COMPANY PROFILE

Sequoyah Strategies is a leading government contracting firm renowned for its unwavering commitment to trust, integrity, and excellence. Founded by Eli Chaser, a University of Arkansas graduate with extensive experience in utilities contracting, stakeholder representation, and subcontractor management, and supported by Jack Harris, a seasoned professional with over 24 years in the industry, including notable contributions during Hurricane Katrina and the Paradise Fires in California. Also on the team is Cory Watson, a skilled IT professional who provides backend support for Sequoyah Strategies.

At Sequoyah Strategies, we pride ourselves on our ability to project manage government contracts, serving as a vital connector for various subcontractors. Our vast network and profound connections enable us to undertake substantial projects, facilitating smooth operations and delivering exceptional outcomes.
