Regional Reports

Region A:

Dare County has two vacancies, possibly three. They are accepting applications on-line.

Pitt County current has two vacancies.

Currituck County has one vacancy. They plan on upgrading their phone system and components in 2014.

SHP has frozen all telecommunicator positions indefinitely.

Region B: no report.

Region C: no report.

Region D:

Susan Fulton, High Point manager, will be retiring April 1st.

Wesley Reid reported that Craig Whittington retires at the end of this month. They are in the middle of the second phase of P25. They just went live with ACD. Percentiles were 92-93% answering within 10 seconds. They have been at 100% since going live with ACD. They are upgrading their OSSI CAD.

Jonathon Bledsoe with Surry County reported they are fully staffed.

Ellis Frazier with Yadkin County reported they received responses for their radio system. They are potentially looking at next generation 9-1-1.

Dale Hall with Stokes County reported they will move to their new location on March 13th.

Janet King reported Randolph County recently hired three part-time Telecommunicators.

Region E:

Greg Foster, the Communications Director for Alexander County Sheriff's Office reports no major news regarding operations at their 9-1-1 Center; however, he does report that their new Sheriff's Law Enforcement Center and 164-bed Detention Center opened last week.

Lt Ray Gilleland with the Cabarrus County Sheriff's Office reported that their go live date for the new P-25 system is scheduled for April 8. Cabarrus County has also hired two new employees for their 9-1-1 center.

Marsha Withrow reported Charlotte Fire was fully staffed for 2 weeks – they now have openings. They are remodeling with three more positions. This will make 11 and they will be maxed out. MEDIC used to be the 2nd link in the 9-1-1 rollover and now Charlotte Fire will be – they are closer. They are also becoming the county warning point for the nuclear warning system.

Iredell County Emergency Management Director, David Martin, reports that they have recently gone live with their Patriot Switch a few months ago. As part of that process they installed a geodiverse system with one Node operating from their Communications Center, with the second node hosted by Statesville Police Department.

MEDIC will be doing complete remodel of the communications center coming within the next few months. During that time, staff will be co-located at the Police/Fire Training Academy to facilitate the construction. The QI Department continues to tweak the EMD OMEGA referral program, while the total number of referrals to Carolinas Medical Center or Novant nurse lines continues to be a success in triaging some of the lowest priority 911 calls.

Another initiative that MEDIC is working on in conjunction with the American Heart Association, Carolinas Medical Center and Novant, is a goal to train 5,000 people in chest compression CPR by the end of 2014. This has been an agency wide initiative, with several staff members from the communications division assisting the PR Department in providing these community CPR classes.

Rob Robinson with Rowan County will be offering tours of the new 9-111 Center after today's meeting.

Respectfully submitted,
