Environmental notice for Alaska

Guests are politely reminded of the need to respect the environment when going ashore in Alaska. Please dispose of all garbage responsibly and bring anything back to the ship that you cannot dispose of properly ashore. Please also take every precaution to avoid any matter from falling over the ship's side and if you do see something, please report it to a crew member.

Noise restrictions in Alaska

In order to respect local communities and to preserve the tranquility of Alaskan ports, ships are not permitted to make open deck announcements or provide any live entertainment or music on open decks whilst alongside, during sail-in and sailaway.

United States department of Agriculture notice

Local regulations prohibit the removal of food items from the vessel. Items that cannot be removed includes fresh fruit and vegetables, meat of any kind, prepared meals including sandwiches, dairy products or any other consumable food items, flowers, seeds or plants.

Wheelchair assistance

Guests are kindly reminded that wheelchair assistance, if required, will be provided to assist guests on and off the gangway only. As per the terms and conditions stated in the Cunard brochure, guests must be able to make their own way to the transportation on the pier or be accompanied by a travel companion who is able to assist them.

In the port of Haines, Alaska, USA

Arrival time: 7.00am | All aboard time: 8.30pm

Port Highlights

From historic forts and sculpture gardens to native art and Tlingit history, Haines is a celebration of Alaska's culture and heritage. Located at the top of Lynn Canal, one of the world's longest fjords, Haines occupies an area of natural beauty so picturesque you will be reaching for your camera at every opportunity. Soaring peaks, sweeping forests and expansive lakes add to the city's infinite charm, while local distilleries, Tlingit culture and wildlife encounters offer just a taste of what you will discover in port.

Haines unlocks scenery quite unique to this part of the world and you will find no shortage of ways to take it in. From guided mountain climbing and nature walks to glacier trekking, sea kayaking and flightseeing, the possibilities for outdoor adventures in Haines are far-reaching. Close to port you will find Fort William H. Seward, the last of 12 military forts built during the Klondike Gold Rush and named after the man who secured Alaska's purchase from the Russians. While many of the officer's residences have been turned into private housing, the once military hospital is now an arts centre and information boards impress insightful nuggets about the fort's historical significance. Join a fishing expedition to Chilkoot Lake or spend an afternoon bouncing between the city's independent galleries. Haines enjoys a rich local art scene and museums you won't find anywhere else, such as the Hammer Museum with its 2000 exhibits dedicated to this common DIY tool. A visit to the American Bald Eagle Foundation will introduce you to several species of this majestic bird up close, or join a guided wildlife tour for a chance to sight some of Alaska's native creatures, perhaps even a distant brown bear, while enjoying more of the area's spellbinding scenery.

Visiting Alaska

A Note from the Naturalist

Haines is home to the Chilkat River, a corridor that brings an abundance of wildlife into the region. Bald eagles congregate in huge numbers along the Chilkat River banks and moose are also frequently sighted in the area too. Moose first migrated into the area via the Chilkat valley in the 1920s and since then, they have successfully dispersed throughout this region.

Did you know?

Within Alaska, more than 3,000 rivers have been mapped and it is estimated that there are more than 3 million lakes across the state.

Protecting Alaska

Guests are politely reminded of the need to respect the environment when going ashore in Alaska. Please dispose of all garbage responsibly and bring anything back to the ship that you cannot dispose of properly ashore.

The Alaska Outpost Desk

Naturalist, Dr Rachel Cartwright will be in the Garden Lounge tomorrow on Deck 9, midships, for all your questions about Alaska.
