MEMORIAL DAY:

It was originally called Decoration Day. To honor the deceased, soldiers would decorate graves of their fallen comrades with flowers, flags and wreaths. Hence Decoration Day. Although Memorial Day became its official title in the 1880s, the holiday wouldn't legally become Memorial Day until 1967.

PAPER PLATE MEMORIAL DAY WREATH

Supplies: Paper plate; Red paper; Blue paper; Red, White, & Blue Ribbon; Glue; Scissors; Star Craft Paper Punch 3-Inch (or cut stars by hand).

Directions: 1. Cut center from paper plate. Most paper plates have a line you can cut along. 2. Using paper punch cut out stars from red and blue paper. 3. Glue stars to the paper plate alternating red and blue. If you are doing a craft with a preschooler, you could talk about creating a pattern by alternating the two colors. (By understanding patterns, children are able to make predictions about what should come next.). 4. After the kids finish gluing their stars, attach a piece of ribbon to the back of the paper to hang the patriotic wreath. 5. Make a bow from the ribbon and attach to the top of the wreath. (Our bow is made using 3 different ribbons.)

MEMORIAL DAY:

Located in Arlington County, Virginia, the Arlington National Cemetery is one of the places where major Memorial Day ceremonies take place. One of the largest cemeteries in the world, it is home to 400,000 graves.

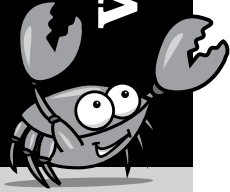

Pictured here in the front drive of photographer Phillip Rauls Camano residence is a beautiful Japanese Maple known as a “Beni Schichihenge” (Acer Palm). It is an upright cultivar with variegated pink and cream color on bright green leaves. Throughout the spring and summer the ratio of pink and cream changes. So at any one time the dominance of color makes the maple appear more cream colored or more pink in color. Fall colors range from a soft pink to a glamorous color of crimson. This maple displays changing leaf color from spring through fall and it is a great focal point for a garden. Photographer Rauls has 8 different species of Japanese Maples either planted on his property or showcased in uniquely chosen containers that compliment and showcase the colorful maples.

DRESSING MY AVATAR

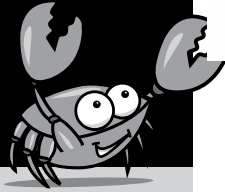

I suspect most of you slip into the Metaverse with an avatar that's, well, for want of a more polite description, just this side of reality's Goodwill fashion. Let's assume that you're new to the Meta, just feeling your way around the virtual possibilities, not exactly comfortable yet, sort of like the new student in the big high school your family just dropped you into when their job transferred them. Been there myself so I understand. But c'mon, it's time to up your game. You want to hang with the geeks and the losers, fine, but if you want to play with the In Crowd, you need shoes. I'm talking NFT, non fungible token Nike sneakers, bro. I'm talking about taking a walk in style through the Metaverse.

And that's just the first baby steps, Amigo. The Metaworld can be your oyster if you learn to navigate. It's the wild wild west meets the raw excitement of venture capitalism. Need some digs to crash between adventures? No problema, pal, we got real estate, comfy and virtual. We're selling properties and the market is red hot. An investment today may mean riches tomorrow if you're courageous. The folks who think oh, land isn't real, houses aren't real, those Nike fashion statements on your avatar's feet are only virtual, well, I got news for those slackards, the virtual world is most definitely real, as real as a bitcoin, brother and getting more real every nano second.

You got something you want to advertise, rent a billboard in Virtual World! You want to make some fast crypto, buy the billboard and rent it to the rest of the Metaverse. Grab up some mall properties and become the next gen's landlord! The Meta is expanding, my friend, and you are at the threshold of dreams. This is no time to be a shrinking violet. This is not your mama's world and you are no longer mama's boy. Grab the virtual reins and boldly go where no corporeal man has gone before. If it sounds fantastic, BINGO!, you're right on target. So snatch up a pair of those NFT Nikes and stride into the virtual universe. The future belongs to the brave!

MEMORIAL DAY:

On Memorial Day, the flag of the United States is raised briskly to the top of the staff and then solemnly lowered to the half-staff position, where it remains only until noon. Then, it is raised to full-staff for the remainder of the day.

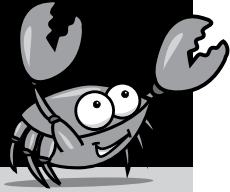

STANWOOD'S AMERICAN LEGION PARTNERS WITH WREATHS ACROSS AMERICA

Stanwood American Legion Post #92 has become a partner with the national program of Wreaths Across America and invites area residents to participate in this worthwhile effort. The program currently lays wreaths on veterans' graves at 2500 locations across the United States. Locally, 502 graves of veterans have been identified in Anderson Cemetery and the Legion is seeking citizens to assist in laying the wreaths on December 17, 2022 or to sponsor a wreath by donating $15 to the Legion, five dollars of which will go to support Operation Facelift, to make critical repairs to the Post building at 26921 88th Ave. NW in Stanwood. Repairs to this Spanish Revival building, built by the WPA in 1940, are vitally needed. This historic structure is in need of a new roof, gutters, stucco, exterior painting, interior repair and new flooring. Go to WreathsAcrossAmerica.org home page and choose to sponsor a Local Sponsorship Group. Select the number of wreaths and enter WA0183P to Select Group to Support. Then you can select the American Legion Post #92 and the Anderson Cemetery. Or, you can send cash or a check made out to American Legion Post #92, P.O. Box 323 in Stanwood, WA 98292. The credo of Wreaths Across America is Remember, Honor and Teach: remember fallen veterans; honor those who served; and teach your children the value of preserving freedom. These wreaths pay homage to the sacrifice of our men and women in uniform. Wreath making goes back a thousand years before Christ as a way of signifying the strength of life through the harsh winter. Today, the circle of the wreath represents immortality--for their service and our duty to remember. We hope you and your family will be a part of this program. Local Stories and Poetry

Singing Heart Songs at the Beach
Breathing the fresh air outdoors together
And singing songs of unity and comfort
We share the purity of water-washed air
Coming from the ocean.
Inward it is drawn, then,
Each smooth exhalation carries sounds
So comforting, so soothing—
Consoling hearts broken by the world.
This breath carried sound reaches out
Effecting essences halfway 'round the globe.
It doesn't matter that the sound, erased by the wind,
Goes no further than the edges of the park.
Intention and devotion speed its cause to touch and heal
Wherever there's a need.

THE TIME I SAVED TEN LIVES

[The following is a true story.] Many years ago, I saved ten innocent lives from almost certain death. I really don't like to talk about it. I certainly don't consider myself a hero – any more than Gandhi or Malala – or that guy who leapt onto a NYC subway track and rescued a man from an oncoming train. Like him, I was just in the right place at the right time. I did what I had to do. If you were as incredibly selfless as me, you might have done the same thing.

It's hard for me to discuss the events of that traumatic day some 18 years ago. I can still see their seemingly lifeless bodies floating in the icy cold waters, unable to escape to safety. Death was knocking – no, POUNDING – at their door.

Let me take you back to the beginning. It all started when our then seven-year-old daughter Emily brought home a plastic bag filled with ten teeny guppies. Her teacher had entrusted her the school of fish on the condition that she take good care of them. Being a first grader, my daughter would grossly overfeed them and then neglect to feed them for days on end. She never bothered to clean their tank, so their habitat soon became discolored and grimy from, well, poop. Not ready to broach the topic of where guppies go after they die with my young daughter, I came to the rescue, as all competent helicopter parents do. I took over the care of these tiny, fragile, inch-long sea creatures.

I donned a Hazmat suit and faced the onerous task of scouring their filthy tank. Using a net, I scooped these little critters out of the murky waters and deposited them into a salad bowl we would plan to use later that evening for dinner, now filled with clean H₂O. I scrubbed their glass dwelling thoroughly and refilled it with cold tap water.

I then dumped them all back into their sparkling clean home. They swam with fresh abandon. Then out of the corner of my eye, I noticed some of the guppies were no longer darting back and forth the way they usually did in relentless search of an escape from their glass prison. Before long, very few of them were moving at all. And some were starting to flip over on their backs. Something fishy was happening. In minutes, all ten of them were totally motionless. Uh oh. I had killed them. All of them.

What was I going to tell Emily? I tried to conjure up some elaborate fish story about the “ten that got away.” I had not fully formulated my lie, but I concluded our cat Boodles would figure into it. Since he lacked the ability to formulate words and gestures in his defense, he was the obvious patsy.

I put my hand into the tank... Whoa! The water was incredibly cold! Had I frozen them to death? As I stood over the tank, I wondered. If they could be frozen, perhaps they could be unfrozen. I quickly poured out half of the cold water and replaced it with hot, making the overall mixture roughly room temperature. I held my breath.... Two agonizing minutes later, I spied a flicker. Then another. One by one, the once dead guppies were wiggling back to life. THEY'RE ALIVE! IT'S A MIRACLE! The murderer had become the savior. Before long, all ten were happily ziggling and zagging all around the tank – and of course, without a word of thanks for saving their lives.

I sometimes reflect back on that day and cringe about the near calamity I had caused. I had practically killed these ten innocent young lives. But in the end, I was able to save them from an icy cold death. So, in a way, I actually was a hero. Before you start sending congratulatory comments about how great I am for saving all those lives, just know that my heroism doesn't make me a better person than you. (Okay, well, maybe just a little. Barely worth pointing out, if you ask me.)

BBQ RANCH CHICKEN SALAD

Grilled chicken, tomatoes, corn, black beans, green onion, avocado and cheese, drizzled with both BBQ and Ranch dressings, Enjoy!

INGREDIENTS: 4 boneless, skinless chicken breasts ; Kosher salt and freshly ground black pepper, to taste ; 6 c. chopped romaine lettuce ; 2 tomatoes, seeded and diced; 1 c. frozen whole kernel corn, thawed; 1 (15 oz.) can black beans, rinsed and drained ; 4-5 green onions, thinly sliced; 2 avocados, diced; 1 c. shredded Monterey Jack cheese ; 1 c. shredded sharp cheddar cheese ; Hidden Valley Ranch dressing ; Sweet Baby Rays Hickory and Brown Sugar BBQ sauce ; 1/4 c. chopped cilantro for garnish ; 1/4 c. tortilla strips for garnish.

DIRECTIONS: 1. Spray an outdoor grill with non-stick spray and pre-heat to medium-high heat. Season both sides of the chicken with salt and pepper. Cook the chicken for about 4-6 minutes per side, or until the internal temperature is 165 degrees. Chicken is done if juices run clear when pierced with a fork. During last few minutes of cooking, baste the chicken breasts with BBQ sauce. Remove the chicken from the grill to a plate; cover and allow the chicken to rest for 3 minutes. Cut into bite sized cubes. 2. To assemble the salad, place romaine lettuce in a large bowl; top with chicken, tomatoes, corn, beans, onion, avocado, and cheeses. Gently toss to combine. Serve immediately, drizzled with Ranch dressing and BBQ sauce. Garnish with chopped cilantro and tortilla strips if desired. Serves 6-8.
