DID YOU KNOW?

In most locations on Earth—except for tropical regions—the start of fall is accompanied by rapidly shortening days. At any given location, the day-to-day difference in day length is greatest around the days of the equinoxes. After the fall equinox, days still get shorter, but at an ever-decreasing rate.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 20

FINE FILM FRIDAY: EDDIE THE EAGLE

3:00 PM – 5:30 PM at the Camano Island Library. Inspired by true events, it is a feel-good story about Michael 'Eddie' Edwards, an unlikely but courageous British ski-jumper who never stopped believing in himself, even as an entire nation was counting him out. With the help of a rebellious and charismatic coach, Eddie takes on the establishment and wins the hearts of sports fans around the world by making an improbable and historic showing at the 1988 Calgary Winter Olympics. Refreshments will be available provided by Camano Island Friends of the Library.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 20

UFO Northwest:

How Washington State Spawned the Men In Black

Friday, October 4, 2024 / 7:00 PM – 8:00 PM
Camano Island Library

On August 1, 1947, the tragic crash of a B-25 bomber in Washington State triggered an FBI investigation of “The Maury Island Incident”—an infamous Northwest UFO sighting, and history’s first alleged encounter with the so-called “Men in Black.”

The FBI’s records from 1947, which were sealed for decades, reveal Cold War fears, jurisdictional disputes, cover-ups, false confessions, a courageous FBI Special Agent, and the hands-on involvement of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Relying on the FBI records, this talk exposes a Washington story that shapes our current UFO narratives, from 1950’s pulp magazines to the ubiquitous X-Files and Men in Black film franchises. Also examined: how the Northwest’s unique position in UFO history is challenged by others that assert contradictory narratives.

Join us with guest speaker Steve Edmiston, a business and entertainment lawyer with Bracepoint Law. He was the screenwriter and co-producer of the film, “The Maury Island Incident”. It chronicles the true story of Harold Dahl and his alleged 1947 sighting of a UFO over Puget Sound.

Light refreshments generously provided by the Camano Island Library Friends.

In partnership with Humanities Washington

TISSUE PAPER APPLE OR PUMPKIN CRAFT

Materials: Red (for apple), orange (for pumpkin), green and brown tissue paper; Cardboard or construction paper; Glue

Draw an apple or pumpkin as a template onto the construction paper or cardboard. Cut the tissue paper into approximately one inch squares. The squares do not need to be exact and this is a great way for kids to practice cutting. I usually cut strips and then help my little ones snip off squares (or blobs really). Have your child crumple up the squares into small balls. This is a great task for working on fine motor skills picking up the tiny scraps and pinching them into balls. Next help them spread a thin layer of glue in a small area of the apple and begin placing the tissue paper balls in that area. Continue until the whole apple is covered. Depending on the age of your child, the apple will be more or less full. But it will be beautiful, perfect for fall and a great opportunity for your child to work on those important developmental skills along the way.

NEW FROM CAA ARTIST, TIAMI HOGBERG - ACRYLIC ART!

With inspiration and hope for some kind of Summer, the memories of clam digging at Ocean Shores fill me with very fond memories. I remember how early we would have to get up to get out there when the tide was low, and specifically how cold it was. We would get our limit and head back to camp for hot chocolate and toast. I painted this with hopes of giving others a glimpse of clam digging memories in the PNW.

For more about Tiami, and samples of her work, visit her CAA artist profile on our website: camanoarts.org/gallery/tiami-hogberg

Research Shows Good Brain Health is Connected to Better Hearing

Recent research suggests there is a link between hearing properly and brain health.

When left untreated, hearing loss can lead to:

Social Isolation & Depression

Fatigue

Cognitive Decline

A recent study showed that hearing intervention slowed down loss of thinking and memory abilities by

over 3 years

in older adults at increased risk for cognitive decline*.

STANWOOD POLICE LAUNCHES BLUEBRIDGE PROGRAM

Stanwood Police Department is thrilled to announce the launch of its BlueBridge Program, an exciting initiative aimed at providing individuals in crisis with immediate support. "Our officers are boots to the ground, they are the ones who see the need and this program empowers them to provide on the spot help to people in our community," Mayor Roberts. Through the BlueBridge program, Stanwood officers will be given prepaid debit cards allowing them to make purchases while on patrol that can make a real and direct difference for individuals in distress. "This might look like buying a victim of domestic violence a hotel room for a night, giving a low-income student a pair of shoes, or providing someone living out of their car with a warm meal and a little gas," Police Chief Toner. BlueBridge is a collaborative effort between Stanwood Police and BlueBridge Alliance, a 501c3 nonprofit dedicated to bridging the gap between law enforcement officers and the communities they serve. The Stanwood BlueBridge Program is funded by grants and local support. A ReMax Community Grant and Washington State Department of Commerce grant have covered the startup costs for the program. $2,500 in matching grant funds have also been raised thanks to the generosity of our community. Community members can continue to donate to the program through BlueBridge Alliance's portal ensuring its ongoing success. "Please consider donating to this great cause and support our officers in helping those in crisis in our community," Police Chief Toner.

DID YOU KNOW?

It is one of the many weird facts about food at the supermarket! Those supermarket apples might actually be a year old. Farmers often harvest them in the fall, wax them, and store them away.

DID YOU KNOW?

The longest anyone has held their breath underwater is over 24.5 minutes. The world record for breath-holding underwater was achieved by Croatian Budimir Šobat on 27 March 2021, who held his breath for a total of 24 minutes and 37 seconds. On average, a human can hold their breath between 30-90 seconds.

FIRE SAFETY TIPS

for families with a member with autism

- ◆ Stress same fire safety tips/facts as you would for any one. Kitchens, electrical, candles, heating, etc. And remember that having a working smoke/co detector is the most important part of any plan.
- ◆ Practice fire drills. Many people with autism respond well to routines. Teach them to keep low because they may not feel the heat and respond by naturally getting lower. There is a wide spectrum of autism so your plan should be customized for each individual.
- ◆ Wrap them in a blanket or heavy coat. This will give them a sense of security and keep their arms from flailing about.
- ◆ Pick a meeting place that is quiet and familiar. Going to your car in the driveway or a nearby neighbor's house is recommended. A meeting place in the street or on the sidewalk, will give the person with autism an opportunity to "BOLT" either back into the house or into traffic.
- ◆ Program emergency contact info under ICE (In Case of Emergency) on their cell phone/IPA/Tablet. There are smart phone apps that can hold all relevant medical/emergency information. Info you can also keep in a small wallet.
- ◆ Visit the local firehouse so the person with autism can become familiar with the sights and sounds that may accompany an emergency situation.
- ◆ There are stickers that can be placed in your car window or near your front door to alert emergency personnel there may be a person with autism present or involved. (Like those below that were found on-line).

GARDEN OF EDEN GREENHOUSE

This spring I built a greenhouse with about 14 old tempered glass door panels I had salvaged long long ago. Treated lumber framing and cedar siding, but mostly glass. Even had stained glass in the front door and two next to that plus another two in the back. Put a 55 gallon black barrel and concrete pavers to radiate heat at night.

The first spring day that hit 70 degrees, the greenhouse hit 90. What, I wondered, would happen when we hit 80 or more? I'm growing tomatoes and a few exotics in there, probably loved that 90 degree heat but I was betting they wouldn't like Saudi Arabia temperatures. So I cut two large windows in the back opposite the front door to let heat out both ends. This week we hit the mid 80's outside and the greenhouse hit 105.

Course, I panicked and bought sunblocking screens for the glass roof and got that attached. Next day we hit 89 outside and the hothouse was 107. Not exactly sure at what temperature green tomatoes roast on the vine, I ordered a solar powered exhaust fan. If that doesn't work, I'll order a second one.

Inside the greenhouse my tomatoes are 5 feet tall while the ones I planted outside from the same seed are spindly still, just beginning to realize summer is definitely here, but cold at night. The difference between the two is astounding. I recommend a small greenhouse to anyone who still pooh-poohs climate change, still thinks we ought to drive large SUV's and wants to drill baby drill for more oil and gas. Death Valley broke its all time heat record this week and cities from Las Vegas to Miami are burning hot while the summer's just begun.

I may or may not solve my greenhouse overheating problem. Bad planning on my part. There won't be any exhaust fans for Mother Earth when us tomatoes begin to fry on our vines. No sun blocking shrouds, no good fixes. Just bad gardeners, when all is said and done.

WHITE CHICKEN CHILI

A hearty one-pot meal you can have on the table in under an hour! White beans, tender chicken, and green chilis in a rich creamy broth, Enjoy!

CHILI: 1 T. olive oil; 1 lb. skinless, boneless chicken breast halves, cut into 1/2-inch cubes; 1 onion, chopped; 2 cloves garlic, chopped; 2 (15 oz.) cans great Northern beans, rinsed and drained; 2 c. chicken broth; 2 (4 oz.) cans chopped green chiles; 1 tsp. salt; 1 tsp. ground cumin; 1 tsp. dried oregano; 1/2 tsp. ground black pepper; 1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper; 1 c. sour cream; 1/2 c. heavy whipping cream
OPTIONAL TOPPINGS: Sour cream, Corn chips, Cilantro, Jalapenos, Avocado, Scallions, Hot sauce

DIRECTIONS: 1. Heat olive oil in a large saucepan over medium heat. Add chicken, onion, and garlic; cook and stir until chicken is no longer pink in the center and juices run clear, 10 to 15 minutes. 2. Stir in beans, chicken broth, green chiles, salt, cumin, oregano, black pepper, and cayenne pepper; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer until flavors have blended, about 30 minutes. 3. Remove chili from heat; stir in sour cream and whipping cream until incorporated. 4. Ladle into bowls and top with your favorite toppings. 5. NOTES: It's all about the toppings for me! Here I've topped the chili with more sour cream, corn chips, jalapenos, chopped cilantro and hot sauce. Let your imagination go wild!

HUMOR WRITER GARNERS INTERNATIONAL PRAISE FROM PEOPLE WHO CAN'T READ ENGLISH

In addition to my column in the Crab Cracker, I also have my own website called ViewFromTheBleachers.net. Whenever I wonder whether anybody is paying any attention to my humor writing, I need look no further than my website's latest comments from readers to discover that spammers from around the world are regularly checking me out. And they always have something vaguely positive to say.

As a professional humorist and three-time Golden Globe nominee, I have found that when I stop to read the highly personal reader feedback of spammers from places like Istanbul, I am reminded that this labor of love is well worth it. One week I had over 300 comments from an eclectic collection of web sites, most of which, I sheepishly admit, I had never heard of. At the risk of sounding immodest, the feedback from these spammers has been almost universally effusive. Many times, the comments are surprisingly coherent, if you can just decipher the mangled syntax.

Here is a random sampling of reader comments from devoted spammer followers. [Author's note: All of the comments below appear exactly as they were submitted and have not been edited in any way.]

In response to one post, kopfhoerer-kabellos133@techemail.com wrote, "Much appreciated for the information and share!"

Commenting on a recent article, katzenfutter-nass-Dushane1414@gmail.com wrote, and I quote, "heya, great blog page, and a very good understand! definitely one to my bookmarks."

Or how about this glowing praise from pumpsneakers629@gmail.com who waxed eloquently, "I would like to say thanks of you a lot for a work you have made in writing this posting. I am hope to the same most affective work by you later on also." I could not have said it better myself, pumpsneakers.

Perhaps one of the recent responses that touched my heart the most was this enthusiastic comment by someone I'm guessing lives in Thailand whose website goes by the name of thai-blog.net/2011/ - classymassy@mordassy.com. After apparently enjoying one of my articles, Classymassy lavished the following praise: "You have really interesting blog, keep up posting such informative posts!" I feel I kinda know Classymassy now. She gets me.

There simply is not enough space here to share every glowing spammer comment, but since I am justifiably proud of the high praise, mind if I share just a few more?

"There's a terific amount of knowlegde in this artical!" - zojirushibread-machine.com

"Yeah that's what I'm tlankig about baby-nice work!" - t7erjt7jtf7@gmail.com

"Fine know-how! I have been hunting for everything such as this for quite these days. With thanks!" - fussballschuhe.sneaker-blogs.de

I love hearing from my readers. I had no idea that Kolbyka Appliances in Gdansk, Poland, was such a fan of my humor writing. And I was taken aback to learn that Happy Feet Health Shoes in Johannesburg, South Africa found my website and gushed "thank you for the most useful information" – even though my post that week was about the passing of Osama bin Laden and made no reference to shoes.

It is so gratifying to know that even though the people on my website's subscriber list rarely comment on my posts, there is a large and growing international community of spammers whose web bots seek out my blog so the spammers' robo-email links programs can chime in week after week to thank me for another informative post. I can't count the number of times I have read comments like "I did not know that" or "I found your post helpful".

I can't recall the last time a spammer offered the slightest negative comment about any of my posts. What can I say? They obviously recognize quality humor writing when they see it. I am humbled to know that over the past two years, thousands of spammers have learned so many informative, useful lessons from visiting my blog.

To all of you spammers who have taken the time to visit my website and post your sincere comments of appreciation and praise, I just want to offer back to all of you my own heartfelt reply: "Thanks of all you to your helpful feedback. It is mine to have the pleasure of to informing you!"

Did you know?

Each day 10,000 humans are born in the U.S. – and each day 70,000 puppies and kittens are born. As long as these birth rates exist, there will never be enough homes for all the animals. As a result, millions of healthy, loving cats, dogs, kittens and puppies face early deaths as a form of animal control. Others are left to fend for themselves against automobiles, the elements, animals and cruel humans. What can you do to stop the suffering? Spay and neuter your pets!
