Enrollment and participation in any Weekend Retreat Programs delivered by RemedyBlox is governed in accordance to THESE TERMS & CONDITIONS listed herein. It is imperative that before anyone registers for any Retreat Program offered by RemedyBlox that they read these Terms and Conditions carefully. If at any time one does not agree with the following TERMS of USE or CONDITIONS in part or in full, then they should not proceed with completing a registration request for the retreat programs which RemedyBlox offers in Canada and the US. If at any time one proceeds to register for a Weekend Retreat Program with the intention to attend in person then that shall constitute as these Terms of Use and Conditions having been read in their entirety and have been also understood and agreed to by every registrants that attends a RemedyBlox Weekend Retreat Programs.

Participation in any RemedyBlox' Weekend Empowerment Retreat is restricted to adults 19 years and older due to the sensitive and adult appropriate content being covered throughout the program event. Retreats are structured to accommodate up to 20 participants with a minimum of 12 registrants per event program. The all-inclusive weekend retreats are typically offered over a 3 days and 2 nights stay at the retreat venue location (unless otherwise specified in advance) and typically scheduled to start on a Friday afternoon and end by Sunday afternoon.

Retreats are offered across Canada and the USA – and venue locations and dates are selected according to advanced expressed interest by at least 12 persons. Meaning if we receive interest for a particular retreat program (e.g., “Dealing with a Difficult Divorce”) where the majority of individuals looking to attend that retreat are located in the North West part of Canada and wanting to attend in the Spring - then the retreat venue to be secured might be in Banff, British Columbia during the month of March. Conversely if majority of US registrants who contact us are located in the North West part of the continent and the majority want to attend in the Fall – then the venue location and date to be secured might be in September at a venue located perhaps in Big Sky, Montana. Booking of any venue location is also contingent on availability by the venue which is why we encourage those interested to attend a particular retreat program to register early on. That being said, for those who do not have a preference for a date or location of where a particular weekend retreat program may be held – we encourage them to reach out to us in writing to discuss them attending that Retreat Program instead.

Each retreat is held at 5-Star venues that offer a luxurious serene hotel resort setting and a spa atmosphere conducive to the holistic retreat program goal where activities are structured to offer healing and rejuvenating to the participants' body, mind and soul.

Due to the sensitive and private nature of some of the particular topics of discussion at our retreats we have privacy measures put in place to afford each participant with an enhanced level of anonymity and confidentiality during their resort stay to allow for open dialogue and opportunity to speak freely.

We also offer participants with the option of using an "alias" for their first name throughout their participation in the retreat program if they wish to keep their identify private. Furthermore, to protect participants' privacy we also require that no personal mobile phones or any other mobile devices equipped with recording by audio or video to be brought inside any program or group sessions or activities that RemedyBlox holds at the resort.
