1. What are your general impressions of Deadly Homecoming at Rosemont?
2. How did the interplay of Wrenn's personal life with her search for a solution to the two crimes affect the story?
3. Were the two mysteries successfully woven together? At what point in the mystery did you begin to suspect the crimes were connected?
4. Wrenn is a historian and a journalist writing historical articles for the local newspaper. How did history enhance the mystery? Were the town's historic past and its historic buildings vividly described?
5. Were the supporting characters and Havens resident—Clayton Addison, Wilkie Summer, Ruby Griswald, Mayor Tallmadge, Lucy Matthews, Penny Skillings, Georgie Crandall, Frank Elmore, and Sherrie Lippincott—a nice mix? Which characters would you like to see move forward with the series?
6. Were Wrenn and Gideon well matched as lovers, given their individual pasts?
7. In what respects did Havens project a valid Midwestern town?
8. Which clues surprised you when they were revealed? Which clues presented themselves as such immediately?
9. Who did you suspect were the villain(s) before Wrenn reasoned it out? Why?
10. Were all the threads of the murder, theft, and Wrenn's personal life resolved to your satisfaction?
