Agathos

ANNUAL NEWSLETTER 2024

This year, Agathos has continued to empower pastors and church leaders across Argentina, Ecuador, Uruguay, and Peru, fostering growth in both urban and rural contexts. Our team has developed original courses, such as “Why the Bible?” and “Faith and Work”, which address foundational and practical aspects of ministry. In collaboration with City to City Latam and Thirdmill Seminary, we launched a “Faith and Work Series” that will soon be utilized throughout Latin America, bridging theology and vocational discipleship. The year also featured a meaningful staff retreat, where our team reflected on the mission and planned for the future.

Throughout this past year, “The Basics of the Christian Life”, TGI's original discipleship course, remained a cornerstone for spiritual growth, serving as the primary methodology for the Salvation Army in Memphis, TN. The course has produced fruit, with powerful testimonies of men dedicating their lives to Christ. Faithful leaders from Grace Evangelical Church of Germantown, TN have continued to lead weekly sessions every Monday night, fostering deep spiritual connections.

Additionally, Innovation Church in Memphis studied the course for the third time, equipping their leaders with a solid foundation for discipleship and ministry.

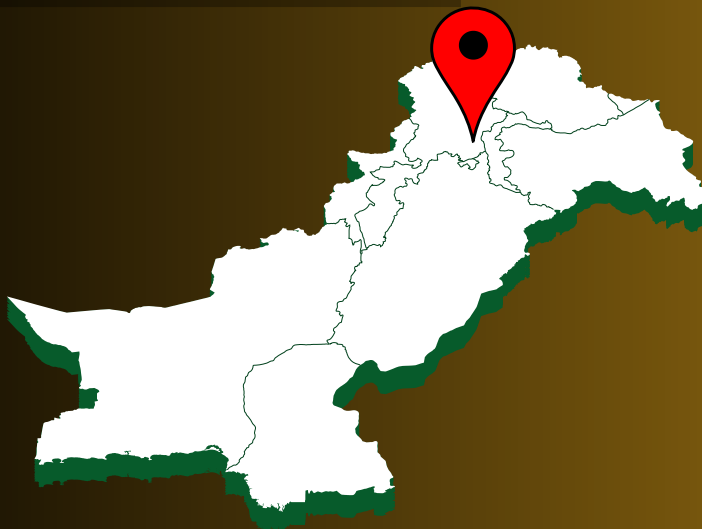

In 2024, Freedom continued its transformative work with follow-up trips to Uganda, supporting facilitators and strengthening educational and holistic initiatives. Progress also advanced on the production of video courses in Luganda, scheduled to launch in March 2025, offering accessible, contextualized resources to local communities. Looking ahead, preparations are underway for Freedom Fest Tanzania, set to begin on February 3, 2025, promising to be a significant event for celebrating and expanding the mission throughout Tanzania.

This year marked a significant milestone for the Harvest Initiative with the establishment of a formal partnership with a long-time ministry leader native to Pakistan who has faithfully served the region for many years. Construction is underway on a mission house designed to train and equip pastors for ministry. The basement will be soundproof, providing a safe space for students to learn without fear of persecution. The vision for this mission house is clear: to prepare pastors and send them to every corner of Pakistan, spreading the Good News with boldness and faith.

With Gratitude

As we reflect on 2024, we are overwhelmed with gratitude for your faithful support of The Grace Institute. Through your generous giving, you have played a vital role in advancing God's kingdom across the globe.

Because of you, we have been able to train church leaders with God's Word, construct buildings that lay the foundation for future growth, and create transformative courses that equip pastors and leaders for more comprehensive learning. Your contributions have also allowed us to pay salaries to a global team—some of whom have received a salary for the first time in their lives—empowering them to care for their families and serve their communities and ministries with unwavering dedication.

Your financial partnership is not just a gift. It's an investment in God's work. Whether it's equipping pastors in Latin America, supporting facilitators in Uganda, building a mission house in Pakistan, or bringing hope through discipleship in Memphis, your generosity is fueling these efforts.

Thank you for standing with us in this mission. Your commitment to your financial role enables us to press on with faith, purpose, and joy, knowing that together, we are making an eternal impact.
