, and on, and on, to higher and still higher planes of life, for eons upon eons of time. The Universe is your home, and you shall explore its farthest recesses before the end of Time." - Kybalion

Although this is but a speculation, it is also only speculation that it is not so.

There is so much about our wholly reality that is obvious to the neurodivergent but is totally an argument in the negative for the neurotypical. So much so that for so many who exist in the neurodivergent mindscape they see that the way things are is the way things are and there is no point endeavouring to even say anything.

The old addage from the wisdom mystery school was 'To Know, To Dare, To Will and to Keep Silent'. It is this gentle advice that sits as a quiet obviousness for the neurodivergent and it matters not that others do not know what is obvious to the autistic because in their own time they will all eventually come to know themselves. It is simply how the creator works in growing it's know thy selfness. Each to their own.

When each and every spec of consciousness eventually becomes neurodivergent the Creator will know fully itself. What happens next is beyond anyones capacity to imagine. Now this is not to say that the neurodivergent is godlike or above or beyond anyone else, they simply enjoy some givens that allow a ponder beyond so to craft with faith certain speculations.

For this particular neurodivergent it has been astro-theology and the horoscope which has been a useful tool for a personal forensic unpacking of the mystery of life and creation. The interesting function of this tool is that it is not a dogma, it simply offers a science of suggestions upon which one artfully interprets their own mystery.

The whole Age of Aquarius and Age of Pisces has been a useful set of pondering's so to make sense of the world we are in. It has been useful to see immediately the whole formal notions of neurotypical and neurodivergent perspective as a means to give understanding to the strange world we are in.

This last few 'covidity' years of collective psychosis has been the veritable petrie dish of activity for the neurodivergent mind to really see what is going on in the collective macro psychology. Psychology is micro and macro, what exists in a lone personal psyche is all that which can exist in the collective macro psychology. Simple logic alone allows the timeless advice of 'know thyself' as the means to see from micro to macro.

We also can ponder the interesting realm of computer hackers, which are fellow beings who have such an elevated understanding of the patterns that exist to program computers that they can see way beyond the other users. For those of us who are not tech savvy a realm of complex mind boggling code is a barrier for our being able to see certain aspects of the digital universe. For the hacker they enjoy a mindscape that is a little bewildered how it is that every one can not see that which is obvious to them. But they come to know that the way things are is the way things are and accept that they have a clarity not enjoyed by others and can choose to use it for good or for bad. There is many a hacker that can fleece their fellow man, and or fleece the system for easy and sometimes invisible theft. Being a clever hacker does not necessarily mean that the being is wholly intelligent they may be totally techno savvy but not very good.

The same holds true for the neurodivergent enlightenment hacker. Enlightenment is a term thrown around by religiosities as a mysterious aspect of our human possibilities. It is presented as something which is available only to those who have been especially trained or devoted to certain ways of being. Although when demystified we can see that enlightenment and ascension are very simple and obvious aspects of our ongoing spiritual unfolding. Nothing dramatic or difficult or unobtainable for we mere mortals but actually something that exists as a natural birthright for any living soul willing to devote efforts toward these notions.

The only obstacle to the enjoying of enlightenment and ascension for any being is the inherent attitude and opinions being worn in regard to what these things are. As a matter of fact the only real difference between the neurotypical and the neurodivergent is when you boil it all down is attitude and opinion.

Our attitudes and opinions are either our own or have been groomed into us. And then it is an other layer of attitude and opinion within that deals with the attitudes and opinions existent upon ones hard drive. That which has been programmed into the self from family, school, community and society in general.

Our family, our schools, our mainstream science, academia and media all present the neurotypical perception that is expected for everyone to align with.

It takes a living soul which has its inner sense of its innocence focused into its own self as a reality to activate a gumption, a boldness of spirit so to indulge completely into what ones own self considers to be the deep and unshakeable truth of oneself beyond what the world seeks to tell you.

Of course the neurotypical world does not like the neurodivergent questions and is generally united against the neurodivergent. Which of course has the neurodivergent's become prudent as to where and when they express their own difference. Some times it is prudent to just keep your mouth shut and just agree, even though with in you know something to be completely not what you are needing to agree with.

Now of course you will notice I am being quite critical of the neurotypical mentality but as is pointed out so potently and beautifully in this following link the mind of man is a double edged sword. We are also potentially exponential divinity when we are all tuned and focused correctly.

Here witness one of the most beautiful aspects of our being human.

<https://www.bitchute.com/video/1xbfgBi53401/>

here also is a perfect example

<https://cityrocks.eu/videos>

The potential of we all as a species is innocent, and the best description of the 'satanist' mentality I have stumbled upon on the net - is those who have a supreme understanding of the psychology of man and then choose to use it against their fellow man for their advantage of securing wealth, power and control.

The pedophile grooms the innocence of the child so to produce an attitude or opinion in the child that allows the pedo to harvest sexual gratification at the expense of the child. The same creator disrespecting attitude that is in the pedo is in those who are the unjust stewards of the organs of our collective social body - church and state. The neurotypical attitude and opinions of the communistic mindset of governing bodies is materialistic and atheistic - a hate for the notion of creator, an inherent perfidious betrayal of trust of its fellow mankind, the defilement of innocence of its fellow mankind and the destruction of the beauty of creation. The neurotypical institutions fall easily into Debauchery, Corruption and debasement.

debase

dǐ-bās'

verb

1. lower in value by increasing the base-metal content
2. corrupt morally or by intemperance or sensuality
3. corrupt, debase, or make impure by adding a foreign or inferior substance; often by replacing valuable ingredients with inferior ones

The creator as pointed out in an earlier part of this discourse was that it is innocence in its every expression. Why that is, is because the creator would stand back away from interfering with the gift of freewill it has given All, and so necessarily needs to exist as innocence. Innocence in its every form is absolutely vulnerable to freewill.

Wilderness of nature is vulnerable to mankind's freewill, children are at the mercy of the freewill of adults, and our living populations are the innocent masses at the mercy of the freewill of those who command wealth, power and control.

Attitude and opinion is the lens through which freewill is focused.

So is the neurotypical need to conform with out question equate to an inherent lack of courage to live life.

Is the inherent attitude of the neurotypical mentality like the proverbial crabs in a bucket, blind to assisting another to find escape, intent only on pulling everyone back down in to the pit with them.

CHAPTER FOUR

well what is a self when you boil it all down...?

Every body has one, and they are all unique and individual and personal to each and every living soul.

A self arrives to our world in the vessel of a baby and the character and personality becomes apparent to the parents as they all come to know each other day by day.

The realm of astrology and other modes of character skrying exist and one can get a glimpse and a sense of the nature inherent in the living soul that comes from the cosmos when making use of these tools.

Then of course it is the nurture of the nature which then goes on to enhance or diminish the inherent traits of a self. We can only speculate that it is either a bit of a Russian Roulette as they say in regard where one ends up arriving too as an innocent, or it is due directly to that which one has scripted upon their soul from lives previous. Although the spiritually vacuous also subscribe to the speculation that there is no continuance of our awareness after death, that there is no life beyond this one life, you live and you die and that is that.

Which to me does seem a bit counter intuitive, if one only had this one life you would expect one would hold it even more sacred and special.

Some of us have the great fortune to be born to parents who are totally in love with us and provide the ultimate nurture for the evolution of who one truly is.

Some others of us are born into situations that are not necessarily bad but do not fully provide access to resource and moral support to find self enhancements.

Then there are those of us who are born to situations of distinct disadvantage where one has to suffer all manner of horrible situations which may either destroy ones spirit or be the tempering necessary so to activate a powerful spirit.

In all of these situations self's are either active or passive in themselves and may have a situation where a passive self in a very supportive nurture still does not access enhancement, and other active self's who arrive in horrible situations who grow and find their full power from the experience.

So it seems that it is the inherent attitude in all self's that may either have one come to full bloom or not.

Attitude is Everything – so says Nike Shoes.....

So any of us, with our self pondering these phenomena of our ex-is-tense, may or may not find what we are looking for.

So what are we looking for as a self when confronted with the observation of being alive navigating the unfolding of the mystery of life and creation.

Now having said that, there are many self's out there who would not even begin to ponder this notion of navigating the unfolding of the mystery of life and creation.

For many self's their self although with its own unique nature will be shaped and directed by the unfolding of what life has delivered in regard the sort of family one is in, their attitudes and opinions, the sort of schooling one receives, its attitudes and opinions, the sort of culture and community one is in and its attitudes and opinions. A passive self will absorb and become what 'Is' it's world.

So in light of what has been shared in this particular ponder of the Autist, we can see we either will passively accept the neurotypical world and its mentality as that which we are content to embody and express. Or we will be the Autist or Selfist who more actively feels a sense that there is more to the puzzle of life than the neurotypical world is presenting for our acceptance.

The neurotypical world and mentality dominates and pretty well has full spectrum dominance for us all, and so those who have the nature to be Autist will find themselves to be the proverbial 'fish out of water', 'a stranger in a strange world', or in the 'I do not belong to this planet' sort of vibe.

Let us explore the word 'existence' to sly a look into the dilemma we are all confronted with although most will not see exists.

What is is – is something we say when there is nothing that can be done about some situations we find ourselves in.

when we leave a state or condition of being in an 'is' we are in an 'ex-is' or a 'not-is' state. Then by our being in a not 'is' state we experience a tension this is what existence is all about – dealing with the tensions of not being in the state of is-ness.

The state of is-ness does not have much press in regard what it might be and how one might enjoy access to it.

But when pondered upon it looks to be innocence that presents the state and condition of being in the 'is'.

When we are in the state of being in our 'is-tense' we are conscious of the reality of being our self as a self in our self, not as or in existence, but in aloneness resulting from our own personal intentional dis-attachment of our self from the illusions of nature/maya.

'I am' is the only truth all else is illusion

We due to being alive and growing up and evolving into our shared-external-infinity leave our innocence and come into the responsibility of being in life with all the many others and our entering into the commerce of will between living souls.

Here in we meet the tensions of our commerce of will. We all have life force and we all require to have resource so to continue to survive, and we require purpose and meaning to fuel our desire to be.

The immediate tensions we might ponder are the tensions met between our usury of our will and its impact upon another. Our taking liberty to use our will may create a negative effect upon some other and we require to negotiate consent so to honourably commerce our will.

It is every man and woman for themselves at the portal of d'eath as each and every living soul is solely responsible for the soul they have crafted for arrival to the portal.

To extend upon this ponder of self we may browse the works of Harold Waldwin Percival – Thinking and Destiny - and James Mahu – The Sovereign Integral -

the I am that is each and everyone who has living awareness regardless of being human or anything else exists as a speck of the infinite ocean of consciousness so we All as an I am are Consciousness and what does these two men suggest that consciousness is - consciousness ex-is-ts to be the most profound of all mysteries.

*Consciousness is the infinite, omnipresent, omnipotent, incorporeal,

Consciousness is the Divine Ground of all Being.

Consciousness is the ultimate and final reality.

Consciousness is the very presence of which all things are conscious. Without which nothing can be conscious and no one could think, no entity, no form, no unit could perform its function.

Consciousness does not act in any way, it is a presence, it is present everywhere and it is because of it's presence that all things are conscious in whatever degree they are conscious.

Consciousness is not a cause and it can not be moved or used in any way, or affected by anything.

Consciousness is not the result of anything, nor does it depend on anything. It does not decrease or diminish, expand, extend, contract or change or vary in any way. Although there are countless degrees in any speck being conscious. There are no degrees OF consciousness, no planes, no states, no grades, no divisions, or variations of any sort; it is the same everywhere and in all things, from the consciousness of world leaders to the consciousness of check out chicks, from a primordial nature unit to being the Supreme Intelligence.

Consciousness has no properties, no qualities, no attributes, it does not possess, it cannot be possessed.

Consciousness never began, it can not cease to be.
Simply because Consciousness Just Is.

Consciousness is elusive to the measurements and detection's of science, because it is perfectly subjective and meta rational.

For any Speck of consciousness as an 'I am', anywhere, anyhow anytime in the universe and beyond, there is not one speck of conscious awareness that is the same as any other speck. All specks may have similar experiences within the mysterium but each one has, their own unique individual personal experience as perspectives.

Consciousness is unique in every life form, and every single life form gives Consciousness the dubious distinction of being the most difficult thing to map or make explicit due to the two halves of it's reality, it is infinite complexity and perfect subjectivity.

So from here let us explore the notion of sovereignty

it is our primary aspect of self

To be sovereign is simply to exist in a state where one controls their own thoughts, emotions and actions. In yoga it would be called poise or a re-aquainting with our mysterious freewill relationship with utter goodness.

When we bring these facets of our being into unity/non-contradiction/a discrimination-with-attitude then one may develop/evolve mastery of ones own being conscious. There-by attaining some degree of self control, self mastery, self-ownership.

If we do not wear an inner sense of sovereignty we wear inner anarchy, no internal ruler ship of our life adventure. This state may lead to confusions, delusions, fear and ignorance, depression, we may become a slave to something or someone, some external authority. To wear internal authority is to be the author of your life adventure. To be under an external authority, it becomes author of your life adventure. Note also that one may be sovereign in their beingness and exist in our human family as one who serves.

True Sovereignty is humble it has no subjects, other than its awareness is, it is subject to the laws of the universe, and all in the sovereign individuals presence is subject to that which it emits as its ethic, its ethos of being the fractal of creation and like the nature character and intent of creation seeks to know itself. Like creation a fractal of creation emits its portion of the mystery of the impulse to live so to affect all knowing All.

The universe just bees alive and stuff happens and feels it in its heart. There is enormous heartwarming contentment in serving the fellow cells of our organism. Sovereign is disposition of being open, honest, ethical, honourable , correct and in the fact. Sovereign has nothing to hide and has no concern for secrets or privacy. Sovereign is honour in commerce, it is the acceptor and the conditional acceptor. Sovereign is good, Sovereign is authority, Sovereign is good authority. Sovereign is intelligent co-operation, Sovereign is to utter good authority.

IN our human narratives we have crafted the notions of some profound beings who would come under the category of displaying the qualities of the sovereign individual- the budda, the jesus, the muhammad, the krisna the Quetzalcoatl etcetera, all deified/worshipped for qualities that we may call sovereign. From our (ab)originality the likes of gaia-sohpia, pan and venus the the earth, the sun, the stars the All . Sovereign is the integrity of any of these beings and is what we expect will be the expression eventually of our whole organism humanity.

The amazing journey of coming to understand the whole concept of sovereignty is multi faceted and the further you look into the subject the deeper and more profound it becomes, whilst becoming ridiculously simple. There are many perceptions of the word sovereign and growing stereo types demonising some beings who are in the early stages of expressing their early understandings of the concept. There are many amazing fellow members of our human family who in their own special areas of focus bring to life each aspect of these multi facets. Sovereignty potentially is the universe and everything in it. Sovereignty is paradoxical by virtue of it being synonymous with innocence and at the mercy of the free will of others.

Chapter Five

Divide and Conquer or Individuation

The notion of individuation as mentioned earlier is having no division in the self, being in a wholeness, being in a unity or a singularity.

The notion of our being the Singularity of the Universe in its process of reconciling the conflicts inherent in the fractals of its beingness and it coming to 'know thy self'. The inherent conflict of gender-ing is the nature of the living Universe, and for a Universe to be, it simply requires to do so. Division and its consequent conflicts are simply a necessary part of ex-is-tense.

Also as mentioned earlier is the notion of 'attitude' and 'opinion'. Let us break down these words - attitude = at - it - you - down; and o - pin - I - on. So in making usury of ones ridiculizer we can say opinion and attitude is simply how I may pin on a notion as to how I arrive at the it-ness of all the rest of creation that is not me and bring 'you' down to earth. Ponder a simple understanding of 'you' meaning all that which is not 'me'. The personal act of dividing the wholeness of creation so it may align with how I innerstand and understand it all.

Our attitudes and opinions are an interesting dynamic that are coloured by the diversity of creation and how we are in relationship with our particular experience of the unfolding of the mystery. They do not always serve us as you may have noticed in your own life adventure. There are many nuances of attitude and opinion that when put under the spotlight of critical analysis may need to be adjusted so to better serve our unfolding. It is interesting to note for those of we all who may indulge in mind and mood alteration substances, how some of we all call it - attitude adjustment.

This whole body of ponder I have called - 'Is the Autist Off With The Faeries' is in fact my own personal ponder into the notion of my being in the process of individuation and have been for my whole life. My watching the youtube content of beings who have described themselves as being self diagnosed autist adults that have found themselves to be embodied with the traits of being described by the 'neurotypical' world as being 'neurodivergent'.

Let us ponder the difference between the neurotypical and the neurodivergent, to begin we might ponder the concepts of duality and polarity. We may perceive duality as the situation where the extremes of any opposites sit apart from each other and discriminate against each other. Whereas we would hold the capacity of polarity as the means to have the extremes discriminating with each other so to work together and solve together the mystery of life and creation.

Discriminate against or discriminate with, both situations make usury of our soul antenna capacity to discriminate but each creates a different dynamic.

In a word - attitude.

We may ponder also the neurotypical and neurodivergent as the difference between the one who is in the process of individuation as opposed to one who is in the process of division.

Our world demonstrates the dominance of the neurotypical mentality of division. We see that our governments over all history and to today grant our collective life force to the divide and conquer mentality of the military industrial complex. The neurotypical mentality of division seeks not only to divide but to profit from division.

Simply ponder the license granted the corporations that profit from war and the obscene profits of making and dropping a bomb to murder. The attitude of rape and pillage is the ultimate expression of division, mankind over history has stolen the efforts of others for themselves. Warlords invade and steal the homes and life of others. Divide and conquer.

We do not need to look far to explore the attitudes and opinions of those who grant themselves license to profit from divide and conquer. The neurotypical mentality is highlighted by the satanic, the luciferian and the mammon mentalities.

Everything Stolen Is Cursed.

Division as a mentality puts the neurotypical mind into compartmentalisation. Remember all com and con words indicate a contract with, in this word it is a contract with a 'part'. The fixation of the mind dividing the wholeness of creation into parts.

This is how its' armies of minions are equipped with thinking how they are told to think, and being equipped with the attitudes and opinions necessary so the controllers may maintain control.

By virtue of our universe being gendered into every opposite you can imagine has it that there will be conflict between the elements, modes and gender of creation.

This is what commerce is about, com indicates contracting with 'mer' the ocean of human emotion, and 'ce' to judge. So commerce is to judge the collective ocean of emotion in our contracting. We navigate the difficult weather of our emotions together as we meet our conflict of will between each other. So our honourable commerce of will as measured by the scales of 'justice' jus is law and ce is to judge, 't' is very much like the proverbial cross that the jesus died upon, is the symbol of the man being nailed to the cross of matter, fire air water and earth, and 'I' myself. So to unpack the word 'justice' = my individual self judges the law of conflict of our elemental universe.

Our fundamental conflict we meet as an individual is our will and the will of others.
The meeting of consent, or contracting with that which is sent, either sent from me or sent from you.

So we may ponder the notion of attitude is everything as pointed out by the shoe nike, we may co-exist in an attitude of dealing with the inherent nature of the conflicts necessary so a gendered universe may unfold in a unity of singularity evolving our collective individuation; or we continue in our divide and conquer as crabs in a pot pulling each other down so no-one can ascend.

The change of attitude necessary can only happen in the individual.

The wheel of the horoscope assists our ponder of the nature of conflict

the conflicts exist between

I am and We are
I have and We have
I think and We think
I feel and We feel
I will and We will
I do and We do

Chapter Six

Me Myself and I

The practical pragmatic ponder of :Spirit, Soul and Ego – definition.

Practical means being able to be put into practice; and pragmatic is the fine art of doing the best you can with what you have where you are with who you are with.

We have living awareness by virtue of our being aware of being alive, regardless of what it is we read from our senses, regardless of what might be correct or incorrect about what we may read from our senses we are able to hold awareness of. That which we hold awareness of we may figure how to make use of. That is the power of our rational, discerning, discriminating, deductive, inductive capacity to reason. This with our imagination and our freewill to do so are the three prominent gifts given we all by the mystery of life and creation.

This following definition of spirit soul and ego, these nuances of all who hold awareness is but a ponder and does not need to be right or wrong.
Simply a poetic attempt to divide the indivisible.

The dimensionality of the three ness, or the trinity as some religiosities identify, is the cognition that as an awareness and a being we are all in our individual aspect a 'we'.

Me, Myself and I is the three-ness of the mystery which befalls the awareness of any who may ponder so. Three nuances of experience that our immortal awareness enjoys in this dimensionality of existence.

Much speculation, from across the wholly see of the awareness of our species, exists for cognising the very essences of the difference of these aspects of our being-ness.

So let us ponder it all from that which we might all be able to relate to,

let us forensically unpack

Me - Myself - I

Myself	Me	I I am
innocence	Living expression	Conscious awareness conscience
Soul	Ego	Spirit
Id	Ego	Super Ego
have	am	will

FROM Google =

The concept of the three divisions of the psyche - id - ego - superego.

Was introduced by Sigmund Freud an Austrian neurologist and founder of psychoanalysis. These three components are considered to be the fundamental structures of the human psyche, working together to shape an individuals behaviour, thoughts and emotions.

Id: the id is the most primitive and instinctual part of the psyche, responsible for our basic needs, desires and impulses. It operates on the 'pleasure principle', seeking immediate gratification and avoiding pain. The id is driven by the unconscious mind and is not concerned with social norms, morality or reality.

Ego: the ego is the rational and logical part of the psyche, responsible for mediating between the demands of the id and the demands of the external world. It operates on the 'reality principle' seeking to balance the id's desires with the demands of reality. The ego is concerned with self preservation, self protection and social adaptation.

Superego: the superego is the moral component of the psyche, responsible for our sense of right and wrong, morality and ethics. It operates on the 'Ideal principle' striving for perfection and moral purity. The superego is developed through socialisation and is influenced by cultural and societal norms.

ME- is our living ego expression

This aspect of beingness is with the simple awareness of being and the impetus to live in a particular fashion of uniqueness, our expressing the mystery of life and creation in our own personal life adventure. So for this exercise of identifying these three nuances of our beingness one and all let us employ the understanding that in the 'me, myself and I model' the 'me' bit is my Ego, the mysterious fractal of creation that expresses the impetus to live and enter into the creation that confronts 'we', and unfolds moment by moment about 'we'. Ego is the mystery of creation and life that every awareness expresses as an innocent wonder as to what and why is life, where from do we come, what potentials exist for we, what are my hopes and desires, what happens to me when I die?

'Me' also identifies that it is our sexual energy, persuasion and desires that is a living expression of our spirit. The how and where our sexuality seeks earth reveals where and how we are up to in the evolution of the relationship of our id, ego and super-ego, my 'me, myself and I'.

The greater the separation from nature and self the greater the deviations for the earthing of this pure raw mysterious impetus. Herein we may suggest it is from our 'me' which is where our innocence expresses from.

Me is the entity through which ones innocence, ones id, ones soul expresses.

I'd soul innocence expressing through the entity of me is my I'd-entity

Id-entity versus Identity

it is amazing the difference a hyphen makes - when we separate 'Id' from 'entity' and then go on to identify an id entity as opposed to an Identity we are confronted with two very different status and standings.

The online dictionary defines id as being one of three divisions of our living psyche in psychoanalytic theory that is completely unconscious and is the source of psychic energy derived from instinctual needs and drives.

Then when we ponder separately the meaning of 'entity' it suggests - BEING / EXISTENCE especially independent, separate or self-contained existence : the existence of a thing as contrasted with its attributes. 2 - something that has separate and distinct existence and objective or conceptual reality like an organisation such as a business or government unit, that has an identity separate from those of its members. So as a living soul we may ponder our living awareness as being separate from our incorporation - in the state or condition of being in a corpse, to be embodied.

Now lets look at the meaning of 'Identity'

a: the distinguishing character or personality of an individual - our individuality

b: the relation established by psychological identification

c: the condition of being the same with something described or asserted

- as in to establish the 'identity' of stolen goods.

d: sameness of essential or generic character in different instances

e: sameness in all that constitutes the objective reality of a thing : ONENESS

I-identity meaning

I- dent - to dent is to go from the is-ness of be-ing-ness into the shared external infinity and express/impress as a particulent of the mystery of creation. 'ity' is in the state or condition of.

In the state or condition of expressing and impressing as a particulent upon the mystery of life and creation.

so 'identity' we may say identify s ones living spirit, the impetus of intent.

and id - entity is that which is the innocent expression of our embodiment.

The identity is defining the unique attributes of the id + entity.

It is the who 'I am' as a 'me' with a 'myself'.

MYSELF- innocence as soul and I d.

This aspect of beingness is with the body of experience stockpiled as the living his-story/her-story. The soul is the inert recorder of each and every nuance of each and every experience ever absorbed/soaked-in/received. Thine every thought, act and deed.

Quantum Physics calls this state the informed field intelligence, the intelligence which wholds all your atoms together so you appear as you. Actually everything and anything which holds form in the universe has an informed field. This informed field an ever evolving potentia in life and the captured alteration of that potentia when not in life.

This is Myself, Me has a self and it calls it Myself.....it belongs to me as the sum total of all I have ever been. The soul is synonymous with innocence as it is at the complete mercy of that which free will scripts upon it.

Soul is the story of the life adventure 'I' live it is the narrative of the life adventure 'I am' crafting.

Practically we may identify our soul as simply being the sum total of all we have ever been right up to the particular moment we ponder so. Our body is the sum total of all we have been and done since birth and like wise the structure of our living character is the sum total of all we have come to know understand and believe.

The attitudes and opinions worn into our life adventure all emit from the sum total of our body and character.

When we involve with the evolve of our Soul as the sum total of all we have ever been we may plan to deliberately install skills, abilities, habits into our way of being, this conscious awareness and conscious involve with the evolve of soul is where we meet our 'I am'. The colour, texture, vibe, nature, form and attitude of what has been recorded as soul colours, the textures, vibes, natures, forms and attitudes of what I am yet to be.

For example if you are liking the idea of evolving more musician like as a living soul, then the discipline of learning music would be good to have as some thing you are recording into the passive receptiveness of your body and character. Something you with free will practice. An example of a practical conscious involve with the evolve of ones' soul.

As a passive receiver the soul exists beyond conscience and simply records the movie of who I am.

All aspects of our beingness which is our living expression coming from our unconscious, a more ethereal part of our living psyche that comes from that part of we all that looks after the pumping of the heart, the making and delivering of hormones and other life chemistry, all those things that happen in our body that we do not require to devote any conscious attention too and so likewise those things which are going on in our mind-field that we do not devote any conscious attention too. We just express from our inherent attitudes and opinions, our hopes and dreams and way of being.

Unless of course we self reflect and consciously adjust these aspects of our being.

All of this expressed from the unconscious realm of instinct, intuition and creativity are what in the psychological world is call the 'id' part of our being.

So my 'id' expresses through my living body as my ego expression which is at one with my living body and expresses the entity that I am either consciously or unconsciously.

So me and my are two separate conditions of state,

I am me, and my is what I have and I will.

I am the ego, I have a soul and spirit wills from me.

I- as super-ego and conscious involve with evolve of soul

The I bit is the fromness of where all that I have ever been is being.

The living impetus behind the intent of thy will.

I is also eye phonetically.

So for this exercise it is our I-ness which we may identify as our Spirit. And it is spirit living through our ego where E go out in the world. ~ I am this! I am that! The ego is the interface between myself the innocent soul of the mystery of life and creation and 'I am' is the willed conscious participation.

Then it is the experience of participation with the unfolding mystery which is recorded and understood as myself or soul, And it is through soul, or the sum total of all 'I' have come to know, which the spirit of the I-ness accumulates as all that which it may become conscious of and in its contract with our 'science of being' the rationale, becomes our conscience. So I = super-ego, that conscious and conscience part of our beingness that may inform/craft freewill.

E-motion = energy in motion, E-go = energy going.

The I-ness is vulnerable to illusion, incorrect assumption, wrong conclusions, logical fallacies, self importance. I-ness is the essence of our inner child innocence which is vulnerable to corruption by any ill will of the others we meet in our shared external infinity, by our trusting nature, by our naivety, by our gullibility, by our wishful thinking, by our wanting to have and hold solution to the mystery we find our selves traversing.

Ego in its evolution so to discover itself has had to separate from itself. The separated ego is operating disconnected from the true self connection to the universe in the inner infinity. Evidence of this has been, beings seeking connection to the source of the mystery they are, by looking to the notion traders in the shared external infinity, the speculation institutions marketing the ego world as they being the agent for your connection to the mystery. Churchiosity presenting itself as the agency and its priests as the agents for your connection to source.

All of everything in our human-world upon our living-planet is the expression of the collective mind of our species. This is the collective ego expression and impression of our collective-species-organism-mankind. Our species-organism-mankind expresses in multiple core ethnicity through infinite cultures collective and individual. The observable behaviour across our species allows anthroposophical survey of where our collective ego is at. From this perspective all we may observe in our world is a collective ego game fully equipped with costumes, hierarchies, celebrity, glamour, prestige, ceremony, self-importance, separation from nature, separation from true human nature, jealousy, greed, lust, avarice, apathy, addiction, suicide, fight struggle and war.

As a Phool one watches it all like a soap opera and surveys the entirety for the overall expression of the collective ego and ponders the content. The revelation of the nature of the collective ego is an ongoing investigation which weighs up the expressions of ideas, illusions, delusions, disrespect, harm, injury and criminality against expressions of respect, enlightenment, cooperation, conscious co creation, symbiotic love dance of our genders with our erotic exotic planet. To do this simply watch any television any where and witness the living testimony of where our collective ego is at as a collective species body. The voice and mind of the collective separated ego hidden in plain sight across the television screens across our planet.

Any particular beingness wears a human form the thing, the life vessel carrying the cargo of the condition of the thinking from one position to an other. We anchor our beingness in various positions in our see of space, and it is at anchorage where we experience the dynamic interaction of all sub-stance - Commerce

So far

Me = living ego expression

Myself = innocence as soul and I'd

I = spirit and super-ego and the potentia of conscious awareness, conscience.
