Welcome to The Crab Cracker! Here's What's Crackin'...

The Crab Cracker is a community magazine created BY local residents FOR local residents. It is a FREE publication printed every two weeks and distributed throughout the communities of Camano Island, Stanwood (and Warm Beach area), Silvana, and Conway. It contains an extensive calendar of events, original stories, feature articles, fun and interesting sections, community news and announcements, tide tables, and more. Please send us any material you want our communities to know about for possible entry into this publication. It is content provided from YOU that makes this publication the popular source of information and entertainment that all of our friends and neighbors enjoy.

Moto Tec Fat Boy Electric Scooter

The Moto Tec Fat Boy 48v 500w Electric Scooter is an economical solution for daily transportation! With its massive 15-inch wheels that provide stable and smooth operation, it can handle virtually any type of terrain. Some of the features that make this the best adult (or kid's) scooter on the market are its wide handlebars to make turning easy, a powerful 48-volt 500-watt rear hub motor, front and rear brakes, and a large headlight.

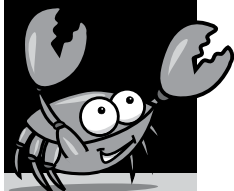

Raffles held in August at the Annual Camano Center Car Show. Winners need not be present to win.

Tickets available at Camano IGA store or CLESF functions

The Camano Law Enforcement Support Foundation (CLESF) was founded in 2011 as a non-profit charitable organization.

The CLESF mission is to support programs and activities of the Island County Sheriff's Office and State Park Rangers on Camano Island. It also assists and promotes the education of citizens of Camano Island in public safety and programs that help the Camano Precinct of the Island County Sheriff's office as well as the State Park Rangers as law enforcement officers. The Foundation financially assists Camano Deputies and Park Rangers due to their budgetary constraints of either not funded or underfunded.

SALT DOUGH-NUTS

Salt dough ingredients: 2 cups flour; 1 cup salt; 1 cup water

Craft supplies: Baking tray; Paint - variety of colours; Sprinkles (optional); Glue (optional)

STEP 1: Gather salt dough ingredients. Before getting started, gather up the ingredients needed to make salt dough. Since this recipe takes a few hours to bake, I wouldn't get out the other supplies just yet.

STEP 2: Mix salt dough. Start by mixing the flour and salt in a mixing bowl. Slowly add the water and mix until you reach a dough consistency. Once consistency is reached, take the dough out and knead it for several minutes.

STEP 3: Bake salt dough donuts. Next, roll small balls of dough and flatten into a donut shape, poking a hole out from the middle (I just stick my thumb through the middle). Place each salt dough donut on a baking tray lined with foil to dry them out in the oven. Bake for several hours (time varies depending on the oven and dough thickness) at 100C/225F. Keeping it at this low temperature prevents burning or the dough puffing up. Once finished drying out in the oven, set aside to allow time to cool.

STEP 4: Decorate your donuts. After your donuts are completely cooled, it's time to decorate! If desired, seal with varnish to make these last longer. Start by inviting your child to paint their donuts different colours. Set each one aside to dry. After the paint has dried, glue on sprinkles and wait for them to dry. You can also paint sprinkles or use markers.

LEIN HOUSE AND FAMILY

A picture of the Nils M. Lein family in front of their home on Nils M. Lien. It is now a 6-unit apartment and across the street from Burrells apartments. If you go down to the Sons of Norway hall, walk about 100 paces east and look across the street to the north, you will see it. At the time, this was a large farm. Members of the family established Lien Bros. Packing, which later became Twin City Foods. Source: Sno-Isle Libraries Collection & Stanwood Historical Society.

S.A. THOMPSON STORE

Circa 1905-1915. The S.A. Thompson store is a thing of the past. It was a store of many owners. Built in 1879 (or 1884) by Jack Irvine, it was one of the first trading posts along the Stillaguamish. In 1903, it was taken over by S.A. Thompson. The Hagstroms later purchased the property and changed the name to The Hitching Post. Later the Heymans of Seattle bought the business and named it Thriftmart. The building has now been replaced by offices, located, just west of Stanwood House Gallery. ## SOUTH END SECURITY AND SURVEILLANCE

Back in the era when I first moved here, the island was more of a frontier, more of a lawless place, an outback backwash where crime existed, but for the most part it was either tolerated or taken care of on a personal level. Oh, we had some rumrunning and moonshining, we had some cannabis cowboys, we had a few folks pulling off trannies and axles at the Tyee Store junkyard, some out-of-season deer hunting and the usual Dungeness overharvesting. The Island County deputies had a big area to cover and way too few deputies....

Must've been shortly after those gas shortages from the OPEC embargo let up, real estate took off and the rich folks looked at Camano the way movie stars looked at Montana --- cheap land for millionaires. And the housing boom took off. McMansions got built, hobby farms started up, vacation homes sprouted along the bluffs. Camano was discovered. For the second time.

Trouble with being an absentee wealthy landowner is you leave yourself wide open to vandalism and theft. Back then we didn't have Costco surveillance cameras you watch on your cellphone. Hell, we didn't have cellphones invented then. Where there's a vacuum .... leave it to a South Ender to fill it. And so Sammy's South End Security and Surveillance was born. Sammy had his crack security squad assembled, put out ads every week in the Little Nickel and the Stanwoodopolis Gazette, and offered his services. He'd check your hacienda once in the day and once in the evening, see if any odd lights were on or garage doors partly up or back door's ajar or an upstairs window open. For an extra fee, he and his militiamen, Flathead Fred and Two Toke Tom, would water the plants, feed the cats, whatever needed done. All those dot.com millionaires moving in, Sammy figured he'd corner the Security Market, upgrade to vehicles that didn't look like what the thieves were driving --- and retire in comfort like his clients.

And it DID look promising. He'd just traded in his 1978 Datsun pick-up with the seat springs always tearing his semi-official Levi jacket that all of the crew wore now with the lettering SOUTH END SECURITY AND SURVEILLANCE on the back for a one owner Chevy half ton with a spotlight for night shining the shrubbery and sometimes the occasional deer he poached. Things looked good. Real good. Flathead and Two Toke got a buck an hour raise, clients seemed satisfied ... and then ... the bottom fell out. Along came the Citizen's Patrol and, well, now you know the rest of the story. Another entrepreneurial dream up in smoke. Sammy never really got over it. Oh, he tried dogsitting, but he never really liked dogs and it turned out he had allergic reactions to the longhaired ones.

Last we heard he was selling knock-off sunglasses out of a booth at the Skagit Mall. Flathead Fred went back to the O-Zi-Ya Auto Body Shop and specialized in scuff and buff paint jobs. And Two Toke? Well, Two Toke went underground, developing skills that serve him even today ... now that marijuana is legal.

Crime --- ya know, on the South End, it sometimes pays.

NEVER ACCEPT A RIDE FROM A STRANGER

They seemed like such a lovely young couple, deeply in love. They had their whole life ahead of them. They were on their honeymoon, without a care in the world. And then, they made a fateful decision that just might change their destiny forever. They did something incredibly reckless and impulsive, as young people are wont to do. They accepted a ride from a complete stranger. I saw the whole thing unfold because, well, um, that stranger was me.

Craig and Rebecca from St. Louis, MO, were vacationing in the British Virgin Islands (BVI). They were on a day trip to an idyllic tropical island and had taken a taxi ride to a remote beach, where they were frolicking in the ocean waves.

Unfortunately for this innocent couple, there was someone else lurking nearby: ME – and my wife. It turned out that like them, we'd heard that the most incredible beach in the entire BVI was on the opposite side of this extremely rugged, mountainous island. Craig and Rebecca had just one small problem. They had no car. They would have to call a taxi driver and wait another 30 to 40 minutes to be picked up.

That's when they made what could only be described as the worst lapse in judgment of their very young marriage. They accepted my offer to drive them to the other beach. The four of us piled into our cramped Suzuki hatchback rental car, whose main power source, I can only surmise, must have been four AA batteries.

I was the driver, my wife the navigator. She consulted Google Maps for the quickest way to get across the island to the other beach. Apparently, the app must have thought we were using a helicopter because the route it selected took us right over the very top of the island.

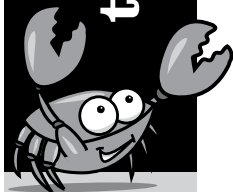

I apparently missed the sign that said, "CAUTION: ONLY IDIOTS ARE PERMITTED TO TAKE THIS ROUTE" because within one minute, we had diverged from a paved surface and found ourselves routed to a dirt and gravel path barely wide enough for one vehicle.

If this route qualified to be considered "a road", then having watched two seasons of Grey's Anatomy qualified me to be "considered" a brain surgeon. The cliffs were easy to see because there were no pesky guard rails to block my view of the 1000-foot sheer drop-off. The further we drove, the rougher the terrain got. The boulders got bigger, the ruts deeper, and in many places we were attempting to scale an incline with a 45 degree angle or higher.

As all our heads jostled up and down uncontrollably with every bump, like bobble head dolls, I wondered what Craig and Rebecca must have been thinking: "Why did we agree to get a ride from a complete stranger? Maybe he's a serial killer. Or worse – a Suzuki used car salesman!"

The further I drove, the worse conditions became. But I stoically kept my fears to myself, so as not to alarm our passengers – except for the four or five brief moments when I came upon yet another gut-wrenching hairpin turn and I blurted out, "HOLY SH*T, WE'RE ALL GONNA DIE!!!"

During our nerve-racking ordeal, I was increasingly worried that this might end badly. I had visions of the lead story on CNN the next day: "HONEYMOON COUPLE MURDERED BY TERRORIST SUICIDE DRIVER," followed by a related story on how Suzuki hatch-backs are not recommended for off-road travel.

This misguided journey took us over the literal peak of the island, through what was inarguably the most treacherous terrain I had ever attempted. If you could ignore the fact that in minutes we were all most likely going to perish in an agonizing 1000-foot crash, I have to say, the panoramic view from up here was rather magical.

After 40 minutes, we reached the most beautiful sight I've ever seen: a paved street. Somehow I had delivered the newlywed couple to their destination physically in one piece (albeit emotionally in tatters).

Hopefully, someday Craig and Rebecca will be able to forgive me for the terrifying experience I put them through. Maybe they'll even laugh about it. They had to head back home to Missouri the next day. I briefly thought about offering them a lift to the airport. But something told me they'd probably prefer a taxi instead.

CAROL PANEK-CLARK

I am new to Camano Island as of September, having moved from Massachusetts. My art expresses what I'm emotionally attracted to in my observations of nature, animals, and people. To visually express myself through art is an opportunity for me to share my feelings with others. I learned to use a camera many years ago, which I feel helped me learn composition, shapes, and color. Over the years I've been on a continuous and changing journey to become as good as I can be in my art. After experimenting with other mediums, I began working exclusively with soft pastels in 2003. Now, I find that I enjoy the intense colors and the process of drawing, blending and inventing new techniques, and even the dusty mess.

WHAT ARE SHARKS TERRIFIED OF?

Sharks are often viewed as one of the ocean's top apex predators, but despite this rather prestigious classification, there's one marine animal that most sharks prefer to avoid crossing paths with entirely: the bottlenose dolphin. Sure, most people may view the bottlenose dolphin as a humble and gentle marine mammal, but it's a widely known fact that these creatures can be aggressive when they want to be – especially when congregating in large numbers, often called a pod. Sharks are vaguely aware of this, as even these ocean-dwelling predators can fall victim to a pod of dolphins' foul behavior when they're swimming around by their lonesome. Sharks can be easily outmaneuvered by dolphins in a one-on-one fight, particularly because of the characteristics surrounding their physical build. A dolphin's horizontally-oriented rear fin coupled with its incredible flexibility provides it with heightened mobility. Comparatively, sharks have vertically-oriented rear fins, and aren't nearly as flexible, which puts them at a severe disadvantage when facing a pod of dolphins. Another advantage that the bottlenose dolphin has over the shark is its snout, which is stout enough to be used as a battering ram in the event that a pod of dolphins needs to protect itself from a shark. Dolphins can use their snout to land a well-placed hit on a shark's belly to cause internal damage, or its gills to prevent it from breathing entirely. As you might come to expect, this can be fatal for the shark. Many sharks are fortunate enough to get away by simply fleeing from the fight when they realize they're in danger, but if the shark is bold enough to stand its ground, then the dolphins just might prove why they're the dominant creatures of the sea. ## DON'T TOUCH SEAL PUPS

It's that time of year again, when our Marine Mammal Stranding Network is flooded with calls about seal pups. In most cases the pup is fine, and the best thing we can do for them is to stay as far away as possible and let them rest and warm up on the beach. It is a natural and common occurrence for seal pups to rest on the beach, but problems can result if humans try to interfere. If you see a seal pup being harassed, or one that has been on the beach for 48 hours with no sign of mom, call your local Marine Mammal Stranding Network (Island, Skagit and N. Snohomish, call us at 866-ORCANET); if you don't know your local network # call the NOAA hotline at 866-767-6114. You may not get a call back if the pup has already been reported and/or assessed. We often have volunteers checking in on pups who have been on the beach for awhile, and we work with marine mammal vets to help us assess and make decisions about what to do if a pup has truly been abandoned. Please do your part by just leaving the seal pups alone ~ thank you! If you have a seal pup on your beach and want to post information, you can download this sign from NOAA Fisheries: https://archive.fisheries.noaa.gov/.../sts-sign\_2014.pdf.

TIPS FOR A PLASTIC FREE JULY!

Plastic Free July is a global movement that helps millions of people be part of the solution to plastic pollution. Small changes to reduce single-use plastics can add up to big changes. San Juan MRC and the Plastic Free Salish Sea campaign recently shared these 6 tips to get started: 1. Shopping bags - Choose paper over plastic, or better yet, bring your own! 2. Water bottles - Carry a reusable water bottle and coffee mug to reduce disposable plastic usage and stay hydrated. 3. Buy bulk - Making purchases in bulk eliminates much of the plastic packaging used for small-portioned items. 4. On-the-go meal kit - Carry a meal kit including food containers, utensils, a reusable straw, and a cloth napkin for eating on the go and takeout. 5. Home supplies - Look for low waste alternatives to common household supplies like shampoo bars, toothpaste tablets, and plastic free laundry detergent tablets available from local stores and online. 6. Education - Follow Plastic Free Salish Sea for many more creative ways to live a plastic free lifestyle! Learn more about local efforts to eliminate single use plastic at www.plasticfreesalishsea.org.

STANWOOD 532 BYPASS VIRTUAL OPEN HOUSE AND SURVEY

Stanwood, north Snohomish County, and Camano Island are beautiful places to live, work, and play. Our community is growing and will continue to grow over the next 30 years. With growth comes traffic. While increased traffic causes driver frustration, it also brings economic vitality to a community. The question becomes: how to manage traffic while promoting economic development and preserving community identity. The City of Stanwood, in partnership with the Washington State Department of Transportation, Snohomish County, and Island County, is studying how to improve traffic flow and multimodal infrastructure to provide for all travelers on SR 532 within Stanwood and connecting communities from Island, Skagit, and Snohomish Counties. The goal of the project is to determine how best to improve transportation for our Stanwood / Camano community while ensuring that Stanwood maintains its historic downtown character and sense of place. In 2020 the city conducted an "origins and destinations study" to better understand traffic flow on SR 532. The study showed that approximately 20% of the daily traffic on SR 532 heads north to Skagit County via 102nd Avenue or Pioneer Highway. A new bypass road connecting SR 532 north to Skagit County has been suggested as a method to better distribute traffic volumes from SR 532 to I-5 and points north. A bypass road provides an opportunity to reimagine SR 532 through downtown Stanwood for all modes and users within the existing right of way. A multimodal SR 532 corridor will help to continue distributing traffic and alleviating congestion while maintaining an attractive downtown as the community grows. Stanwood's vision of the future is to create a walkable downtown with wide sidewalks, walking trails, and bicycle paths. As part of this project, the city is considering how roundabouts placed in strategic locations along SR 532 can help improve traffic flow as well as improve pedestrian and bicycle mobility in the downtown core helping to preserve the city's historic downtown character and livability of its residents. We want to hear from you. A community survey will be held online between June 21 and July 19, 2021. Click on the website below to learn about the project and take a short survey. With your help, we can collectively, as a community, make more informed decisions on how best to manage traffic and preserve our way of life.

BAKER

Are You Volcano Ready?

Beautiful Mount Baker erupted most recently in 1843, but in 1975 surprised everyone with renewed steaming, which continues today. As in past millennia, future eruptions can release volcanic mudflows (lahars) that inundate valleys far downstream and ash fall that can blanket the landscape.

LEQUE ISLAND RESTORATION PROJECT

On Oct. 14, 2019, tidal waters poured into the WDFW wildlife area at Leque Island after heavy equipment removed dikes and connected channels to the Stillaguamish River and Port Susan Bay. This event a year and a half ago began the transition of the 250-acre site from diked and drained fields back to estuary habitat. Restored estuary habitat at Leque Island is helping juvenile salmon and birds while the new flood protection infrastructure and recreation features are benefiting the local community. Scientists monitoring the restoration site over the last several months are finding that the project area is being used by a wide variety of fish and birds, including Chinook salmon and several shorebird and waterfowl species. Native salt marsh vegetation is rapidly establishing on the site and new channels are forming as the tides wash over the young marsh plain. In addition to positive habitat outcomes for fish and wildlife, Leque Island has been very popular with people using the trail on top of the new berm to enjoy the outdoors and watch wildlife. # Did You Know?

The Stanwood Area Historical Society asks, "Did You Know?"

Excerpts taken from the "Stanwood Story", written for the Stanwood News by Alice Essex.

The first Camano fishing derby that began in April 1940 concluded on Oct. 30, 1940, a 35-pound King was the largest derby catch, and according to the official report by Carl Bangs, who chaired the event, a total 2,108 pounds of salmon had been taken. Resort owners slated a repeat derby for 1941.

That same April, the new clubhouse and traps of the Twin City Gun Club proved to be an interesting event for the sports-minded. Opened on April 21, 1940 in a location near the high school, it attracted a goodly number of out-of-town professionals, who went home with trophies, prizes and gifts...courtesy of local business concerns.

B.J. West, president of the Washington State Trap-shooters Association presided at the opening and expressed appreciation from the association and the visiting VIPs to Mayor Charles Dockendorf for his efforts in the project. The 22 x 30-foot clubhouse with fireplace, and two trap houses were pronounced one of the best club set-ups in the state...and an asset to the community.

Also, in the area of recreational happenings, Wenberg Park; which had been turned over to the state, scored a major victory with the help of contributions, an additional 10 and 3/4 acres were purchased and added to the 20-acre park site. Bought for $1,800, the new area made possible a road to the beach and increased the waterfront footage to 1,000 feet. More funds were then sought for installation of boat launching facilities, lockers for bathers and a caretaker's cottage.

East Stanwood's big story of 1940 was the December 21 dedication of the new city hall by C.R. Amundson and C.J. Gunderson. Built at a cost of materials only, as far as the town was concerned, it was a lot of hall for the money, even at pre-World War 11 prices.

Besides spacious community rooms, it boasted an electric kitchen, warm air heating, landscaping and steel fenced grounds. Of the total tab of $19,176, the government provided $11,775 for WPA (Works Progress Administration) labor, public subscription supplies $1,000 for furnishings and the town $7,401 for building materials. The hall has been the scene of many community events and is now the home of Frank Hancock Post No. 92 American Legion.

Other happenings scattered through the pre-war years of 1940-41, included formation of the Twin City Cancer Unit, registration of all males 21 to 35 years for selective military service...purchase of the Brown Apartments by the Mel Burrills...opening of Allan's Cash Grocery and the Modern Bakery on Market St. and the old Settler's picnic, at which G.B. Joergensen brought to light facts, not previously recorded, about Camano Island and Utsalady's famous, and sometimes infamous, past. To fill in the recorded excerpts from his talk are quoted.

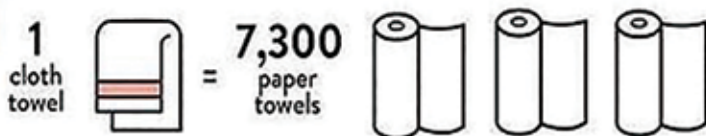

"Island County, organized in 1843, then included what is now Snohomish County...the Indian name for Camano was 'Kal lut chin', meaning a body of land jutting into the bay...Capt. Isaac Parker, who built the first mill at Utsalady in 1857, took the first shipment of Camano Island lumber from Puget Sound to Shanghai in 1860...the song 'Halla Baloo,' sung by the sailors on the stately ships that then frequented the Utsalady harbor, was the inspiration for Richard Wagner's immortal, "The Flying Dutchman"

Dec. 7, 1941 will long be remembered by the American people, and others about the globe. It was the day that news of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor rocked the nation, and World War 11 was no longer a possibility...it was a grim reality!

THE BOOGIE BIN

In May of 2014, a sick, striped puppy entered our lives and changed the way we saw rescue animals forever. With his endless supply of humor, love, and zest for life, Boogie makes an impact on every life he touches--human and animal alike. He has sparked a drive in us to help the ones that need it most: the animals with no family to call their own.

In January of 2021, we started a project collecting in-kind donations for animal shelters and rescues across Washington State in his honor. Shelters and rescues are always in need of supplies, and many rely solely on donations from the public to keep the animals in their care fed, comfy, and free from boredom. This is where The Boogie Bin Project steps in! Donate some food, treats, blankets, or toys to us! Each month we choose a local rescue or shelter as the beneficiary of the donations we gather, and at the end of the month we deliver everything you've donated directly to them.

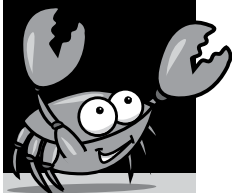

The donation process is simple: you have left over pet supplies you no longer need or want, and you drop them at one of our collection bin locations. That's it! The Boogie Bin Brigade does the rest. Whatever one rescue or agency can't use, we find an organization that can.

Thank you for your support: we can't do what we do without you!

DUNGENESS CRAB BURGERS WITH MANGO SALSA

Our famous crab cakes served on toasted buns with homemade mango salsa...Enjoy!

CRAB PATTIES: 1 lb. fresh Dungeness crab meat, picked over for shells; 1 lg. egg beaten; 1/4 c. mayonnaise; 1 1/2 tsp. Dijon mustard; 1 tsp. Old Bay seasoning; 1 tsp. lemon juice; 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce; 1/4 tsp. kosher salt; 1 c. bread crumbs; 1 T. fresh flat leaf parsley chopped; T. butter; 1 T. olive oil

MANGO SALSA: 1 mango, peeled & diced; 1 avocado, peeled & diced; 2 ears corn, charred & cut from cob; 1/2 red onion, chopped; 1 jalapeño, seeds & membrane removed, finely chopped; juice of 1 lime; 1/4 c. flat leaf parsley; Salt and pepper to taste; Drizzle olive oil; Toasted sesame buns for serving; Lettuce leaves for serving

1. CRAB PATTIES: Place the crab meat in a medium mixing bowl, set aside.
2. In a small bowl beat egg slightly, whisk in mayonnaise, mustard, Old Bay, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, and salt. Pour sauce over crab meat, sprinkle with bread crumbs and parsley, mix thoroughly, but gently. Cover with plastic and refrigerate 1 to 2 hours.
3. MANGO SALSA: In a large bowl, stir together mango, avocado, corn, red onion, jalapeño, lime juice, parsley, salt and pepper, and a drizzle of olive oil, until well combined. Refrigerate until ready to serve.
4. Shape crab mixture into 4 patties about 1-inch thick. In a large non-stick skillet, heat butter with olive oil over medium heat. Cook crab patties until dark golden brown, about 4-5 minutes. Flip the cakes, reduce heat to medium-low and cook until the other side is well browned, 4-5 minutes.
5. To assemble burgers: Toast the buns. Pile the salsa on the bottom buns, followed by a crab patty, a leaf of lettuce, and the top bun. Now devour!
6. Cook's Note: Serve leftover salsa with some corn tortilla chips!

THE FISHERMAN

I tried to catch a fish today
I have a certain style
It's one I've long developed
O'er many a knotty mile.
I've purchased all the proper gear
With pole and line so neat
And then this boat and motor
She's the envy of the fleet.
I've hooked up with anchovies
Also hoochies and a spoon
And then a plug, one that's designed
To make a salmon swoon.
How could I lose, you'd wonder
With all the stuff I've bought
I went to bed the night before
Enmeshed in total thought.
I reviewed preparations
But found it hard to sleep
And when I finally woke I found
I'd also missed the fleet.
They went ahead without me
And returned with all those fish
They held forth at the cleaning rack
While I could only wish.
Now I may have solved the problem
The solution I can see
I'll focus on the evening bite
The one that's made for me.

– Jack Rider, Camano Island.

Five Summer Dangers for Pets

Spending time outdoors this summer? Keep these safety tips in mind to ensure your furry friends are comfortable.

ASPCA

Sun & Heat

Pets can become dehydrated quickly. Know the signs of overheating (excessive panting, increased heart rate and weakness) and make sure your pet has access to fresh water and a shady or air conditioned place.

Fireworks & Thunderstorms

One in five pets goes missing after being scared by loud noises, so keep them in a quiet, secure area at home. If your pet does go missing, download the ASPCA app for a free step-by-step toolkit to help find your pet: ASPCAapp.org

Parties & Barbecues

Make sure your pet can't get into human food (especially grapes, onion, avocado and chocolate) or alcoholic drinks.

Hot Cars

Don't leave your pet in the car! Even with the windows cracked, a car's temperature can reach 100° in 10 minutes on an 85° day. Sign our hot car pledge at aspca.org/hotcars

Toxic Chemicals

Insecticides, insect repellents, sunscreen, citronella products and glow sticks are toxic, so keep them away from your pet.

GRAVITY, SPACE, AND TIME..

We build clocks to measure one, yardsticks to measure another, and are perhaps a bit too familiar with scales that measure weight. We think of them as constants “everywhere and every-when”. Gravity is technically not a force at all, its matter bending space and time. We are not “held” onto the Earth, but as the image above illustrates, we are falling into a well stretching space that Earth’s mass creates. Time also changes- Each observer, on the Earth or outside of it, would experience time as “normal”, but compared time would no longer be in sync. The more mass, the more space and time get stretched.

So what happens if you place a super massive, super dense object like a black hole on the space/time fabric? Falling into it (assuming you could find some way to survive since your weight would increase beyond billions of pounds) would be a very strange experience. Looking outward time would accelerate faster and faster until the view would be moving so fast you could possibly see the practical end of the universe. An outsider looking in would witness your fall of a few seconds (from your perspective) as forever slowing until you freeze in one position forever. The mind bender is each clock would be ticking like normal, like the party guest who shows up decades late, but is actually showing up, according to their clocks, right on time.

So if you do show up late to an event just say “my space/time was heavily influenced by a passing deep gravitational well”. I can’t guarantee you will be invited back though.
