SAVE CAMA BEACH CABINS

Do you miss having the cabins open and seeing visitors excited about the park, Camano Island, and Stanwood? Does your business miss the income from tourists? Does your family miss the fun educational events at the park? There is a new group forming to reopen the cabins.

Save Cama Beach Cabins group is asking the Washington State Legislature for funding to repair the septic and water systems so the cabins can be used again. A website with more information will be available soon. They need your help to contact the Governor and your State Legislators to urge their support for this effort so the Cama Beach cabins can be reopened for all of us.

Bicycle helmets have been shown to reduce the risk of head injury and the risk of brain injury

75% of bicycle-related fatalities among children could be prevented with a bicycle helmet

Children ages 10-14 are at a greater risk for traumatic brain injury because helmet use declines as children age

TUESDAY, JUNE 10

3D PRINTING FOR TEENS: CUSTOM COASTERS

3:00 PM – 5:00 PM at the Stanwood Library. Learn how to design your own personalized item to 3D print. We'll be exploring the ins and outs of Tinkercad to help you create your own unique coaster with your personal insignia, name, or gamer tag on it. These items will be perfect to add some flair to your gaming space or desk. Tinkercad is a free, web-based 3D modeling program that's easy to use and great for beginners. We'll also walk you through the basic components of a 3D printer, how to prepare a finished design to be printed, and how to send it. The 3D printer will be in full operation as we discuss the basics of 3D printing so every participant can see it in action. You can return the following week to pick up your creations! Teens and tweens ages 9 - 17 are welcome to attend.

Maximizing Your Home's Value in Today's Market

In today's housing market, research shows that there are 3 top questions that homeowners have when getting ready to sell their home.

- #1. How to get top dollar.
- #2. What's strategic marketing look like?
- #3. What are practical ways to improve my home to sell for a higher price?

I consider these questions daily on my facebook page with tips from easy electrical upgrades, staging advice and how to select the right paint palette. I am here to guide you every step of the way. My goal is simple: make your home quickly stand out, attract more attention and increase its appeal in this competitive market. Stay up to date and informed by following my Facebook page or YouTube channel @tourwithmelanie.

You'll get daily tips and insights. Let's work together to get your home sold for top dollar!

Mosquito Bite Prevention (United States)

Not all mosquitoes are the same. Different mosquitoes spread different viruses and bite at different times of the day.

Type of Mosquito	Viruses spread	Biting habits
 Aedes aegypti, Aedes albopictus	Chikungunya, Dengue, Zika	Primarily daytime, but can also bite at night
 Culex species	West Nile	Evening to morning

Protect yourself and your family from mosquito bites

Use insect repellent

Use an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)-registered insect repellent with one of the following active ingredients. When used as directed, EPA-registered insect repellents are proven safe and effective, even for pregnant and breastfeeding women.

Active ingredient	Some brand name examples*
Higher percentages of active ingredient provide longer protection DEET	Off!, Cutter, Sawyer, Ultrathon
Picaridin, also known as KBR 3023, Bayrepel, and Icaridin	Cutter Advanced, Skin So Soft Bug Guard Plus, Autan (outside the United States)
Oil of lemon eucalyptus (OLE) or para-menthane-diol (PMD)	Repel
IR3535	Skin So Soft Bug Guard Plus Expedition, SkinSmart

* Insect repellent brand names are provided for your information only. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services cannot recommend or endorse any name brand products.

WARM AIR, COLD WATER...

Don't be fooled by warm air temperatures. Washington's waterways are below 60 degrees. Even lakes and rivers. Cold water shock is deadlier than you think.

PROTECT YOURSELF

- Always wear a life jacket
- Layer clothing made from synthetic materials or wool
- Be able to call for help. Carry two forms of communication that will work while wet (cell phone, whistle, VHF radio, etc.)
- Understand wind, wave, current and tide conditions and how they impact your ability to control your vessel
- Be alert, avoid alcohol and marijuana
- File a float plan, tell a friend where and when

DRINKING AND DRIVING – DO ‘EM ONE AT A TIME

The desert is a menacing place, I don't care if you're a native or a moss-backed tourist on safari to the dive taverns of Arizona with names like Jackass or Burro or Sidewinder. The boyz and me were hunting beer down in the flashflood washes and arroyos from Phoenix to Prescott. We're old hands at this beerhunting, having gone every year for 30 years. We know the drill. Walk to the bars, do not drive. Drink, if not responsibly, at least semi-moderately. Eat. Even if it's greasy bar food, put something in your belly to soak up alcohol. Try to maintain a modicum of control. Do not disturb the snakes or the natives, especially the venomous ones. The point is to hunt with passion, but also to bring ourselves back alive.

We made reservations in Bisbee a short walk from the historic Silver Dollar Hotel and other weathered historic taverns, but ... our fellow slayer in Phoenix had asked his son and his son-in-law, confirmed golfers, along on the Hunt. These boys, nice guys in their 40's with wives and two children each, decided to cancel our reservations and make them adjacent to the golf course in Prescott they intended to tame. None of the grizzled and seasoned Hunters had a say, but being get-along go-along yahoos, we acquiesced with subdued mutterings. In hindsight, we did not offer the sage counsel professional Hunters should have offered these tenderfeet.

The first warning sign was when they pulled their vehicles into a bar back in the hinterlands that had yet to open but did so in 5 minutes. While we sipped coffee, they threw down shots. Obviously the kids thought they were young and invulnerable. Beer? Not for them. They opted for the hard stuff. It took three or four roadhouses to wind our way up the canyon to our basecamp. By then they were feeling no pain and the day was young. Day two, they had tee times while we hiked the cacti lined trails nearby. They were throwing down shots for breakfast. Midafternoon we rendezvoused at the Palace Hotel, one of the ten best historic bars in America, downtown Prescott. Jerry was dragged in like a dead buck between the other two, blacked out from one and a half bottles of tequila. They laid him into a chair where he slumped from his wounds, unconscious but alive. We ordered another round of beers.

Hunting is not all that difficult if done correctly. Done with disrespect for the Rules, it is a nasty business and leads to all manner of vicious and unforeseen mayhem. By the end of the second night we had turned what should have been an exotic beer hunt into a morass of criminality, fear and abject self-loathing. The police finally intervened, pulling a carload of cocky amateurs onto the shoulder, hauling the intoxicated driver to jail and impounding the car. At three in the morning we went to retrieve our contrite fellow Hunter at the hoosegow. At eight we received a call that the Mex's wife was in a Seattle hospital, under induced coma, intubated and possibly dying of what appeared to be opioid overdose. By noon we were driving him to the Phoenix airport. A definite chill had settled over the Hunters.

We're back now and so far no lives have been lost. Next year, count on it, we'll hunt in the Cascades once again, trespassing on the dam access patrolled by Homeland Security since Nine Eleven who threaten us or crossing the dangerously rotten old bridge high above the Cle Elum River to get back to our cabin. We won't be inviting the kids. They can drink at home.

Dining Guide

DID YOU KNOW?

Most of the wasabi you eat isn't really wasabi. Because actual wasabi can be quite expensive, store-bought wasabi is often made out of horseradish.

QUEEN FOR THE DAY

"This is a shout out for the good people of the Buy Nothing Camano Island WA facebook group. I was inspired by a goddess photoshoot that was done in an assisted living home and posted on Facebook. I asked for help gathering capes, crowns and other royal wardrobe pieces from the local Buy Nothing community to use in a Queen for the Day photoshoot for my mom (who is 88 years old) and a few of her friends. One lovely woman lent me 8 tiaras and 3 stoles and then directed me to The Freespirited Closet also on Facebook and I was able to borrow beautiful gowns from there. Our local thrift stores were also treasure troves for the pieces and parts I used to pull together scepters (curtain rods) and jewelry. The photoshoot was a big success and my mom and the other ladies had the experience of being Queens for the day. Their smiles and laughter were well worth the effort." - June Dilly.

PARTNER WITH US TO PROVIDE SCHOOL SUPPLIES TO LOCAL STUDENTS

The Stanwood-Camano Area Foundation (SCAF), in support of the Stanwood-Camano School District, is calling on community members to help raise funds to provide essential school supplies to all elementary students for the 2025–2026 school year. For several years, the district has covered the cost of supplies for every elementary-aged child, including those enrolled in Saratoga, the district's home-based learning program. However, financial pressures caused by state funding limitations, rising inflation, and the phase-out of some federal funds, have made this support more difficult to sustain. The estimated cost is $25 per student, and more than 2,000 students benefit from this program. To help meet this need, SCAF has pledged to match community donations—up to $22,500. This is a unique opportunity for residents, businesses, and local organizations to double their impact. Help us keep students focused on learning, not on lacking supplies. Donate by June 15 at www.s-caf.org.

Graduates Victory Song

★ BY LENORE HETRICK ★

(Sung to "America the Beautiful")

Our goal is won! we reached the hill
Whose towered summit rose.
Before our eyes to tantalize
No secrets to disclose.
We're Graduates! We're Graduates!
Our valor urged the way.
We prospered still! We climbed the hill!
We're Graduates today!

The upward trail was thorny oft
And great rocks blocked our way.
But to our eyes the golden skies
Forecast a promised May.
We're Graduates! We're Graduates!
True veterans of the trail!
We did not stop! We reached the top!
Our cry was "NEVER FAIL!"

FREE SUMMER MEALS PROGRAM AVAILABLE AGAIN, PLUS EXTRA GROCERY HELP THROUGH SUNBUCKS

Good nutrition is essential for effective learning every day — all year long. Just as learning does not end when school lets out, neither does the need for good nutrition. Summer meal programs help children get the nutrition they need to learn, play, and grow throughout the summer months. The Stanwood-Camano School District is again offering its free Summer Food Service Program for all children ages 18 and younger. The program is open to all families and doesn't ask for any paperwork — kids can just drop in and grab a meal. "Access to nutritious meals shouldn't stop when the school year ends," said Don Vennetti, Director of Food Services. "We're committed to making sure every child in our community has the food they need, every day." The summer meal program will be offered Monday through Friday at the following locations: Twin City Elementary (26211 72nd Ave. NW, Stanwood, WA 98292) - Dates: June 23 - August 22 - Breakfast: 8:30 a.m. - 10 a.m. - Lunch: 10:30 a.m. - 12:15 p.m.; Stanwood High School (7400 272nd Ave. NW, Stanwood, WA 98292) - Dates: July 28 - August 2 - Breakfast: 8:30 a.m. - 10 a.m. - Lunch: 10:30 a.m. - 12:15 p.m. These are the only two school sites eligible to be distribution locations because they are within a zone identified on the No Kid Hungry Average Eligibility Map, which uses US Census household income data to qualify geographic areas. This federally-funded program is sponsored by many organizations throughout our state. Children may participate in summer meals programs outside of their communities. To find other available sites statewide, use the Summer Meals Locator at nokidhungry.org

SUN BUCKS GROCERY BENEFIT FOR ELIGIBLE FAMILIES

In addition to in-person meals, many families will also qualify for $120 per eligible school-aged child through a grocery benefit program called SunBucks. This one-time benefit will be loaded onto an EBT card and can be used to buy groceries at stores and farmers markets that accept EBT. To qualify, children must meet income requirements — including those already approved for free or reduced-price school meals. Children are automatically enrolled if they already receive other benefits such as Basic Food (SNAP), TANF, or Apple Health/Medicaid. Benefits will begin rolling out mid-June through the end of August. To learn more about eligibility or how to apply, visit www.dshs.wa.gov/sunbucks. The Stanwood-Camano Food Bank is offering food for all families with school-aged youth. This Summer Food Program will offer a rotating menu of staple items to help supplement food needs for kids while school is out of session. Families can pick up directly at the food bank. MARINATED FLANK STEAK WITH BLEU CHEESE CHOP SALAD

Tender, juicy, grilled steak served over a chopped salad with bleu cheese dressing, Enjoy!

STEAK: 1 c. soy sauce; 1/4 c. brown sugar packed; 3 T. cider vinegar; 1 T. Worcestershire sauce; 2 tsp. Dijon mustard; 1 tsp. red pepper flakes; 1/4 tsp. ground pepper; 1 (2 lb.) flank steak

SALAD: 1 head romaine lettuce chopped; 2 tomatoes on the vine seeded & chopped; 1/2 sm. red onion thinly sliced; 1/2 c. bleu cheese crumbles; 1/4 c. whole pecans for garnish; bleu cheese dressing for serving

Instructions:

STEAK: In a 9 x 13-inch glass baking dish, whisk together soy sauce, brown sugar, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, red pepper flakes, and pepper. Place steak in dish, turn steak over to coat the other side, then cover dish tightly with plastic wrap. Refrigerate or 2 hours, turning steak occasionally. Clean and lightly oil grill grates. Heat grill to medium-high. Remove steak from marinade, allowing excess to drip back into the baking dish. Pour marinade into a saucepan and simmer over medium-high heat until reduced by half, about 10 minutes. Grill steak covered for 4-5 minutes; flip steak over and brush with glaze. Grill until medium-rare, 4-5 minutes more. Allow meat to rest for 8 to 10 minutes before thinly slicing against-the-grain. Serve steak over salad.

SALAD: Arrange lettuce, tomatoes, red onion, bleu cheese crumbles, and pecans on a serving platter. Serve sliced steak over the top. Drizzle some glaze over the steak. Drizzle bleu cheese dressing over all OR simply pass the dressing at the table.

THE THRILL OF WATCHING FISHING ON TV

Are you tired of traditional sports being too...well, sporty? Have you ever watched a high-stakes curling match and thought, "This is just too much excitement for my blood pressure?" Then my friend, do I have just the calming solution for your dangerously overactive sports-viewing lifestyle: Fishing. On TV. That's right - fishing. But not the kind where you have to leave the house an hour before sunrise to go interact with nature, apply sunscreen, and swat pesky mosquitos. No, I'm talking about the televised spectacle of watching other people sit in a boat, drink beer, and every twenty minutes or so say something like, "Hey, I think I got a bite" - in a thick Texas drawl. This isn't just a sport. It's a lifestyle. A very slow, deeply uneventful lifestyle.

Now, you might say, "Isn't watching fishing about as exhilarating as folding fitted sheets?" To which I say: Exactly. That's the point. Fishing shows are the perfect remedy for anyone who finds professional bowling a little too fast-paced, or thinks golf is just a chaotic mess of sudden movement and overcaffeinated whisper-commentary. Fishing is for the truly refined viewer who longs for a steady heart rate and the occasional glimpse of camouflage outerwear.

What to Expect When You're Expecting Nothing to Happen

The beauty of fishing shows lies in their utter predictability, in that absolutely nothing will happen for 28 of the 30 minutes. You'll tune in to see two guys named Dale and Bubba in Nowhere, Tennessee sitting in a boat with the color palette of dishwater. They'll be wearing enough Realtree brand camo gear to confuse a passing deer into filing a restraining order. For the first seven minutes, Dale will explain his revolutionary new jigging technique, which is identical to last week's jigging technique except this time he's wearing different lucky socks. Meanwhile, Bubba is laser-focused on the depth finder and his cooler of Busch Light. There's a real "will they, won't they" tension in the air, reminiscent of a Jane Austen novel if Jane Austen had been heavily into largemouth bass and gas station jerky. Eventually, the camera will cut to a close-up of a bobber, because frankly it has more charisma than the hosts. The bobber floats. Still floats. Continues to float. Now we're ten minutes in, and the only thing that's happened is Dale coughed once, and Bubba accidentally cut his thumb with a fish hook, which was, if we're being honest, the episode's climax.

The Thrill of the Catch

Every once in a while someone actually catches a fish. This event is treated with the kind of reverence usually reserved for the birth of a royal baby. The camera zooms in dramatically as Dale reels in a bass the size of a well-fed guinea pig. Bubba high-fives him and accidentally drops his beer overboard, triggering a good-natured chuckle that lasts roughly five minutes longer than it should.

And that's the magic of fishing shows. It's not about the fish. It's about the journey. A very slow, meandering journey that involves zero cardio. And if you have to take a ten-minute bathroom break, trust me, you won't miss anything while you are gone.

For the Die-Hard Fans

There is no shortage of fishing-viewing options. There are dozens of fishing shows and even several streaming channels devoted entirely to fishing. In fact, you could literally spend the rest of your life just watching the endless stream of fishing shows on YouTube alone. (My, what a sad life you must lead.) Here are some popular shows you may want to add to your binge-watch list:

Bassmaster – Because watching a guy in sunglasses yell, "It's a big one!" and then haul up a fish the size of a pork BBQ sandwich is pure adrenaline.

Fly Fishing the World – A travel show disguised as a fishing show, where you mostly watch a guy stand in freezing rivers in Iceland and talk about how spiritual it is to wave a stick at passing salmon.

Deadliest Catch – The rock concert of fishing shows, except it's just crusty guys yelling in the rain while tying knots with one frozen hand and swearing at crabs as their boat gets flooded by 25-foot waves. Will first mate Earl go overboard again? You'll just have to tune in to find out. But be warned. Deadliest Catch might be too intense for beginner fishing viewers. There's action. Swearing. Sometimes people fall overboard – usually Earl. It's basically Die Hard with barnacles. You might want to start with something lower octane, like a YouTube video of a guy organizing his tackle box alphabetically.

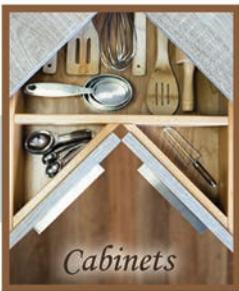

So grab your remote, your Snuggie, and a six-pack of whatever's on sale. The lake is calling, and by lake I mean your couch. And by calling, I mean whispering softly, with a yawn.
